

GENERALLY

IN FOCUS

Nineteen Eighty one

Prologue

Late August was the beginning of a new period in our lives. We renewed our old acquaintances and began making new ones. We had to put away the fun things of the summer — the lakes, the sun, the summer sports — and settle down to the new year ahead. Our old haunts became familiar places, and things seemed back to normal, but they weren't!

We changed during the summer. We were more mature, yet we didn't know how to show our friends that things we used to do had less meaning. We felt silly trying to fit our new selves into the old grooves. We wanted and needed to be individuals and to have our lives . . .
GENERALLY IN FOCUS.

PLAYING GENERALS

Memories of our summer were indelibly impressed in our minds. The summer heat provided a background for all the things we liked to do when we were foot-loose and fancy-free. The out-of-doors consumed most of our time because we knew that our freedom was short-lived.

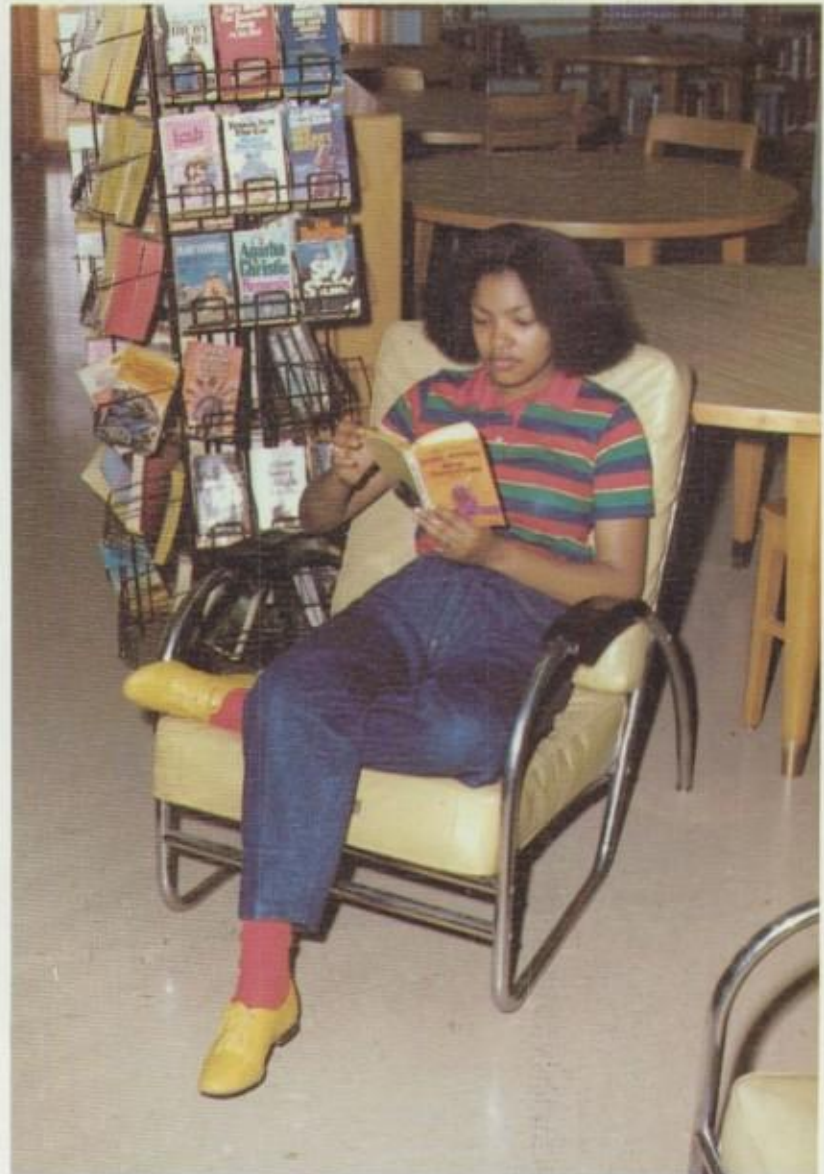

Standing tall with their sense of accomplishment are Dee Dee Curtis, Diana Foley, Betty Childers, Mark Harris, Jimmy Taylor, Tommy Ebert, and Jeff Baugus. Avery Howard cools off taking the Nestea plunge. "Yuck, another worm!" says Tammy Boyanton. Susan Clark takes a break from the heat of the summer. Ronnie Green, Debbie Craig, Tommy Sealy, Lisa Ober, and Brett Stokes revert to the days of their childhood.

LEARNING GENERALS

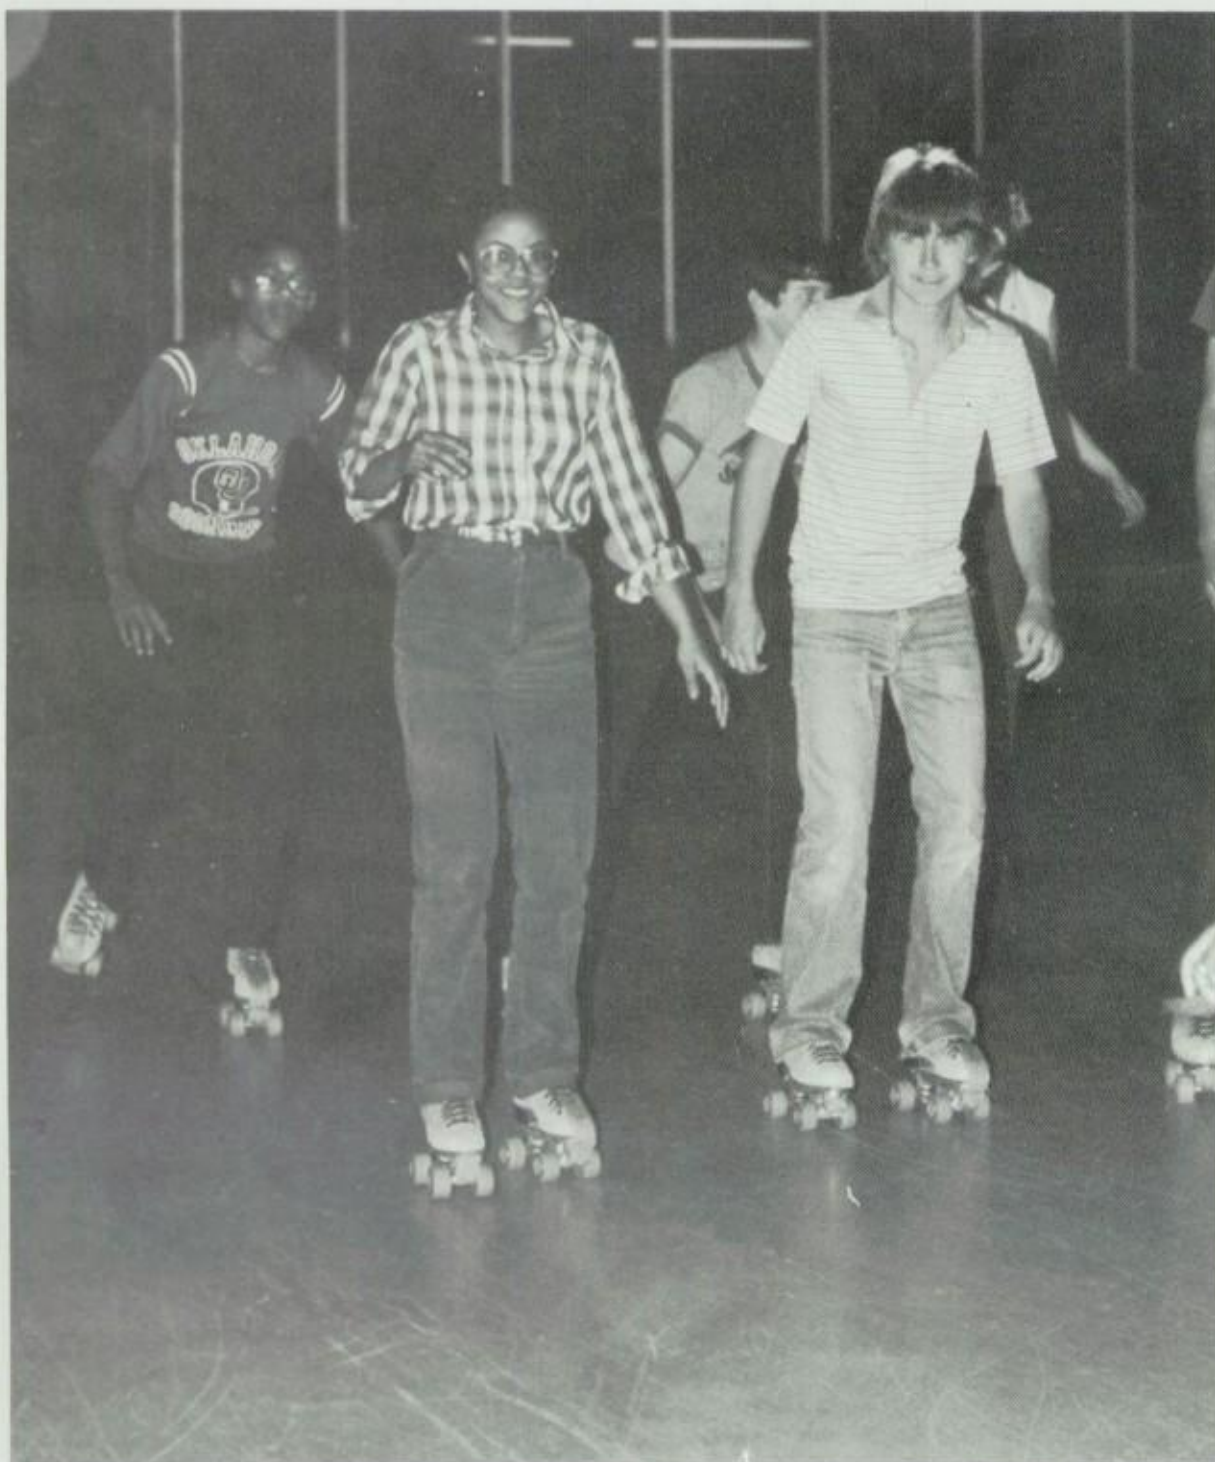

August 21 came too soon this year.

The self-discipline necessary to get up in time to start classes at 8 a.m. was hard to come by for a while, but once we got back into the groove, it wasn't so bad.

Sometimes we even enjoyed the scene of work (and play?) with our friends.

If John Stone had only studied instead of watching TV last night, he could enjoy his breakfast. Ronnie West and Richard McAlester frantically search for their books while Steve Elrod looks on. Angela Gray takes time to relax and catch up on her reading. Lisa Baugas concentrates on finishing her assignment before the bell rings. While Mr. Vaughn's away, Keith Wall will . . . sleep(?) Jeff Vaughn posts the latest math club news.

Fighting the ole boredom syndrome wasn't really a problem when we had the gang close at hand.

Fun came in such a natural way. It wasn't always necessary to spend a lot of money.

Just being with friends made the time spent worthwhile.

It may be crazy, but Linda Cooper, Tommie Jefferson, Joanna Vason, and Kelli Huffman find that a Chinese fire drill is a "unique" way to release locked-up energy. Debbie Ray and Tina Aynes completely tee-pee the last tree before getting caught. Kelly Quinlan and Barrett Bradburry find they can still have fun at the "kiddie fair." Ford vs. Chevy — May the best truck win. Marsha and Ke Maxwell and James Eaton try out the new fad-roller boogie.

PARTYING GENERALS

Money was never a pleasant thing for us to think about, but the older we got, the more we realized we couldn't avoid it.

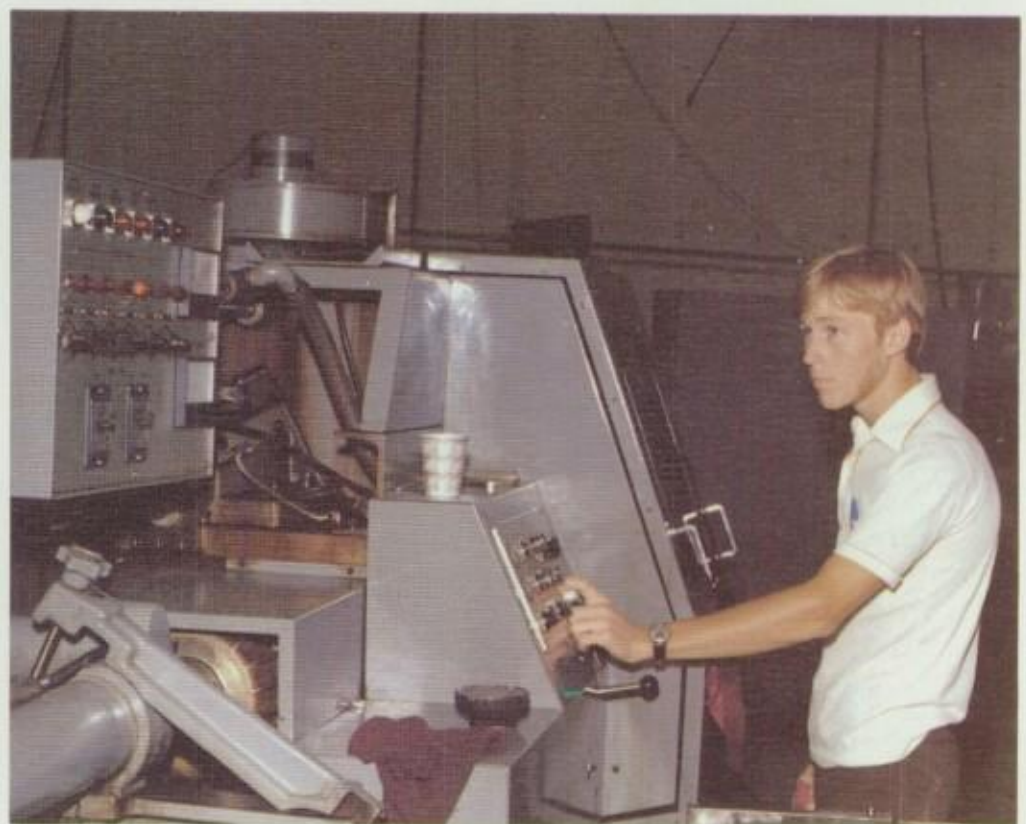

When we saw all the things we wanted, to say nothing of what we really needed, we came face to face with the stark reality: We needed money.

The natural and honest thing to do was to get a job so that is just what a huge percentage of us did.

Dana Boyce finds that when there is no one else to talk to, parrots aren't so bad. Kalyn Weir hopes her boyfriend will "say it with flowers" on her birthday, too. Eddie Chappell finds that when payday rolls around all his work isn't in vain. Doyle Hytche practices for his summer job. Karla Dalley wonders where the sackers are when you need them. Jay Cox checks out the machinery before he begins work. Diane Baker wishes the baby would go to sleep so she can watch her favorite T.V. show.

WORKING GENERALS

COMPETING GENERALS

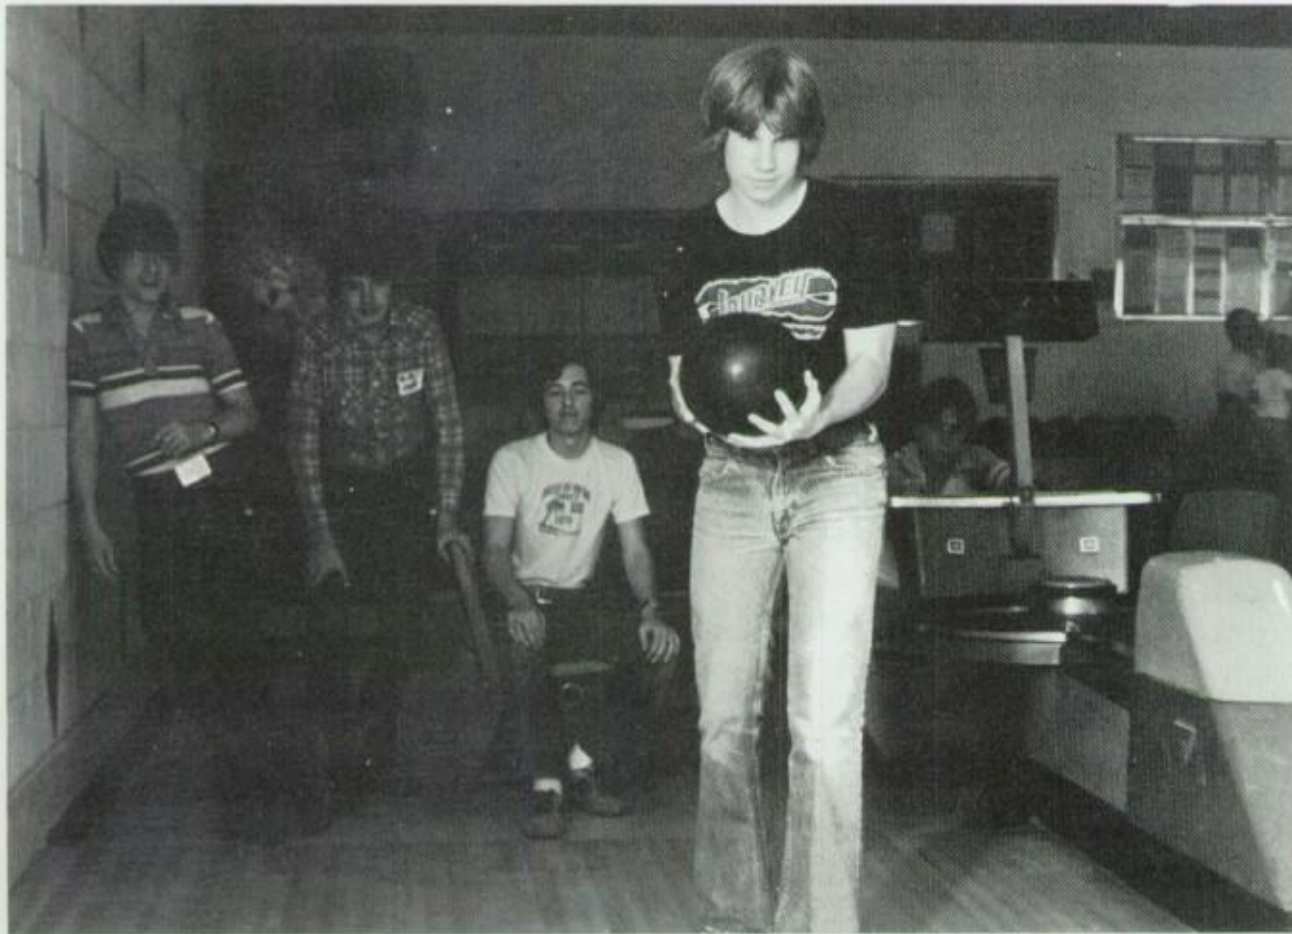

The desire to be better than someone else in a given area or the desire to be the very best at a given thing is competition.

Taken to the extreme, of course, competition can be destructive, but in its harmless aspects, competition can be so much fun.

At this stage of our lives, competition became a very harmless bit of challenge to give us an opportunity to be winners.

Rachel Sosa and Danny Raiden try their luck at horseshoes. Marion Nelson works hard to become the new pinball wizard. Brent Loveless patiently awaits his turn as Angie Moody drives her golf ball straight down the fairway. Too bad Charles, better luck next time. Gene Pollock, Matt Griffith, Keith Edwards, and Kevin Bridges look on to see if Keith Anderson is as good as he says.

DISCOVERING GENERALS

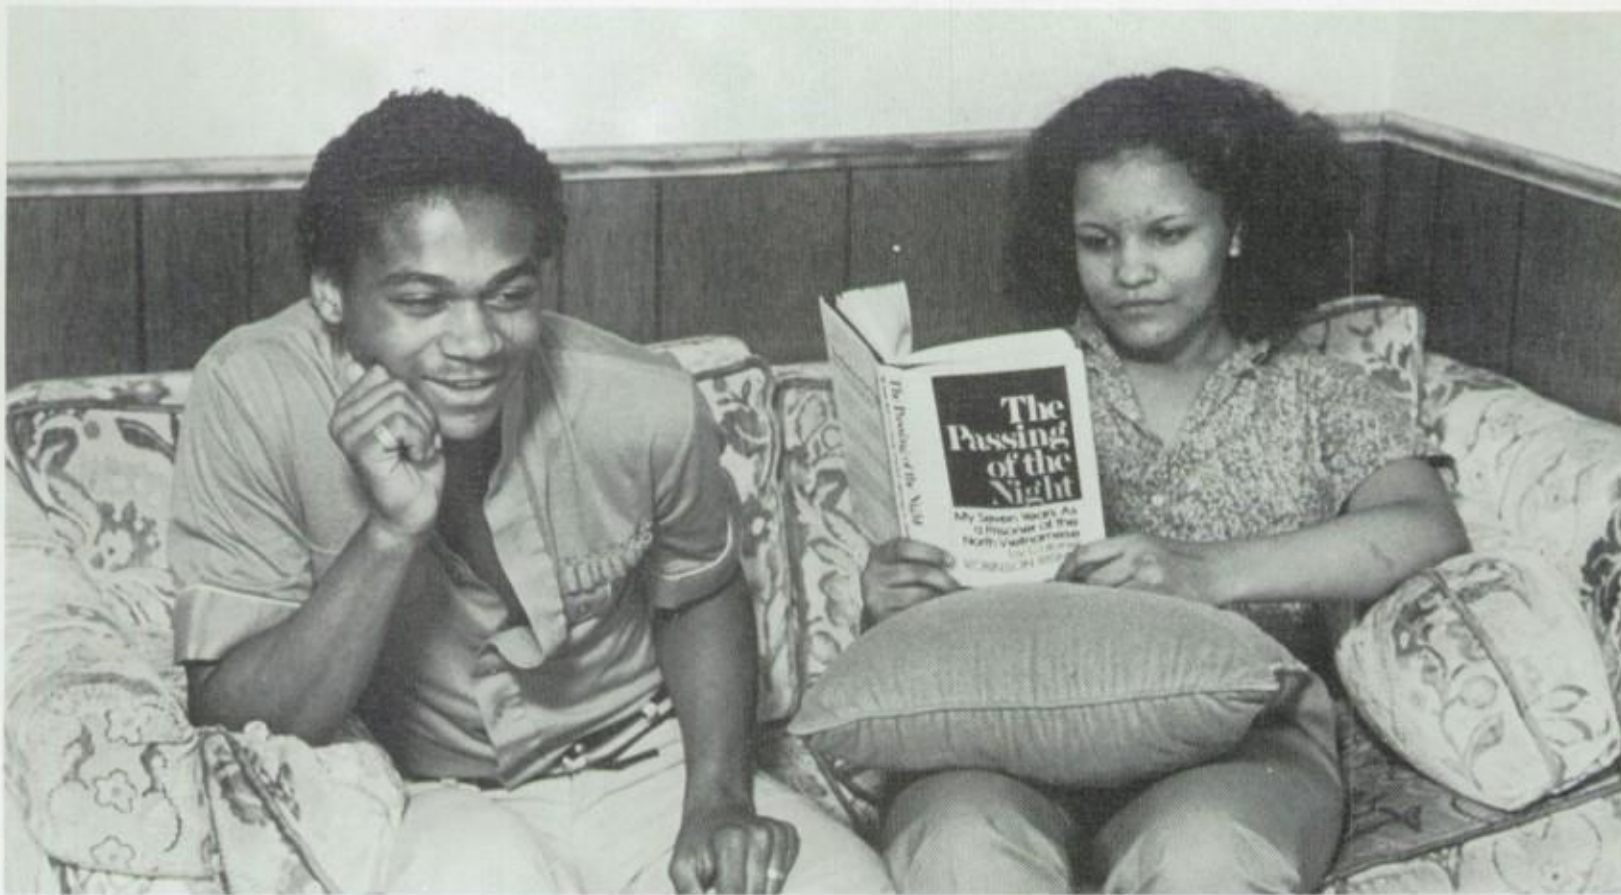

In our quest to add cultural dimension to our sometimes "uncouth" lives, we had a great deal of assistance from the growing Greater Oklahoma City area in which we lived.

We found that our over-grown cowboy town has a great deal of beauty and offers many educational and cultural advantages.

We found ourselves beginning to feel more and more like citizens of the world.

Tera Smiley and Kevin Jones "check out" the new equipment at the Southern Oaks Library. "Ostriches really aren't the most interesting animals at the zoo," agree Wanda Meyer and Charlotte Forshee. Dennis Madden, Anita Brewster, Renee Lorette, and Tony Hebert look at a replica of the USS Oklahoma at the Omniplex. Steve Fish and Charnelle Moore take a ride in Stockyards. Tony Pittman and Starlene Fitzgerald spend the afternoon at the Arts Festival. Sue Clay and Susan Lambeth wonder what it would be like to drive one of these things. Sherri Waldrop, Mary Langston, Fawn Sanchez, and Anita Pannell stop to pose for a picture during a tour of the Capitol.

That very special relationship which found a place in most of our lives became too important to us in some instances.

Some of us had quite a challenge to keep a sense of balance between the things we needed to do and knew that we should do and the things we just plain wanted to do.

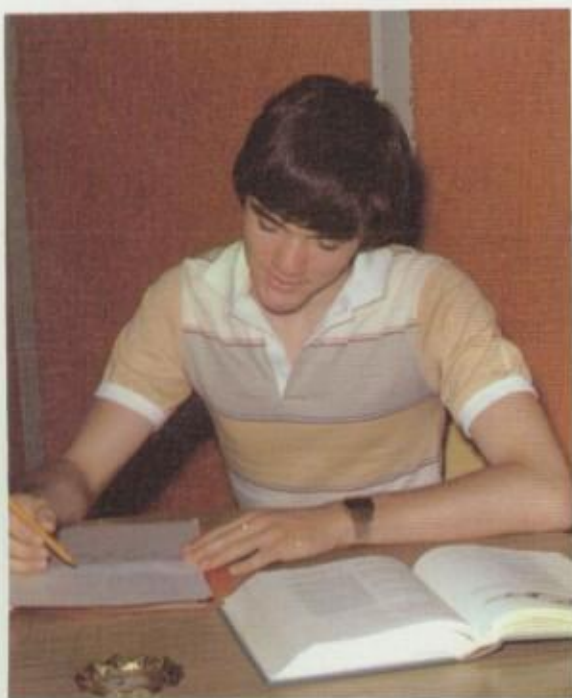

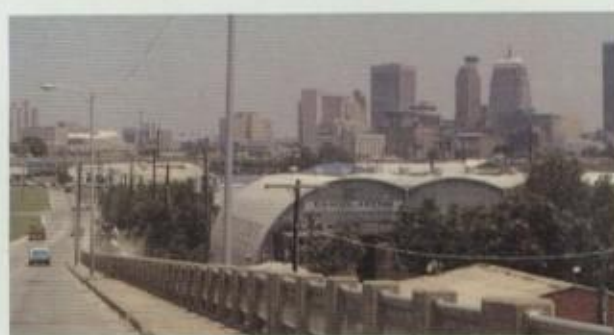

The memories which came from doing some of these important things with that very special person will be with us forever.

Gerrie Kerford finally finds a way to make the night pass while Mark Roberson diligently watches "Monday Night Football." Paula Koci and David Rankin take advantage of the warm spring weather to spend an afternoon at the park. Fonda Chipman and Mitch Logston enjoy a quiet night out on the town. Janet Harris and John Cathcart find a nice way to spend their afternoon.

DATING NERALS

"Teenagers are selfish. They care about nobody but themselves," was heard so much in our present day, but in a subtle, united, and determined way we tried to say "Not so. We do care. We care about our families, our communities, and our world."

There were times, of course, that we made absolutely clear our position of universal awareness.

We knew in our hearts that we had no intentions of letting down on our obligations to posterity.

Carmen Farrell demonstrates her first aid techniques on Kevin Chick. Pam Byers and Pat McCathern pick up aluminum cans for recycling. Members of the clown troupe take time out to visit the Children's Hospital. Brett Graham puts the finishing touches on the woodwork while Jeff Walden looks on. Annette Walker and Angela Farrell do their part in keeping our campus clean. Sherri Bruce is always eager to help, even if it is only a puppy's sprained foot. Steve Outlaw takes a big step in front of his peers and is already studying at South Oklahoma City Junior College.

CARING GENERALS

GENER A

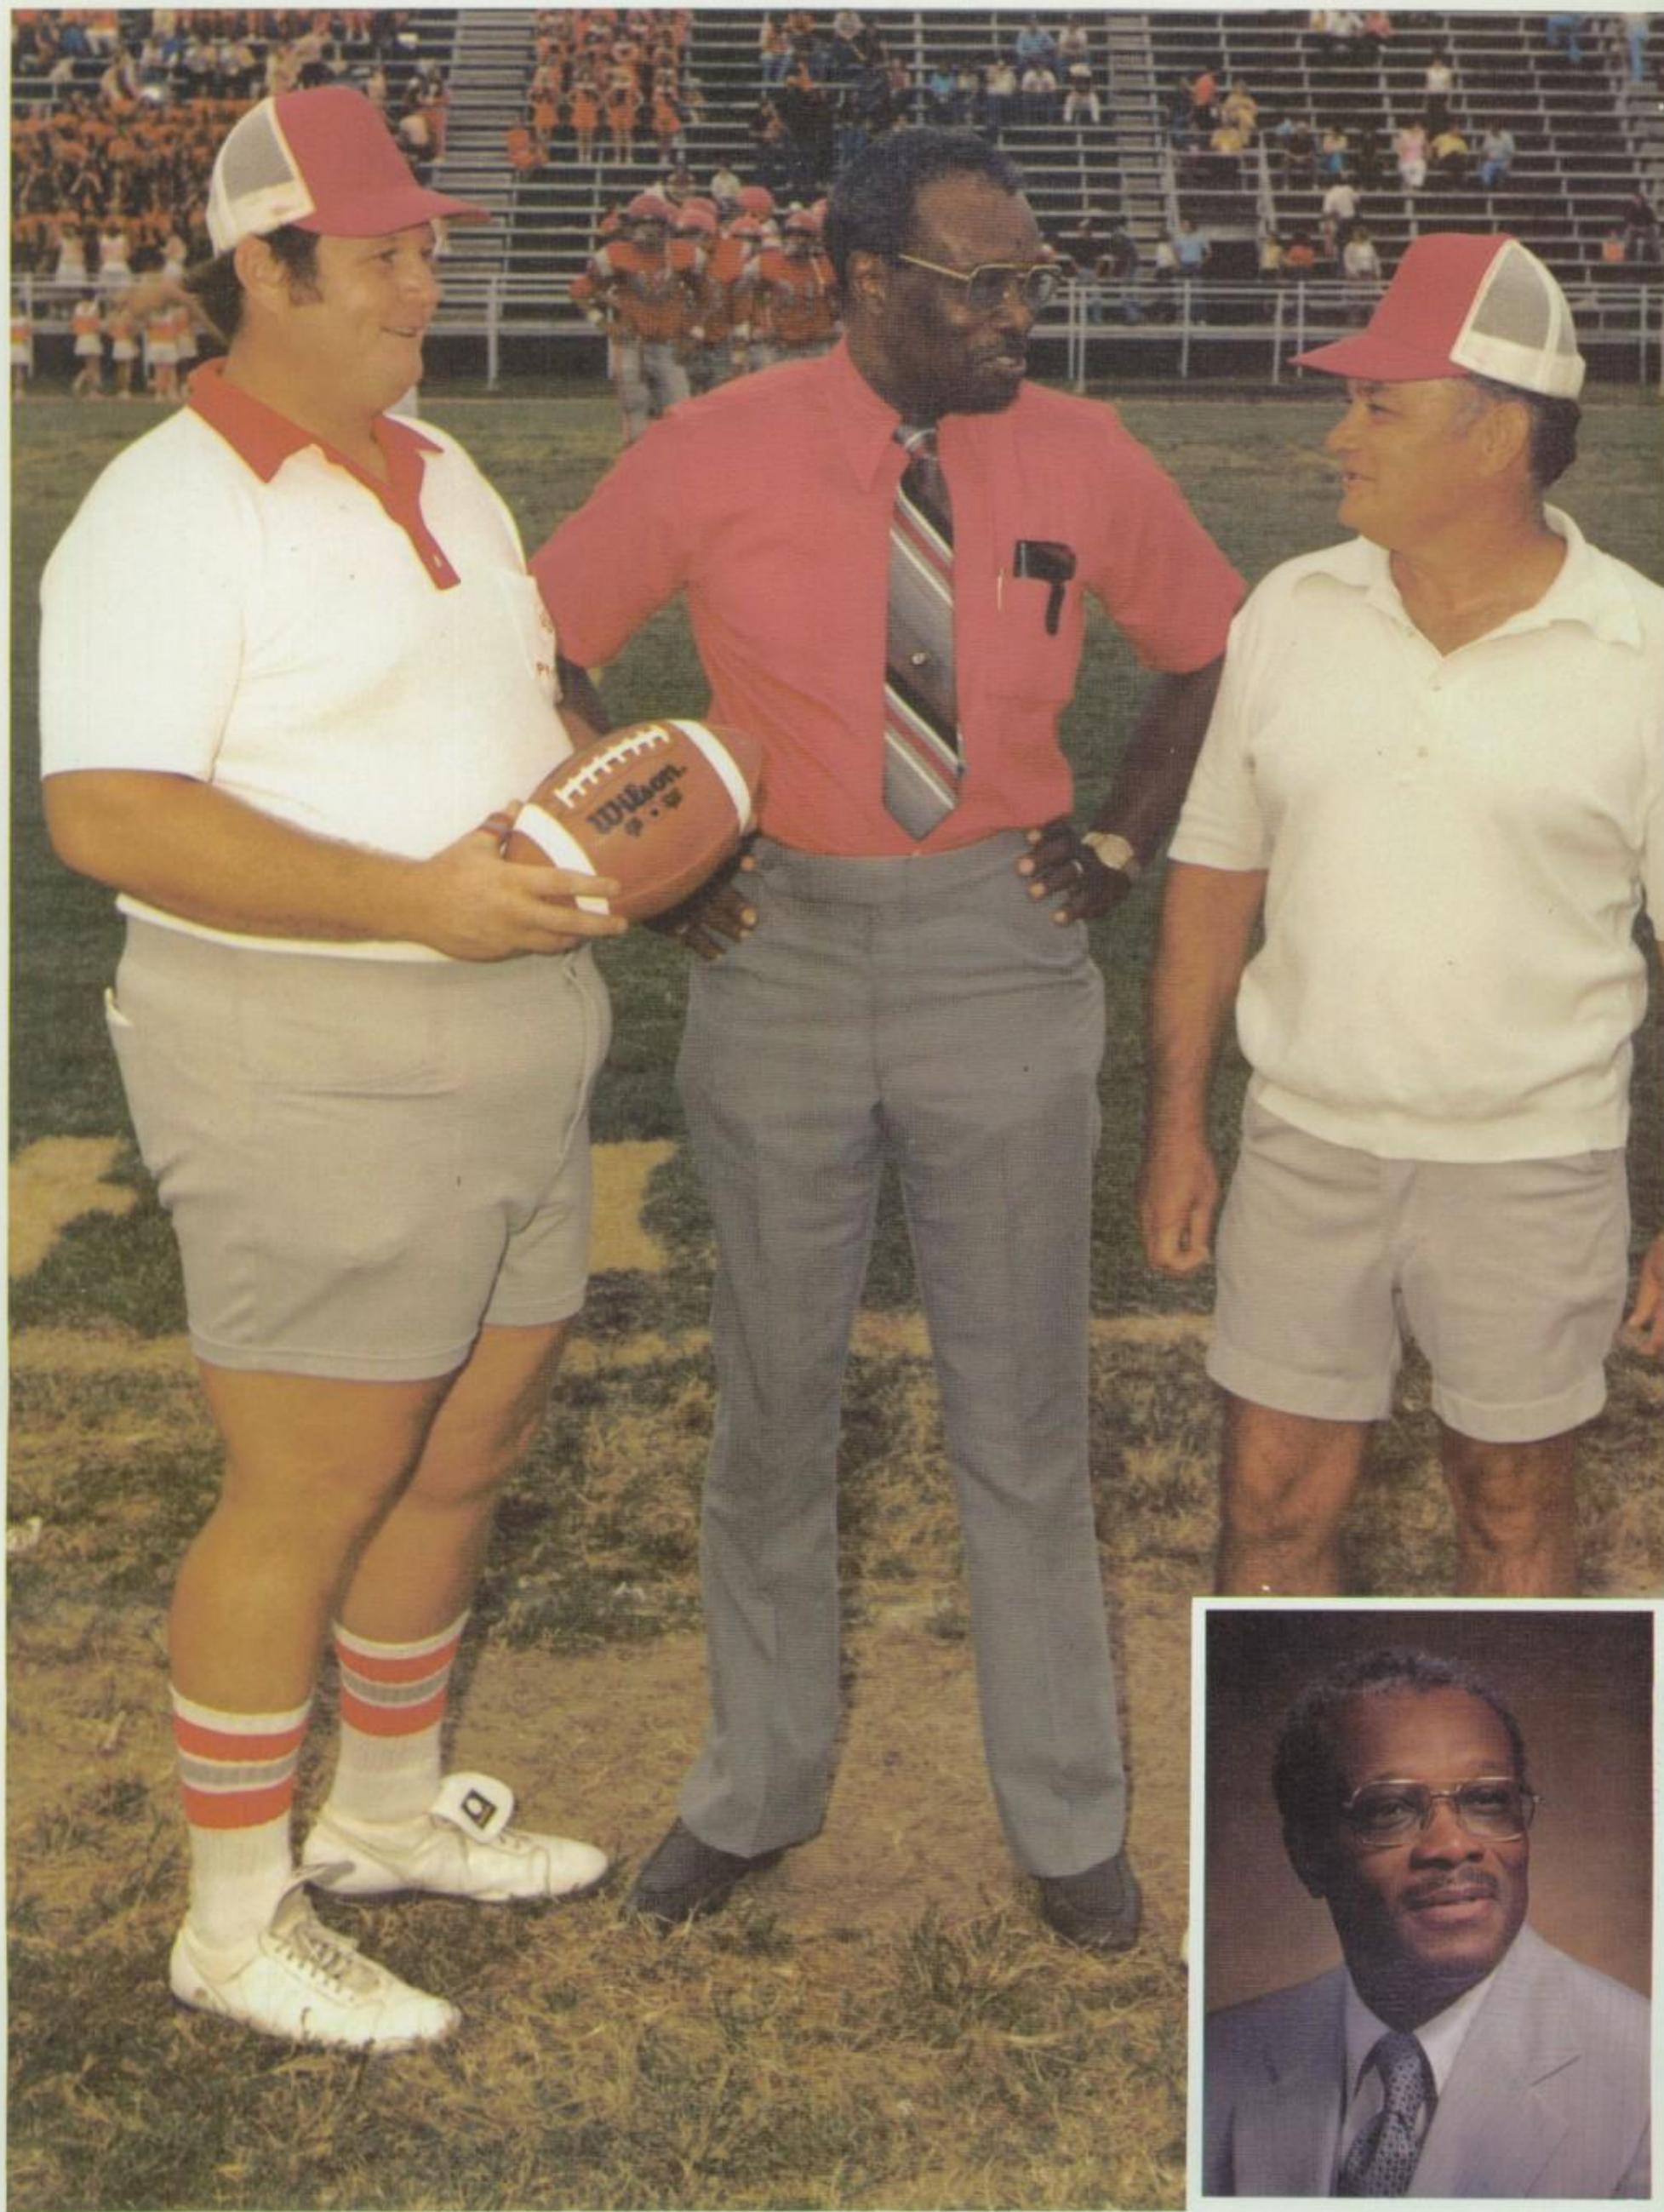

Together we worked and we played, but we grew and developed as individuals.

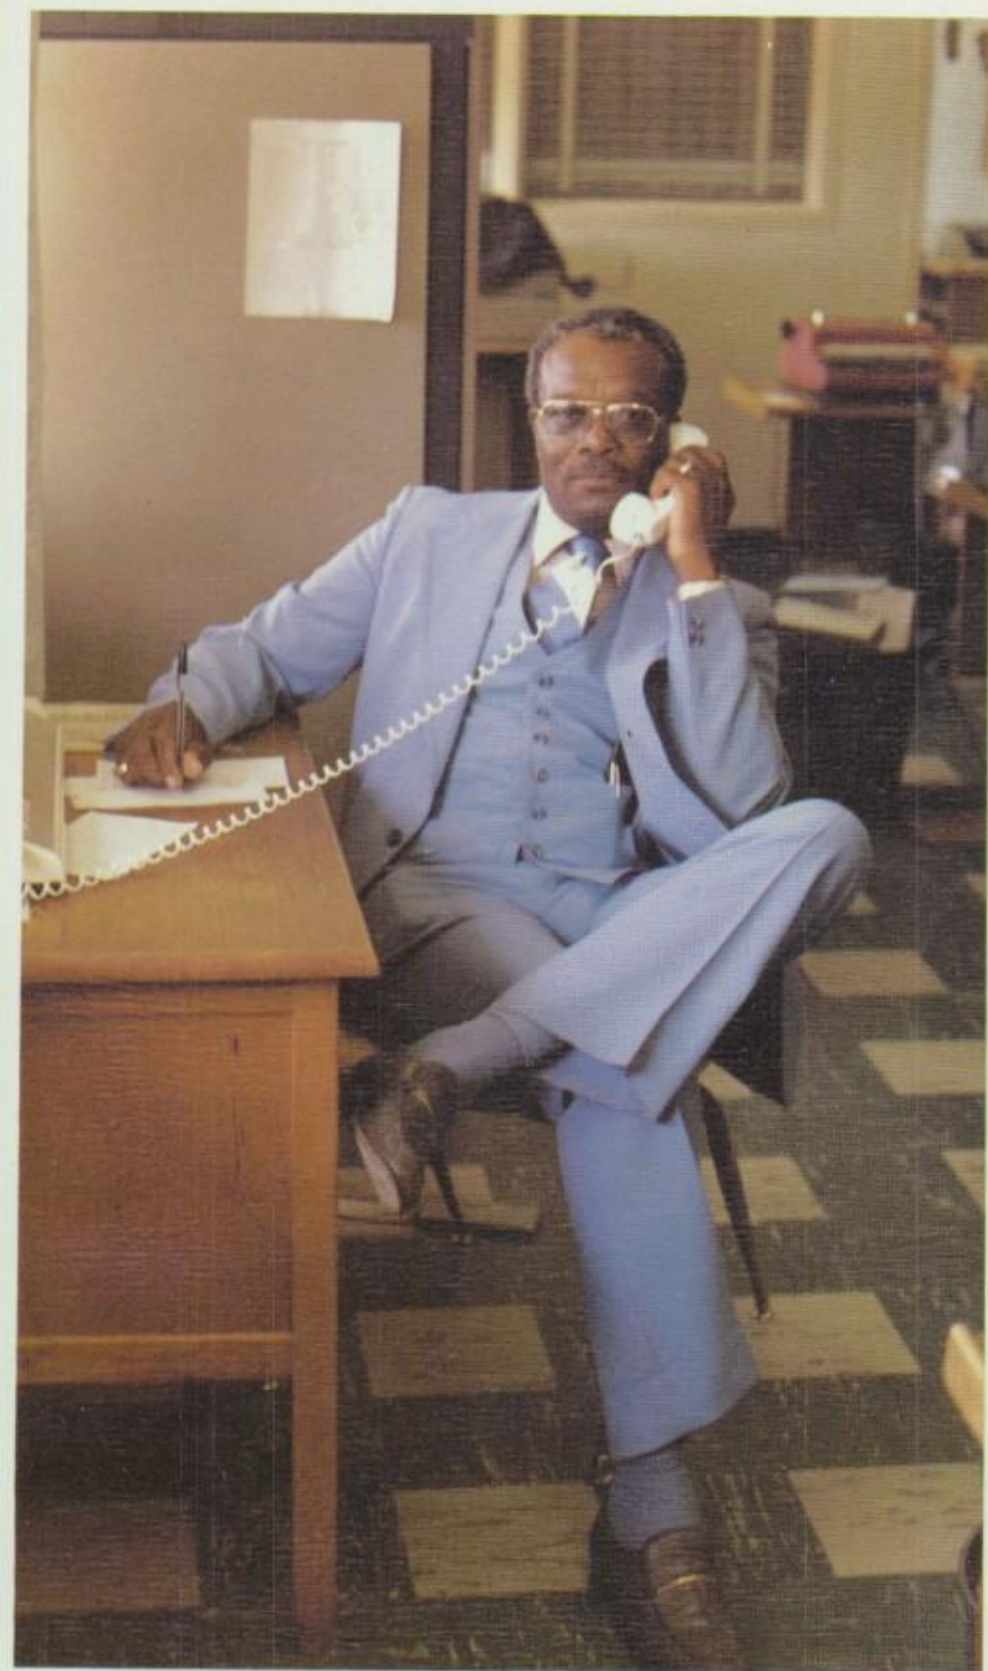

Although we shared experiences, the center of our focus was our identity. We could feel ourselves changing, adapting, and maturing.

Our individuality was ready for a future as a new person, someone we have just discovered.

ALLY INDIVIDUAL PEOPLE

After more than thirty years of service to Oklahoma schools, Mr. Jake Diggs retires this year.

Before coming to Oklahoma City he was a science teacher and football coach in Anadarko.

For ten years he was at Douglass, first as science teacher, athletic director, and track and football coach, and then as administrator.

Mr. Diggs came to U.S. Grant seven years ago because of a court order which transferred Harold Crain to Douglass at the same time.

Mr. Diggs believes that life is conflict, so he has dealt persistently with the social changes of the seventies.

Mr. Diggs talks with Coaches Carter and Choate before the opening kick off. Mr. Diggs lends a hand (or is it ear) to the ladies in the office. Mr. Diggs kids around with a group of teachers at one of the home football games. Mr. Diggs gets some quick instructions on mail sorting from his secretary, Mrs. Lee. The 1981 yearbook staff gives Mr. Diggs a surprise birthday party.

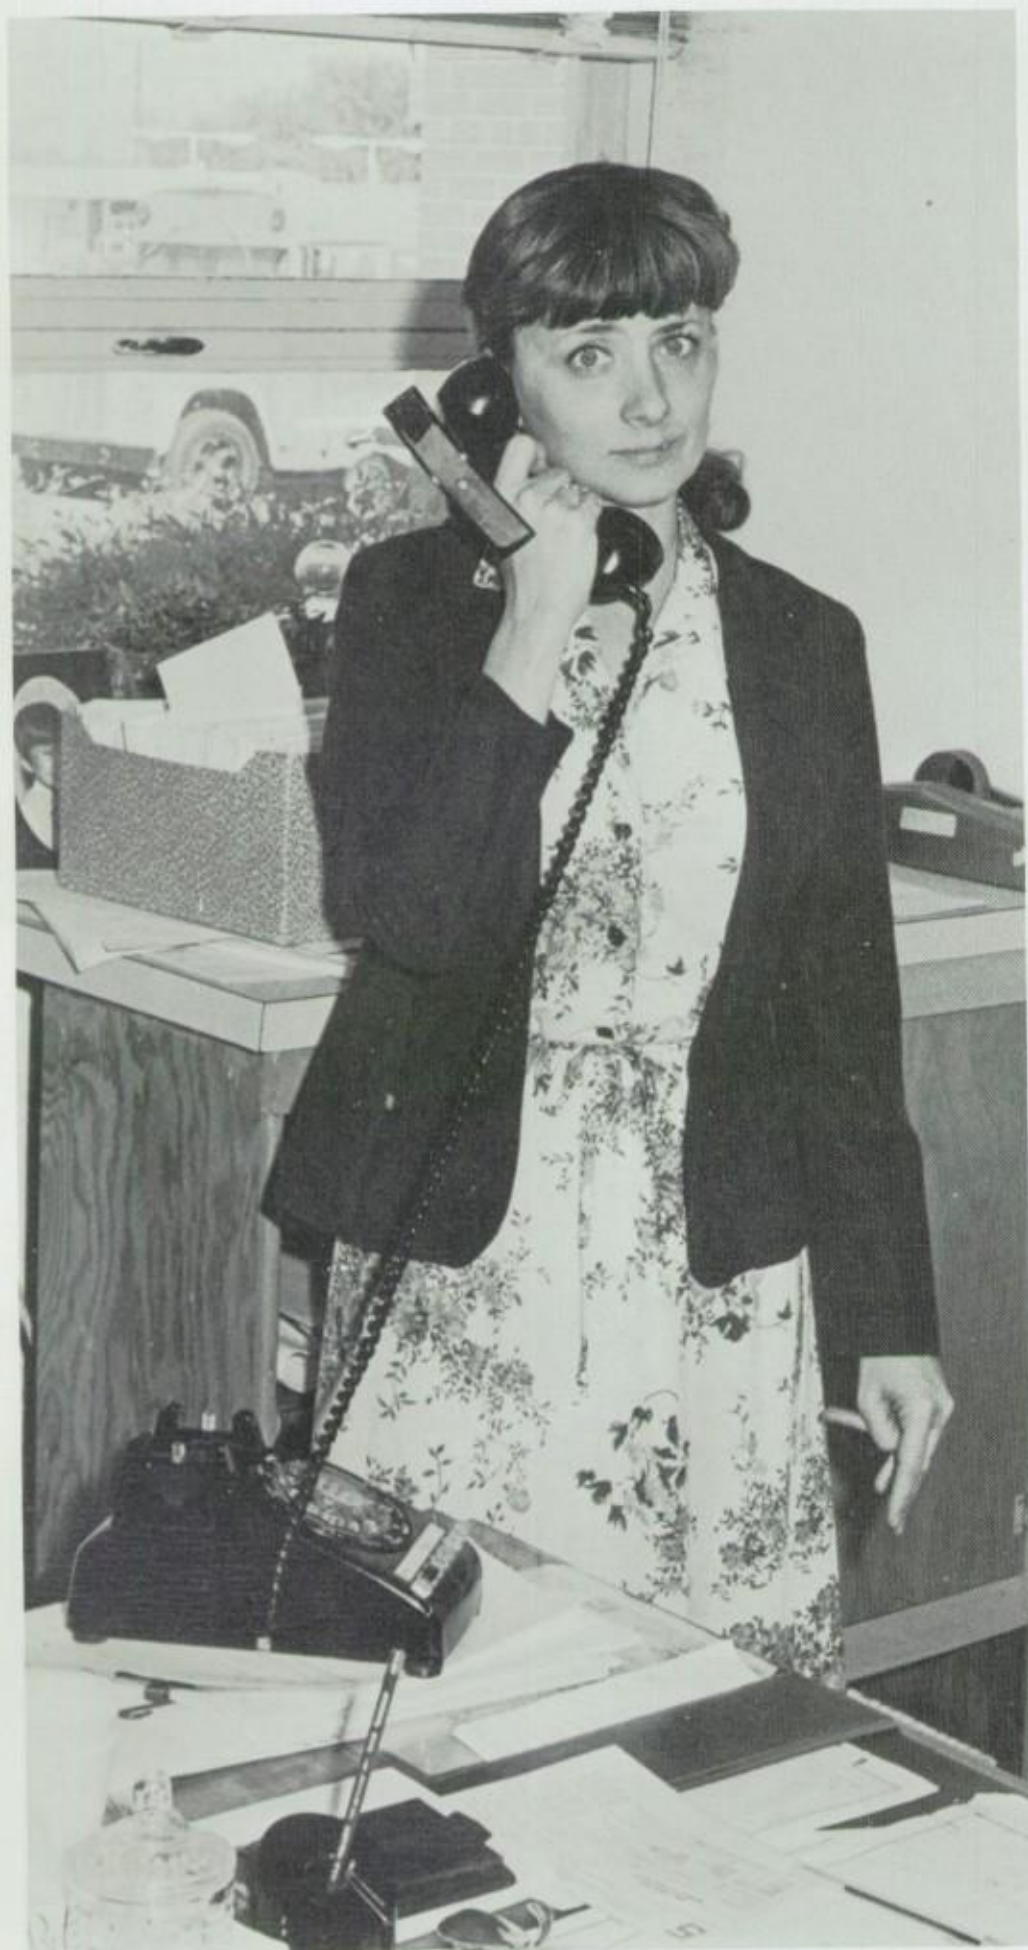

PRINCIPAL

ASSISTANT PRINCIPALS

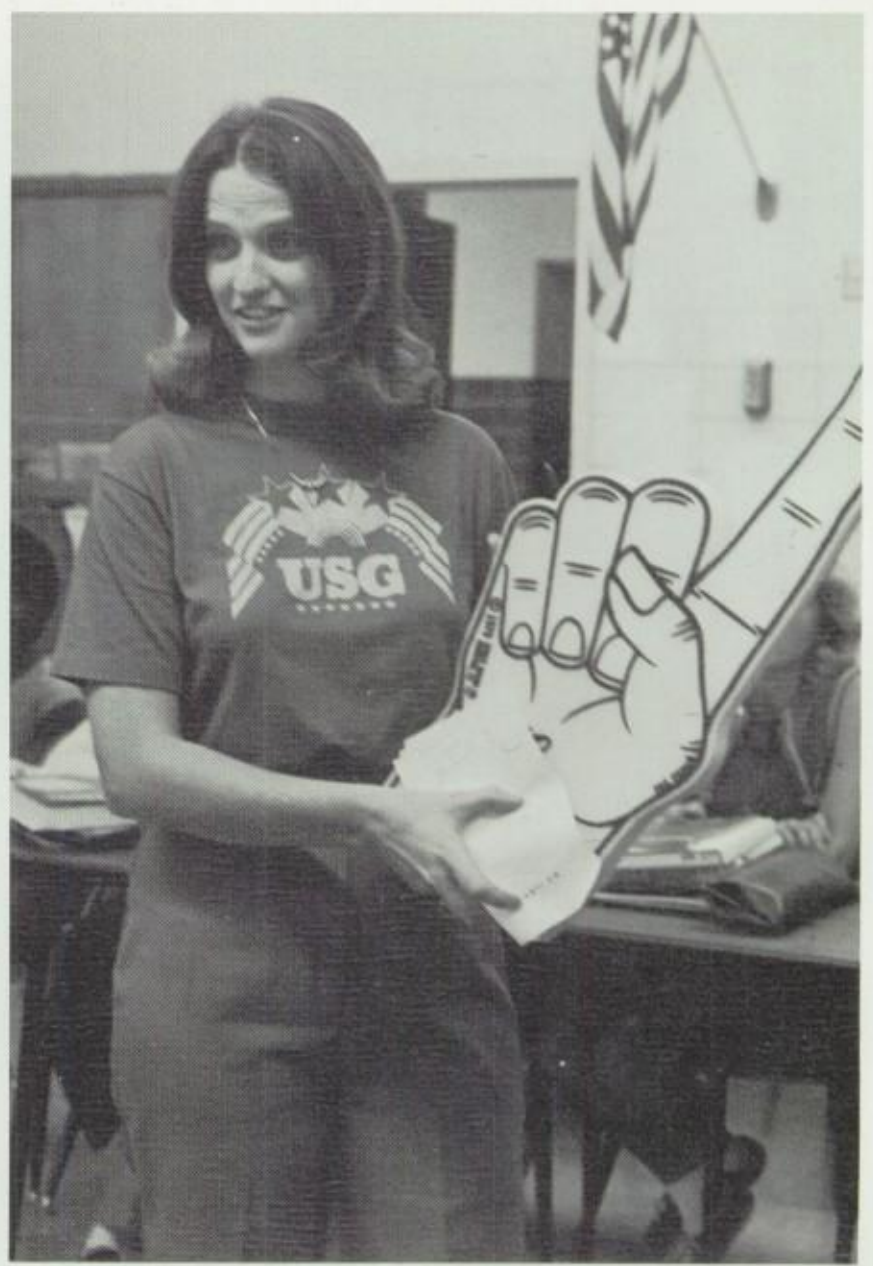

New to the administrative staff this year was Mr. Joe Medlock, the assistant principal in charge of eleventh and twelfth grade discipline.

Mrs. Kay Barry, who had eleventh and twelfth discipline last year, moved to computer scheduling and sophomore discipline this year.

Mr. Ollie Cooper continued to be in charge of supplies and lockers; he also continued to handle ninth grade discipline.

Mrs. Ann Douglas, in her third year as activities director, conducted a class for Student Council.

Mr. Ollie Cooper does some of his paper work. Mr. Joe Medlock listens to some really wild excuses for not going to class. Mr. Medlock and Mr. Cooper enjoy having lunch duty together. Mrs. Douglas explains another fund raising project to her student council class. "I think I've heard this story before, Mike," laughs Mr. Medlock. Mrs. Barry receives roses from a secret admirer. Mrs. Kay Barry hears a wild one via the phone. Mrs. Kay Barry, Mr. Ollie Cooper, Mr. Joe Medlock, Mrs. Ann Douglas.

Marking the end of his second year as superintendent in January 1981, Dr. Thomas Payzant saw changes in the school board personnel. Grant counselors were decreased from four to three for the 1980-81 year.

Paul English's District 1 seat was won by Jean Brody. Other board members were Armond Start, District 2; Freddye Williams, District 3; Susan Herms, District 4; Betty Hill, District 5; Delbert Hamm, District 6; and Floyd Donwerth, District 7.

The counseling staff was again headed by Mrs. Thelma Parks, director, with Mrs. Harriet Pulley and Mr. John Moham on the staff.

Counselors John Moham, Harriet Pulley, and Thelma Parks look over the new material that just came in. Board members Jean Brody, District 1; Floyd Donwerth, District 7; Susan Hermes, District 4; Betty Hill, District 5; Armand Start, District 2; Freddye Williams, District 3; Dr. Delbert Hamm, District 6. Mr. Diggs and Dr. Delbert Hamm discuss some of the problems around school. Mrs. Parks enjoys visiting with students. Mr. Moham looks up college information for a student. Mrs. Pulley still manages a smile in spite of the stacks of paperwork still on her desk.

FACULTY

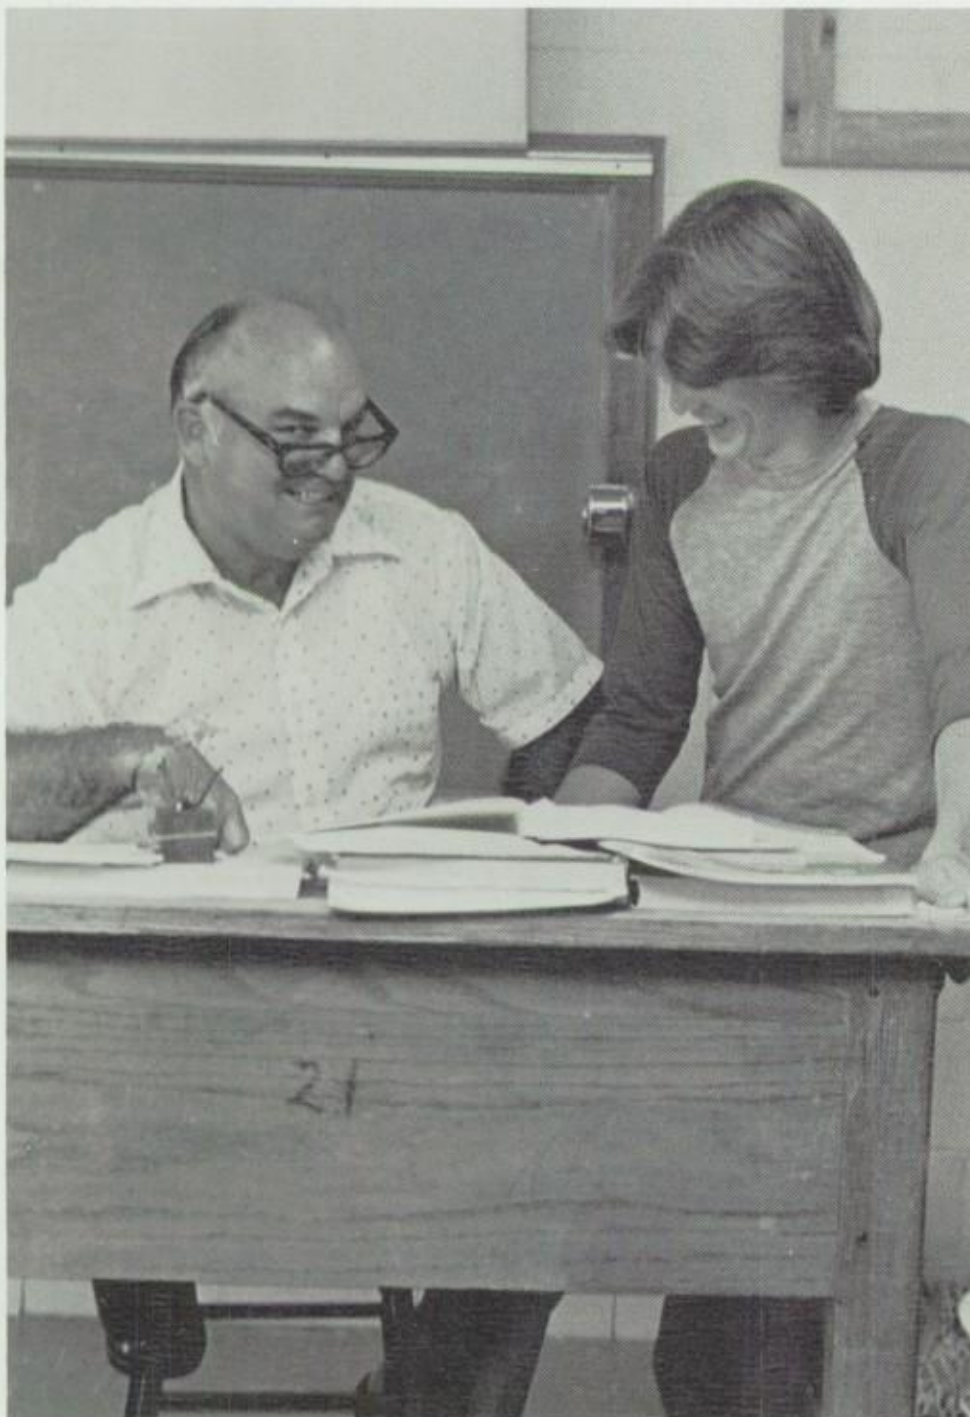

Orr, Peggy, Attendance Secretary; Smiley, Earline, Attendance Secretary; Woosley, Helen, Secretary

Faculty members defined BIONIC (Believe it or not I care) as the theme for the school year.

During the school year teachers had several one-day in-service respites, but they were days of work, not play. The Faculty Advisory Committee was instrumental in organizing and leading the staff for changes.

Mrs. Dean and Ms. Beverly Wilson watch the game. Mr. Crosley doesn't believe David York's excuse for not having his assignments. After all, how many grizzly bears have you seen in the halls taking psychology assignments? Charles Williams thinks Mrs. Sparger has considerable growing to do before she can play basketball.

Faculty and administrators didn't run the show without a great deal of support from the large secretarial staff as well as the janitorial staff and cafeteria staff.

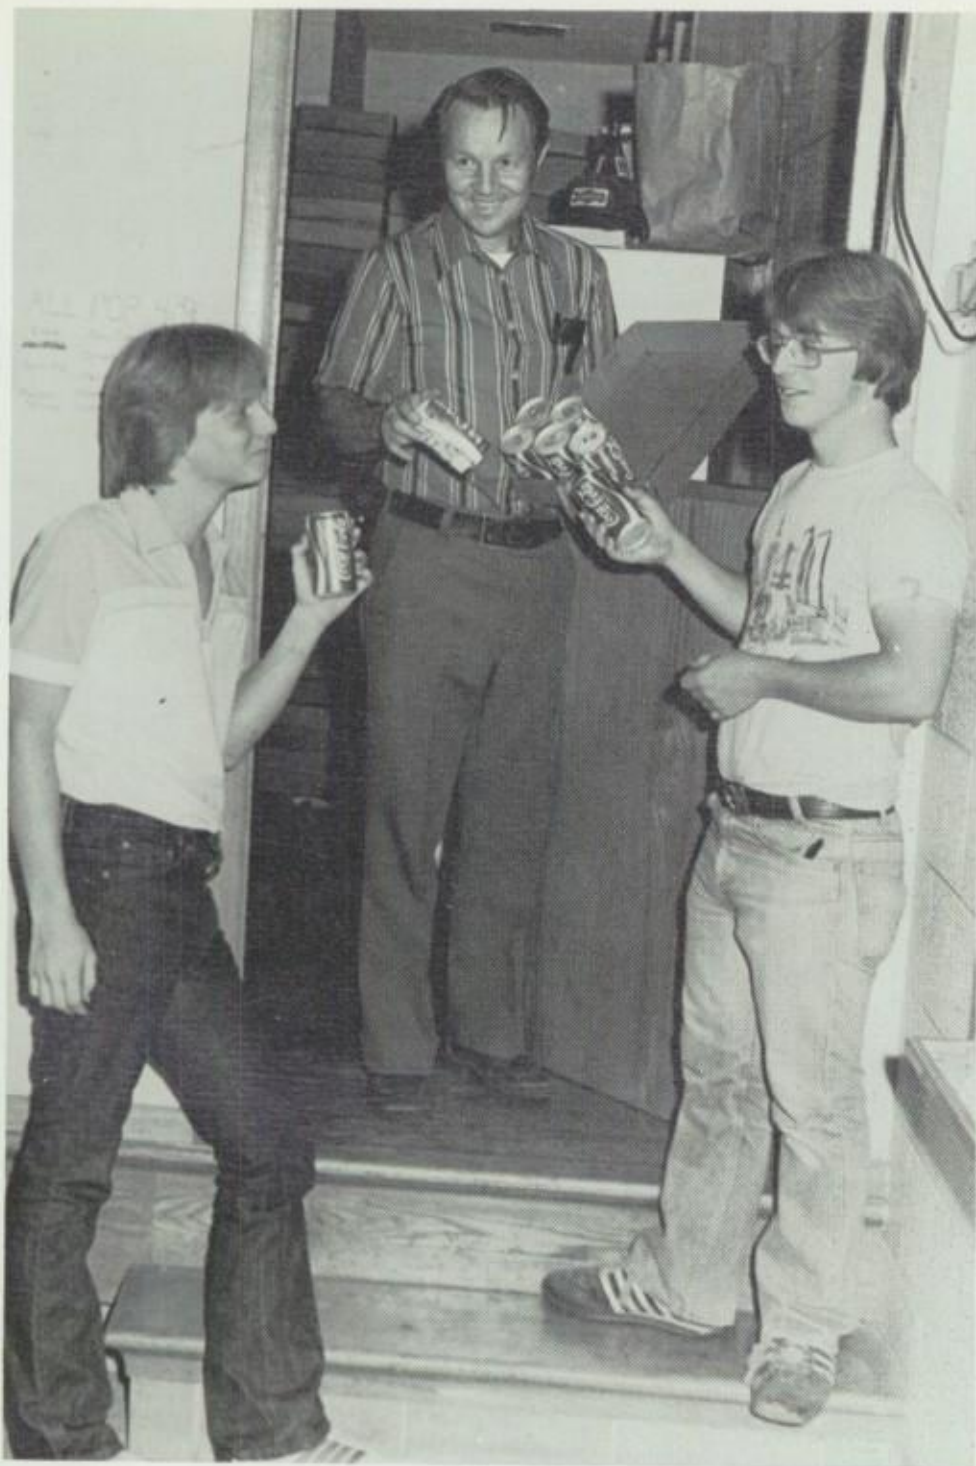

Faculty support became a family matter in many instances. Some teachers had younger brothers and sisters who were students. Some teachers had children who were students or teachers.

Irene McNeal helps keep the junior hall tidy during the day. The cafeteria staff makes sure that the lunch line runs smoothly. Mr. Vaughn encourages his sons, Brad and Jeff, to "Have a coke and a smile." Coach Dean Choate and son Neil walk to class together. Mrs. Connie Overstreet still likes to tease younger brother Bobby McDougal. Mrs. Overstreet takes along the entire family to watch the Generals in action. Linda Dukes can't believe she has to call her brother Allen, Mr. Dukes.

Graduation itself dominated the year for seniors, from the beginning of the year until May 28 when they received their coveted diplomas.

They chose their announcements, divided into committees, and prepared for the breakfast, the baccalaureate, and finally commencement.

Miss Frances Hendrix and Mrs. Eileen Echols were head senior sponsors.

Mr. Vaughn shows Steve Outlaw the logic of the whole thing. Cheryl Stevens tries to look intelligent as she opens her book for the first time. Even serious Angie Burgess takes time to goof around. Mark Robles and Leesa Sharp "play like" they are in Radio/TV.

Juniors received their class rings, bought their cars, and actively waited to be seniors.

As a class, their objective was to raise enough money to present the junior-senior prom. To do this, they had many money-raising projects, among which were sponsoring a play and selling candy.

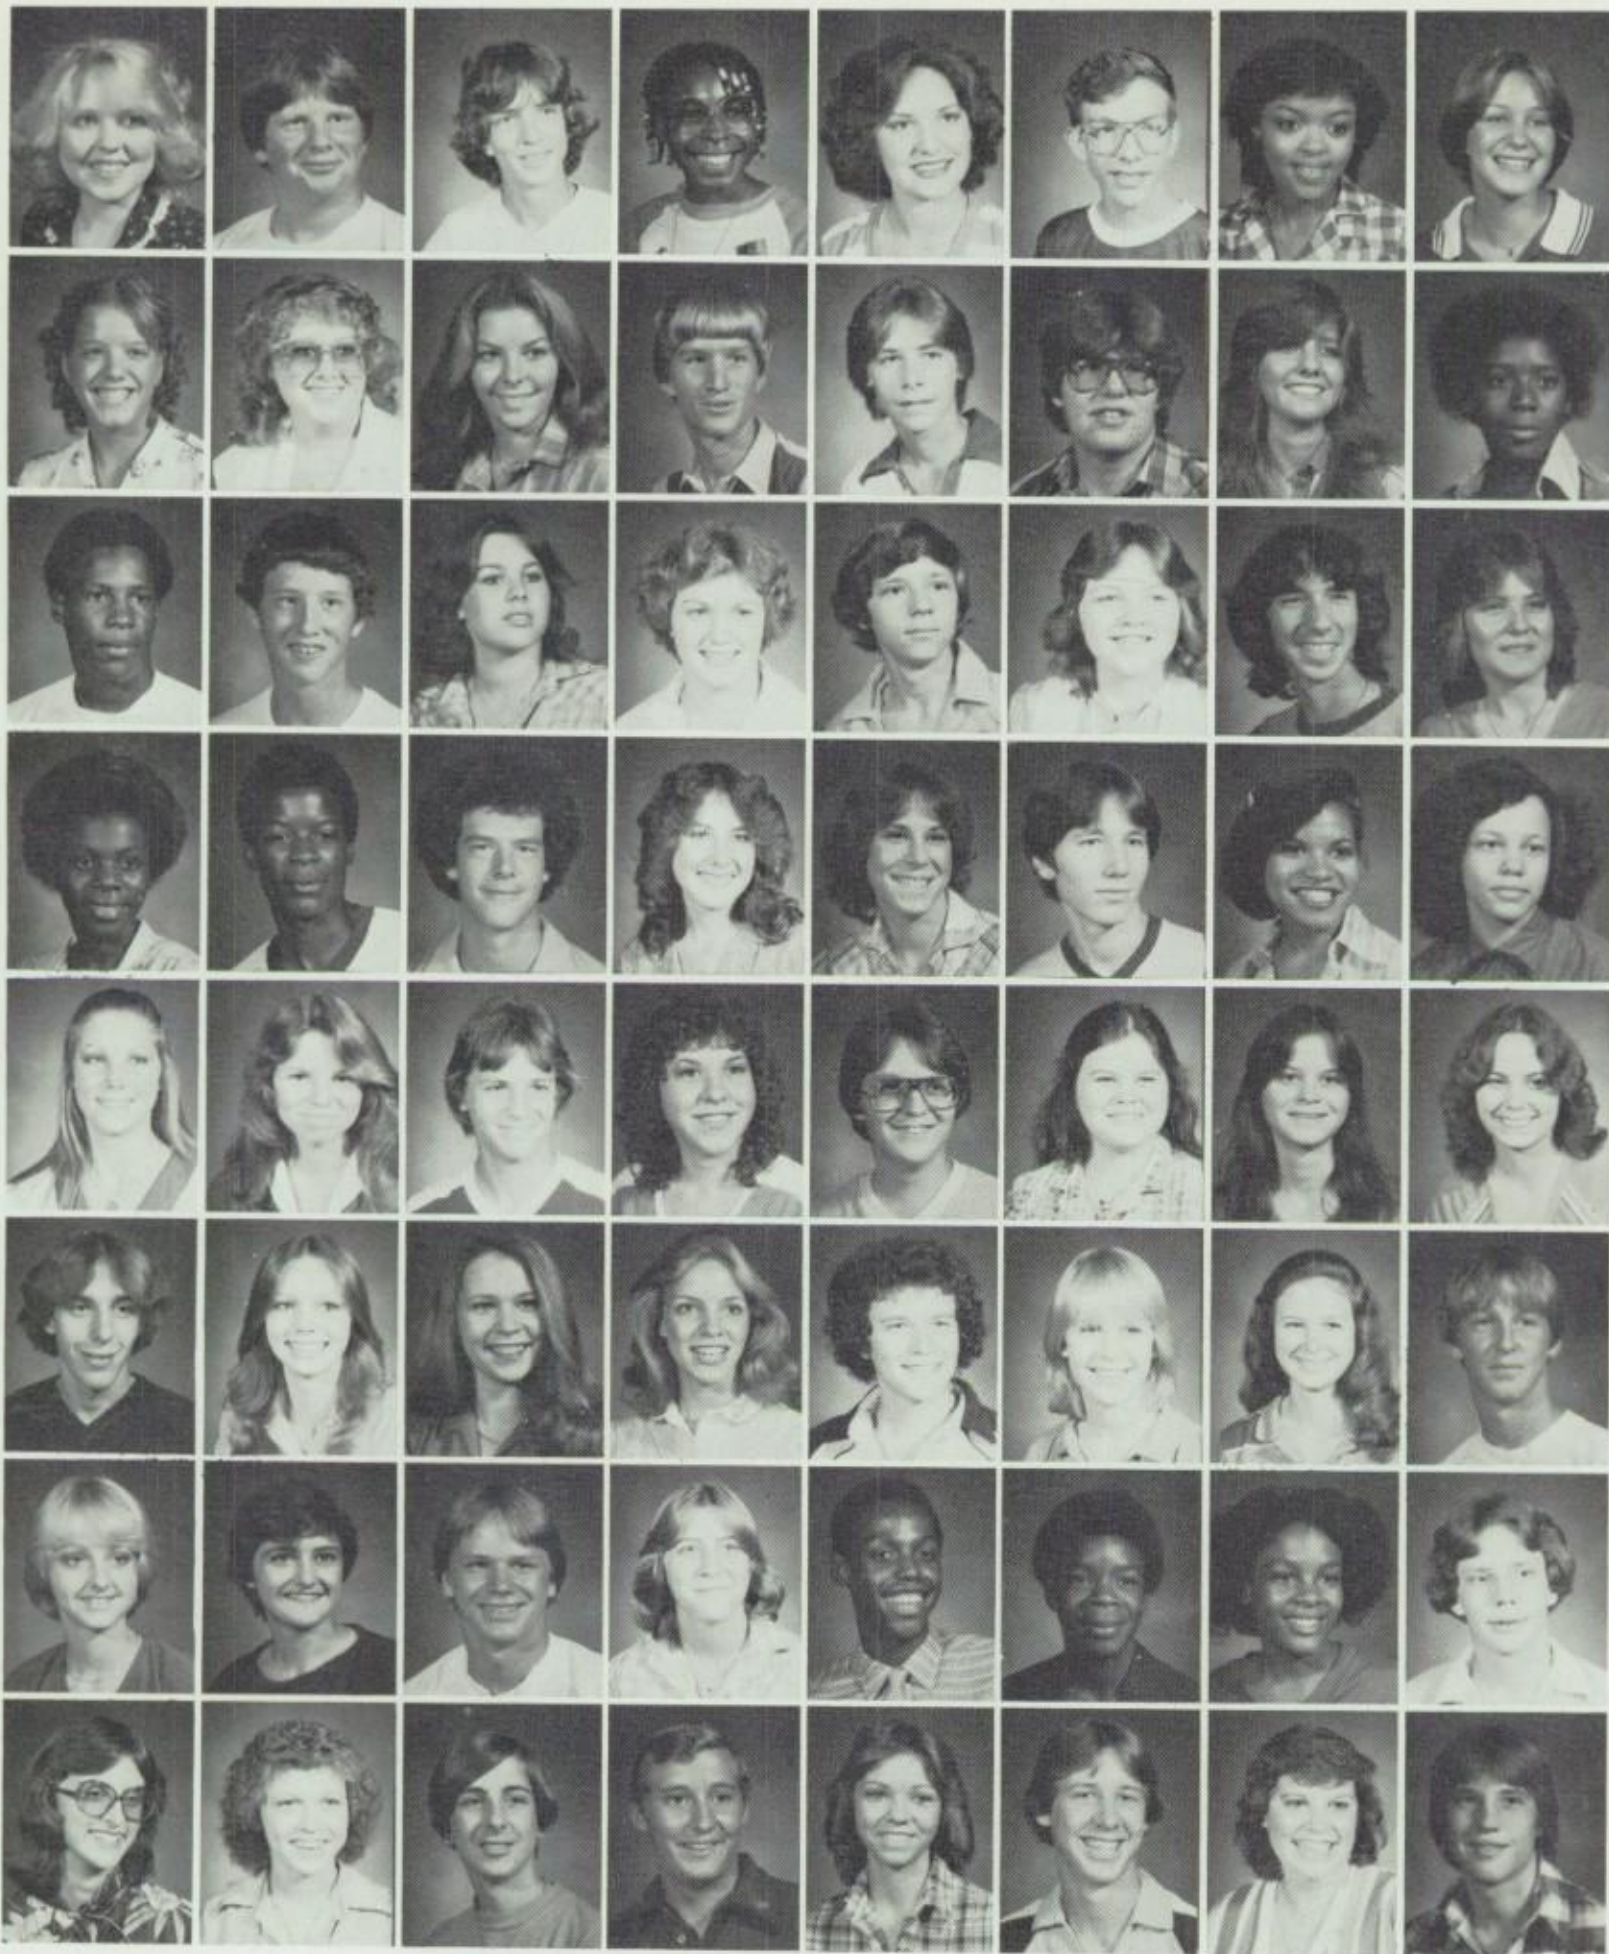

Mrs. Vicki Stewart was head sponsor.

Discovering a new way to keep cool are Jay Cox, Richard McAllister, Shane Boyd, and Ronnie West. Janet Deveny thinks that class rings are one of the best things about junior year. Junior Mr. and Miss Howdy are Bob McDougal and Stephanie Shipley. The junior class planning committee officers are Brenda Cox, representative at large; Dee Dee Hewett, secretary; Terri Monkress, vice president; Kelli Huffman, historian; Sandy Crain, sergeant-at-arms; Janna Jordon, treasurer; and Mary Garcia, representative at large. Not pictured is Sheila Ortiz, president. Roger Coggins examines the newest dent in his truck.

Tim Anderson knows that it is going to be another one of "those" days. Rona Bridges and Marvin Reeves decide that the work is much harder than it looks. One of the most familiar sights at a pep rally is the football players having a little fun with the cheerleader's pom-poms.

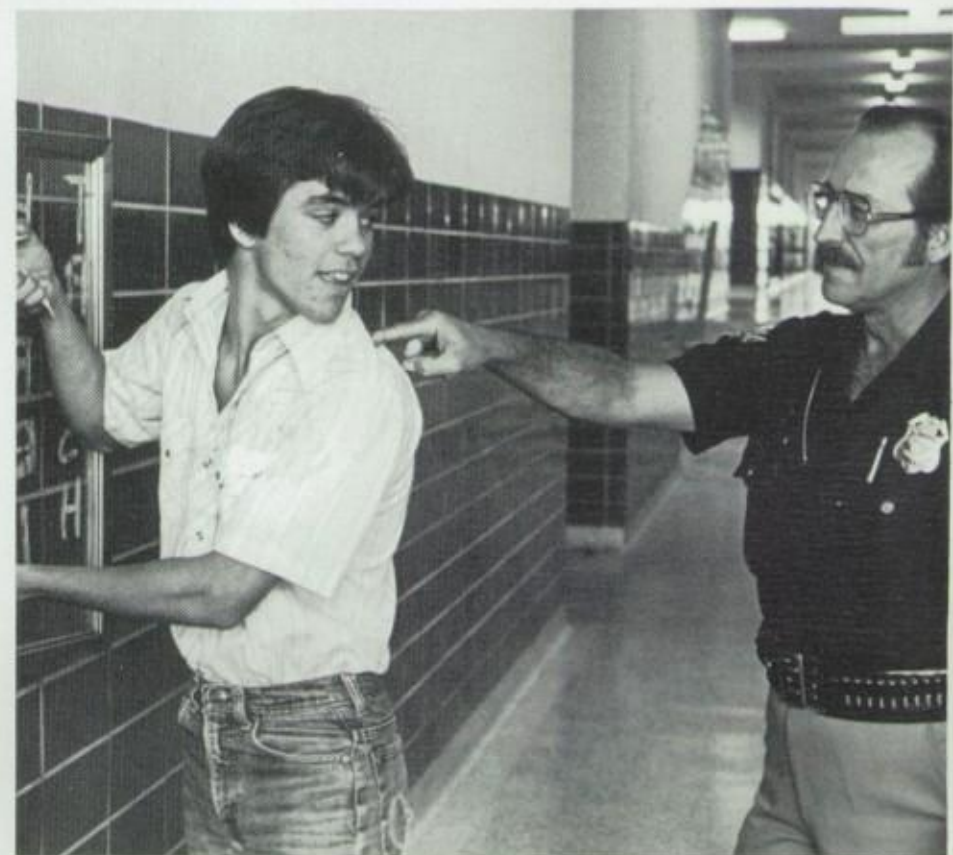

Sophomores emerged from the freshmen teams to take their places on the varsity squads.

They began to feel that they were full-fledged members of the school community.

In addition, they began to feel that they were full-fledged citizens of the community as they got their driver's licenses and got behind the wheels of their parent's cars.

"Playing it cool," broken arm and all, Jimmy Reaves checks to see if the "coast is clear." Ronnie Green and LaGina Pipes were Mr. and Miss Howdy for the sophomore class. Scott Verdicchio should have been more alert to "avoid the fuzz." Mike James picked a stuffy way to hide out just to ditch a class with Dennis Maddon.

Freshmen left their familiar surroundings of middle school to embark on their new adventures in their new school home.

They found solace from familiar faces as they made efforts to adjust to so much that was new.

Before fall was over, they organized their class, elected their officers, and began to function just as the more experienced classes did.

Guy Godwin strengthens his muscles as he boosts Tommy Thompson to add a contribution to the freshman hall. Troy McLendon thinks in a few hours he will be as tall as Jeff Richardson and Scott Ziegler.

Freshmen quickly learned that the thing to do is line up in the hall for "hall duty." Freshmen Miss and Mr. Howdy were Shelly Yost and Robbie Ross. Christy Barnett and Kim Hurst examine Paula Darragh's new steady ring. Lanita Brown and Rita Atkinson grab a quick coke between classes.

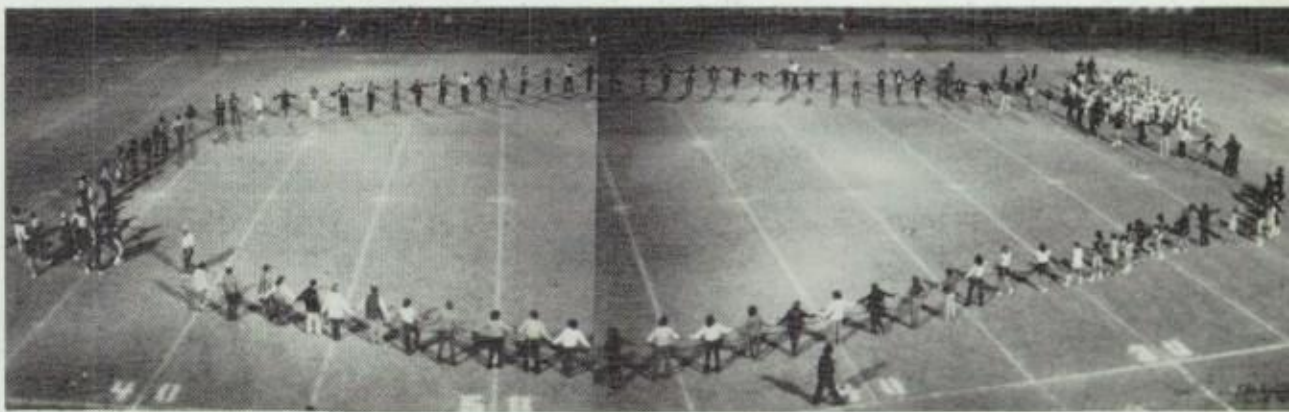

GENERAL

We felt as though we were somewhat educated when we came to General Land, but we quickly realized that we weren't educated at all. We had a great deal to learn.

We worked very diligently, usually at our classwork, but sometimes we worked diligently to avoid working.

Sometimes we weren't satisfied with one class or another, and we would make a change, but regardless of the class, we always got stuck with work! However, we were beginning to feel Generally Educated.

LY EDUCATED CURRICULUM

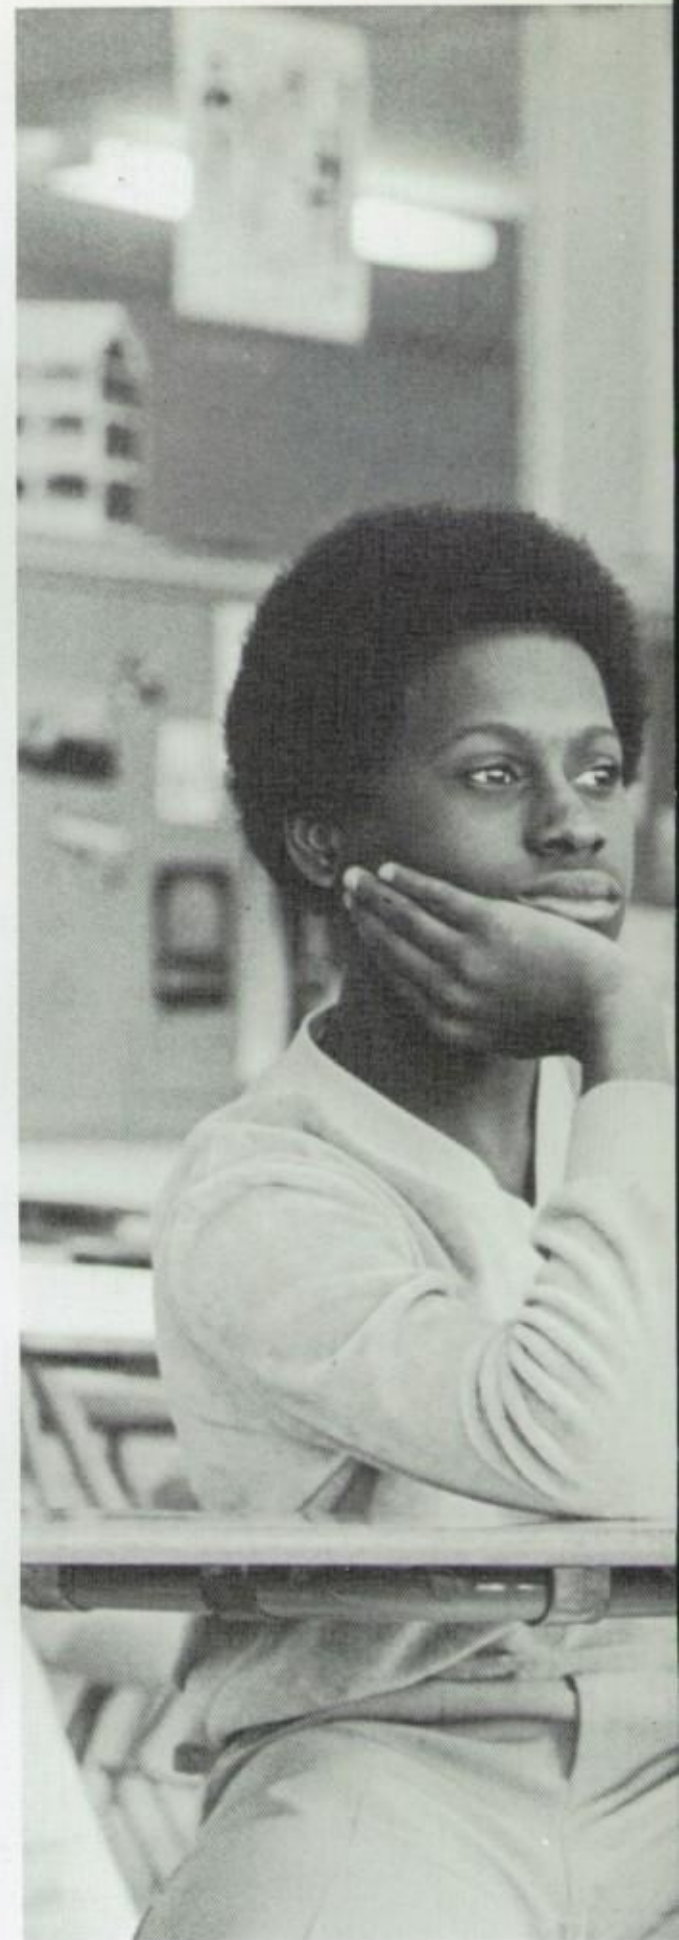

As creatures of the highest level, we were intent upon improving our language skills.

Those of us who had real proclivities in this direction were offered special advanced placement which enabled us to "test out" of credits for college.

Those of us who were not so adept in this field had special help in the form of developmental reading as well as other special classes designed to help us "cut the mustard" in the job market.

Becky Story recites from her English Lit. text as the class listens. Keith Hopson and Terri Monkress day-dream of Paris in their French class. Mrs. Debbie Gandy prepares Tracy Janway and Myron Chick for their next assignment. Loree Armstrong and Rhonda Morgan draw designs for set in stagecraft. Mrs. Brenda Roberson dictates Spanish to her students. Jon Stewart and Shawn Bateman use wood braces to steady the set.

LANGUAGE ARTS

Some of us were enthralled with the beauty and grace of French and Spanish, so we elected a year or two of these foreign languages.

Others of us were convinced that our talent lay in speech or drama, radio and television, or some phase of journalism, so we plugged away cultivating "hidden" abilities.

Regardless of our likes or dislikes, we all had to take eight long semesters of straight English.

The Drama I students practice their acting abilities. Natalie Leimer and Fonda Chipman stage a debate while Susan Hall and Larry Rudiger argue over evidence. As her class listens, Mrs. Sarah Fuller recites from the literature text. Mark Winter and Sherri Bruce report current events on the KOSI news set. Teresa Littlejohn works on her mock yearbook in Journalism I. Colleen Kraig and Steve Petty have dress rehearsal before opening night. Mrs. Nancy Phelps explains the correct pronunciation of French to her students.

Many of us did well to make change, so we were the ones who struggled through general math and basic math.

Others of us were comfortable with an equation strung from one end of the room to the other so we filled the algebra, geometry, and higher math classes.

SCIENCE

Because we were curious creatures who wanted to understand what makes us tick as well as what makes our world go 'round, we devoured our science classes.

Whether or not we were happy about science study, we did take one year of science because we had to.

In chemistry Laurie McAlister and Charlotte Forshee check their experiment for errors. Belinda Thompson dissects a baby pig as Donald Dunn and Mr. Jack Nichols help out. Kim Clark watches the progress of her project carefully. Cindy Fansler shows Bill Erwin the right chemical used in their formula. Mr. Lathan Johnson's biology class studies the parts of plants. Ronnie Ruyle shows Lori Outlaw and Jimmy Mundt the correct way to test chemicals. Lanette Beaty finds that studying her experiment is an important part of chemistry.

BUSINESS

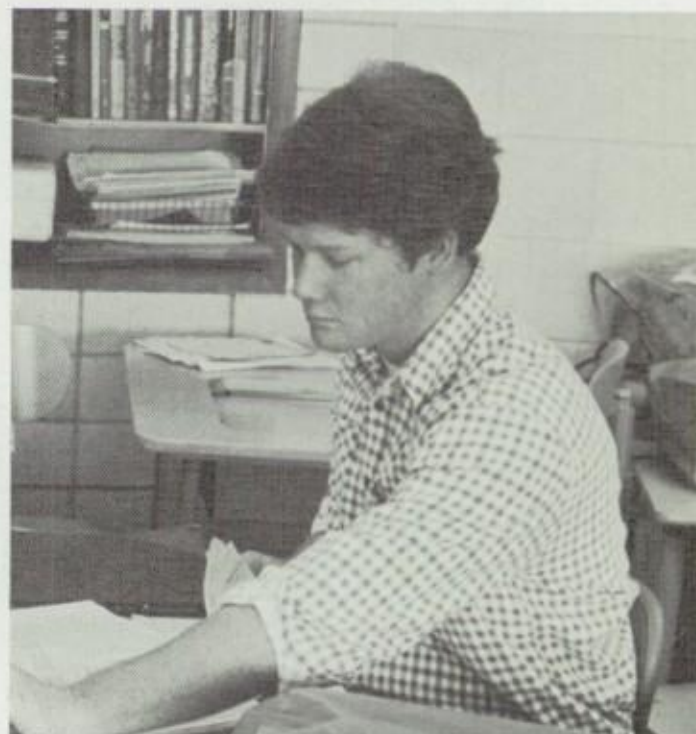

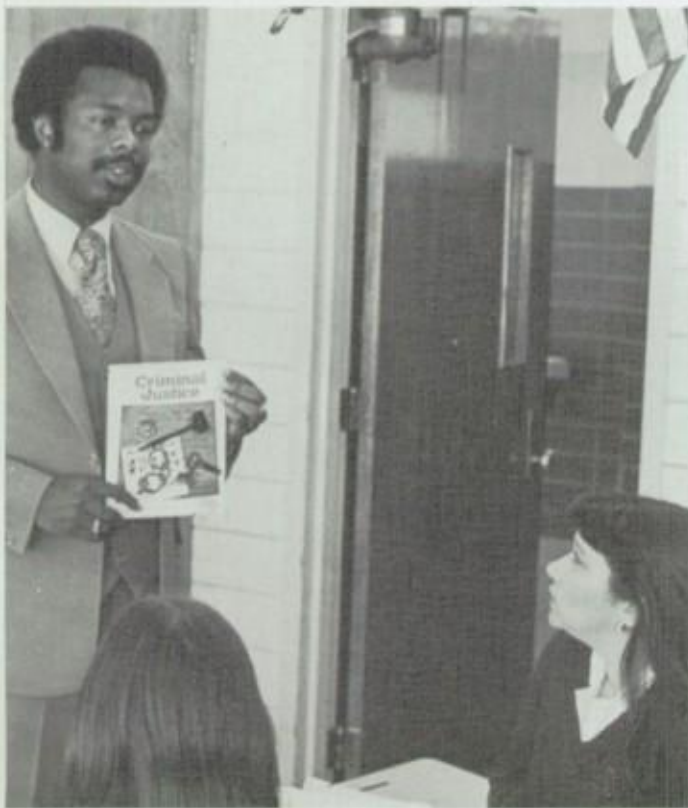

Some of us were business-inclined — really business, not monkey business.

Some of us envisioned being the private secretary for an affluent company, so we took the gamut of course offerings from beginning to advanced typing, from beginning pen scratching to professional shorthand; we took office practice as well as business machines.

Many of us settled for general business and beginning typing.

As social creatures we enjoyed learning about our predecessors in our nation as well as our state in both U.S. History and Oklahoma History.

Some of the really "socializing" courses were sociology, psychology and human relations. These were the courses we elected to take. Another was the Law and You which answered some of our questions related to the prevalent position the law has in our lives today.

Wrenda Williams studies about relationships in today's society. A lively psychology discussion keeps Trena Stewart's attention. The time is now — Reagan. The trust fall is a fun experiment in human relations, but can Lori Logan really trust Steve Fish to catch her? Chuck Darragh finds concentration difficult after a rough weekend. Eric Clark and Relda Curry discuss some problems in our world in their sociology class. Guest speaker Willie Gilchrist who is in charge of Oklahoma City Public School's security, talks to the Law and You class about criminal justice.

SOCIAL STUDIES

A few of us were designing different kinds of careers on the stage for our futures.

It was therefore only natural that we would take advantage of all the performing arts available to us.

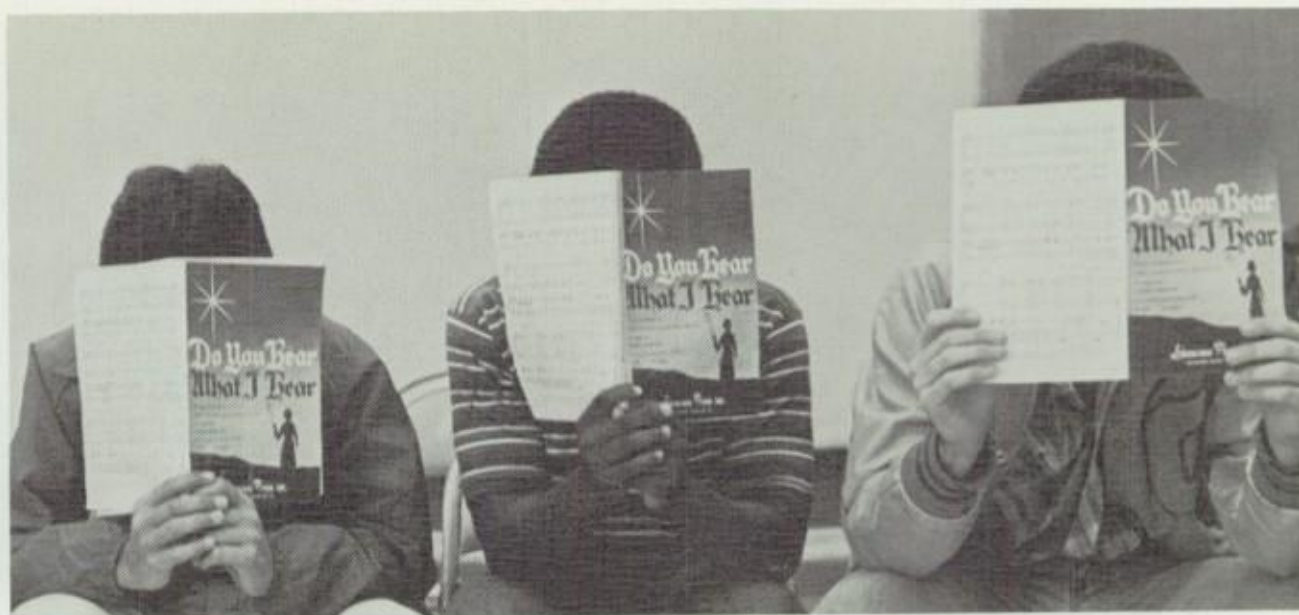

We were convinced that we were musicians.

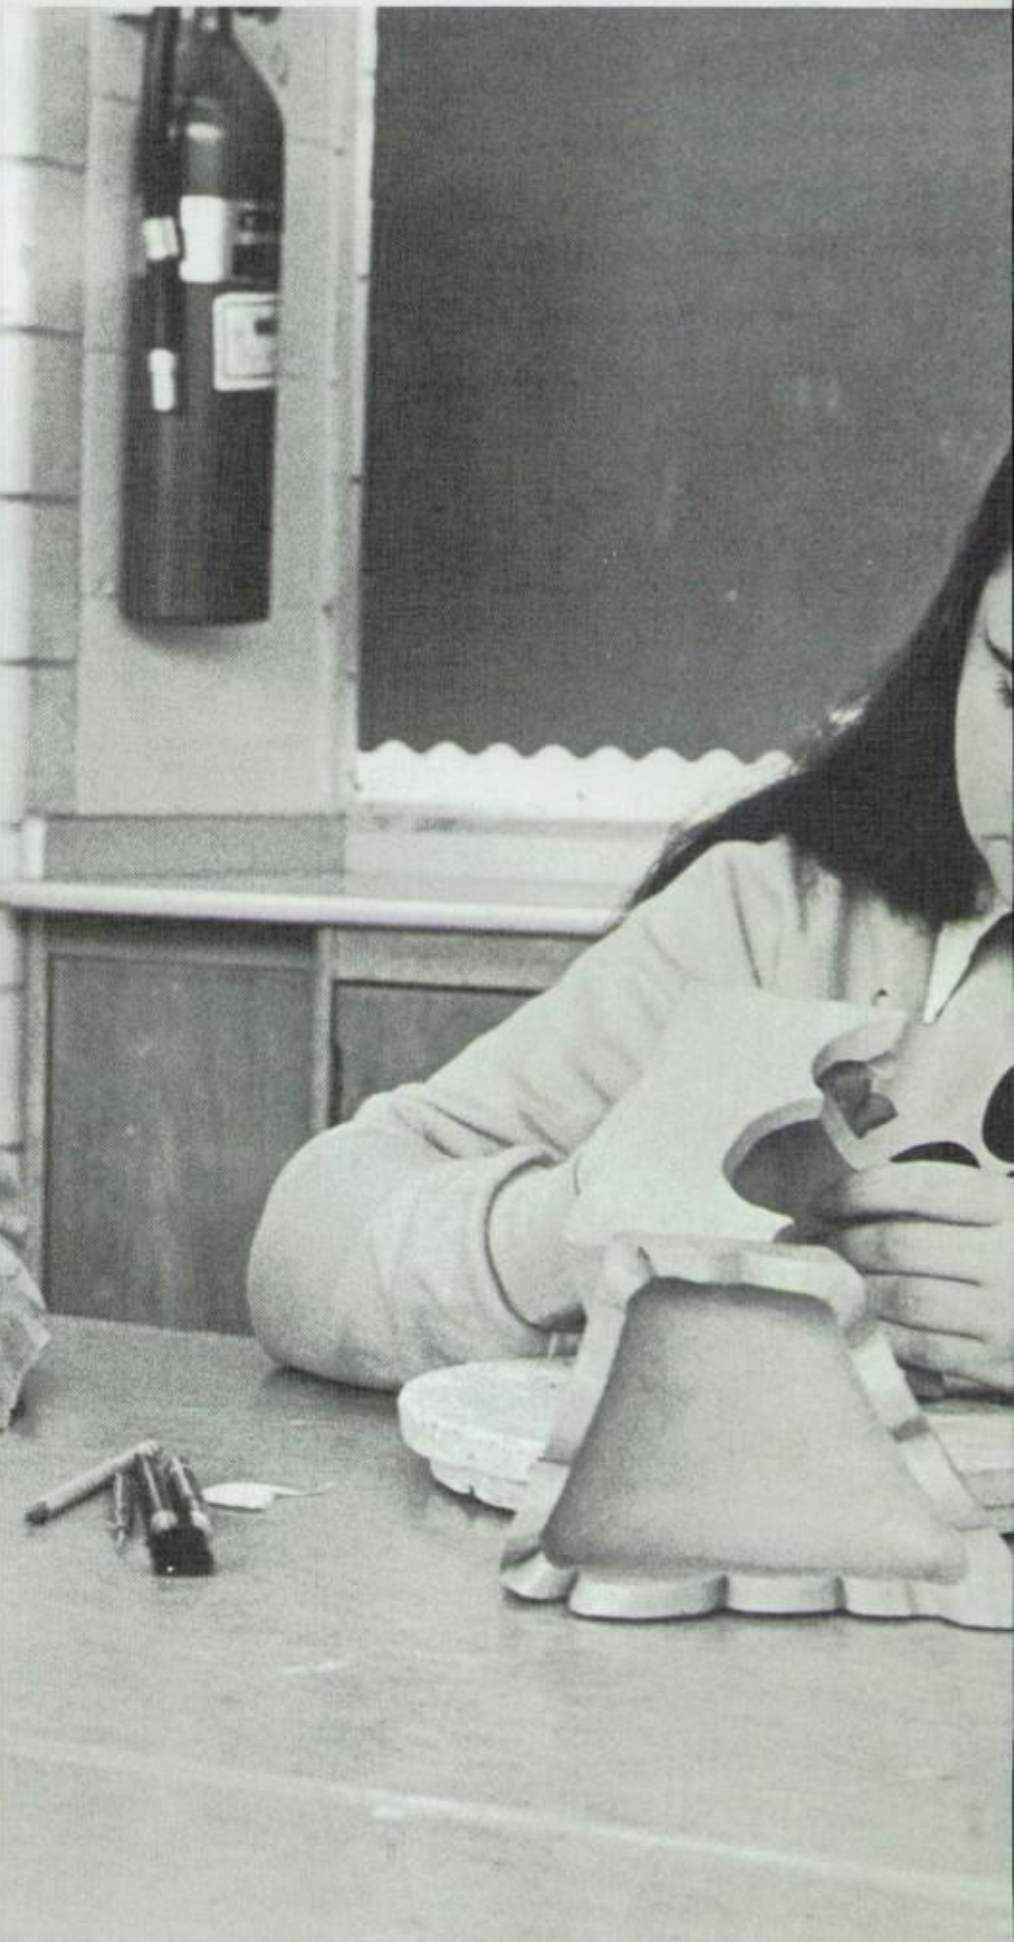

The Marching Generals perform during halftime activities. Getting in a huddle makes fine tuning easier. These choir members seem to lose themselves in their work. Kent Shingleton doesn't care too much for playing in the rain. The trumpet section tunes up for a concert. Tammy Boyanton listens on as Natalie Leimer rehearses. The concert band works to make it all sound perfect. Lauri Jefferson leads the choir during practice.

Music

ART

More and more society began to realize the importance of the "finer things of life." Many of us took fundamental art. Interest in jewelry, crafts, and ceramics was on the increase, as more and more of us enrolled in these classes.

Another enticing aspect of art classes was money. Many of us learned that we could make money by "expressing our talents."

Terri Adams and Paul Puckett show that three heads are better than one, as they model an art project. David Adcock and Frank San Antonio work in jewelry class. Working with steady fingers is Karen Meler. Rachel Sosa works to finish her masterpiece. Erin Dixon enjoys his art class. Tammie Suggs and Sherry Battaglia do fine work in ceramics. Boyd Fields dreams of being a great sculptor as he finishes his ceramics assignment.

HOME ECONOMICS

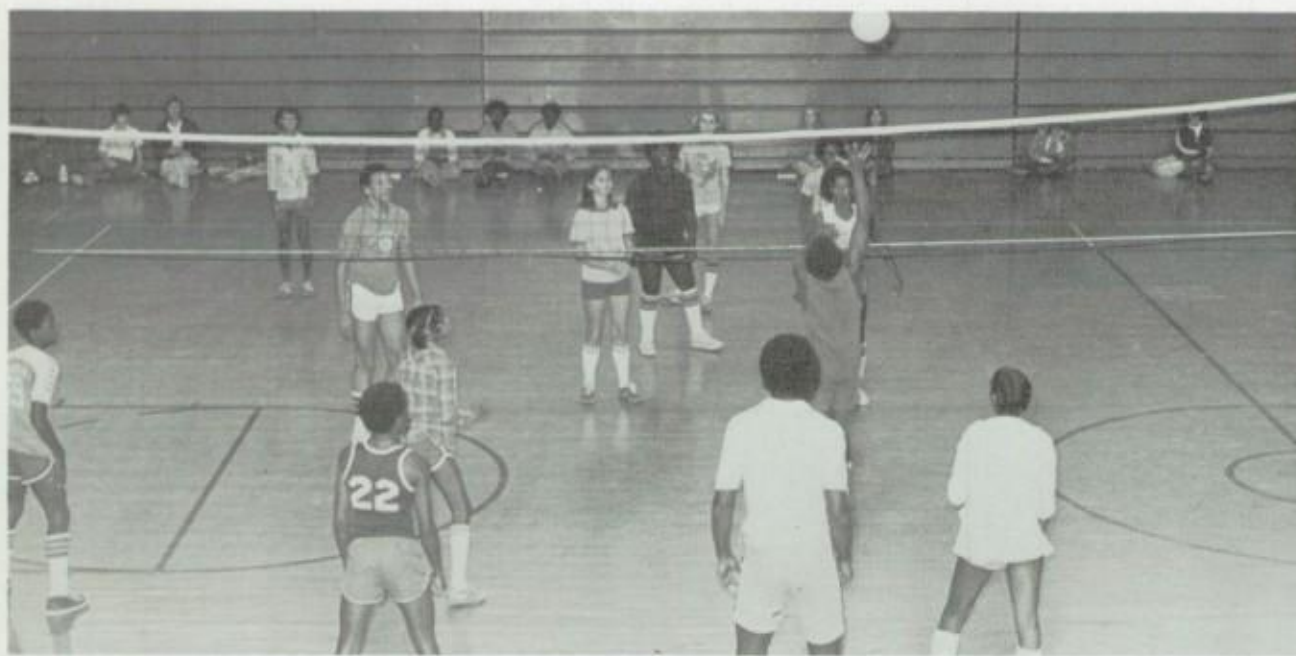

Many of us knew we were not domestic, so we didn't try to be, but some of us knew "we had it in us" to be successful in the domestic realm.

We took both foods and clothing classes which were basic, but some of us went further than that. We took family relations and child development as well as home decorating.

Many knew that the home is the center of everyone's life.

Tyra Scruggs gets her patterns ready so she can begin to sew. Michelle Capshaw and Shellie Ryan look over the recipe of the day. Regina Hayes may not be a Picasso, but Melana Hudson doesn't think she's that bad. Reggie Alfred finds that washing dishes isn't just a woman's job. Victoris McKnight watches her stitches carefully. Teresa Carson looks over her finished project. Trena Stewart and Felisha Archer don't seem to have any trouble getting Jon Stewart to eat.

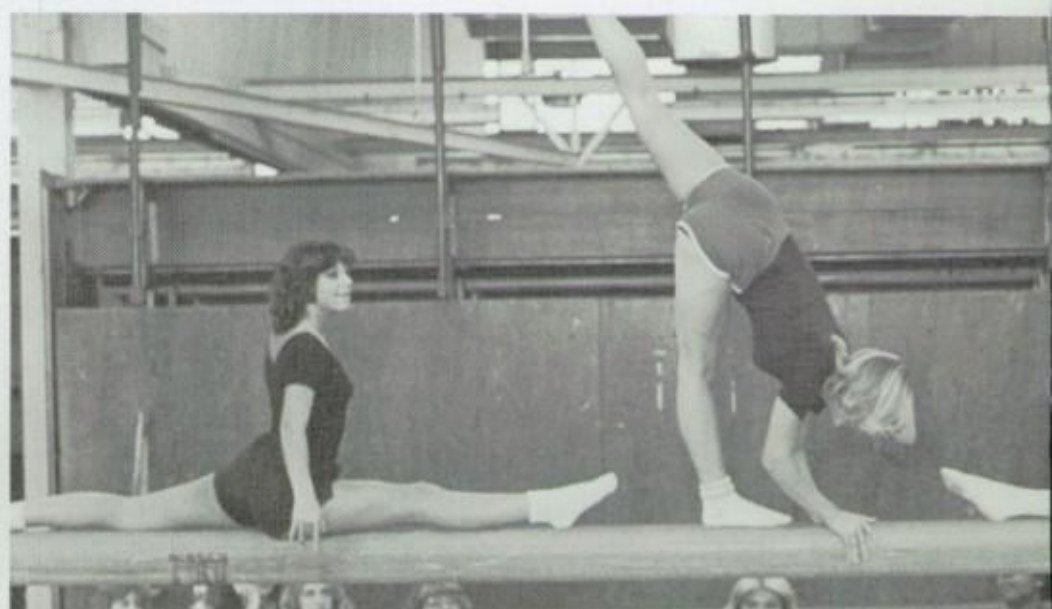

If physical education had not been required, we would have taken it because we liked it so much.

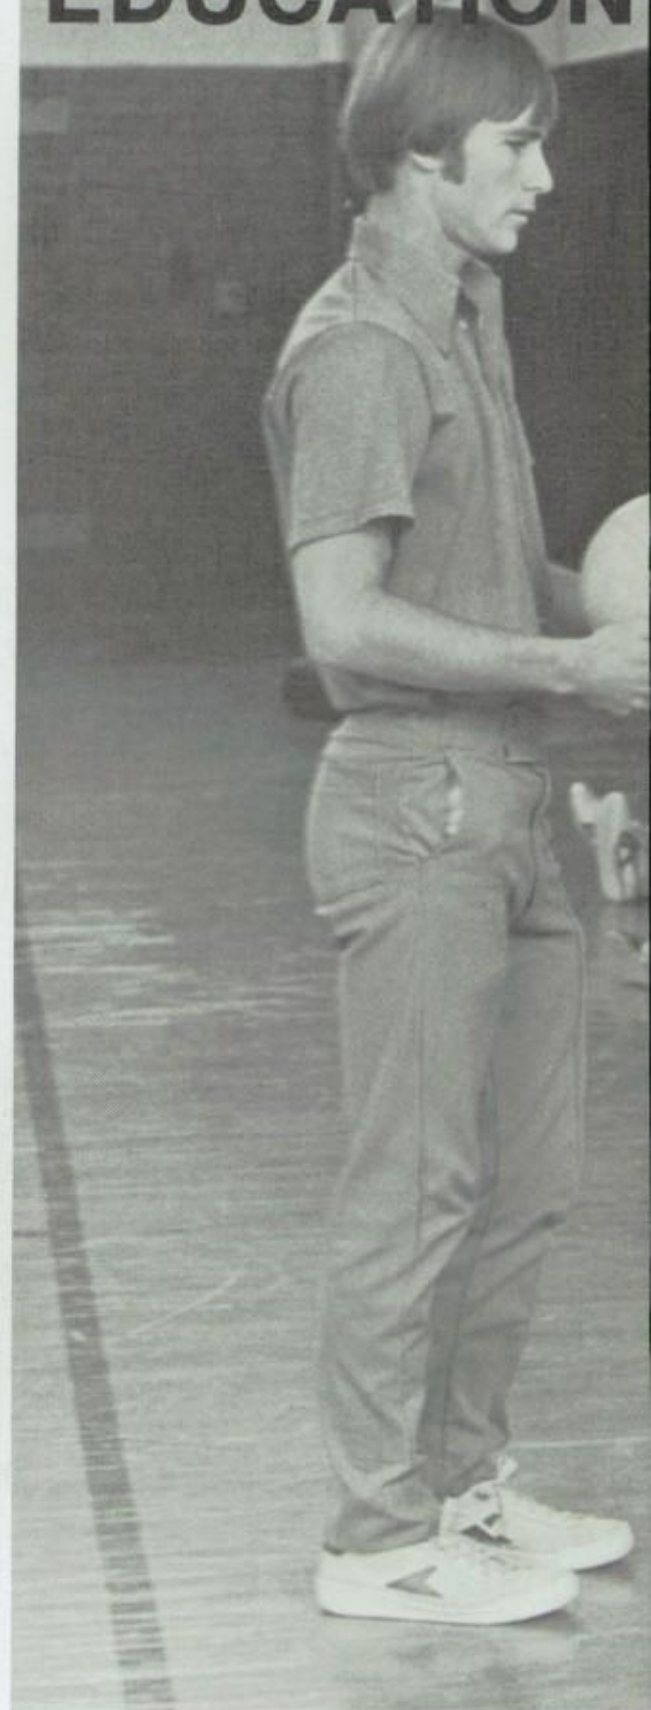

In addition to that, we were health-minded. We knew that the better we felt, the better we would do in our classes, and we knew that regular exercise did make us feel good.

Some of us did more than just the basic requirements. We went on to gymnastics or modern dance.

PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Perhaps none of our courses were more future-oriented than our vocational classes.

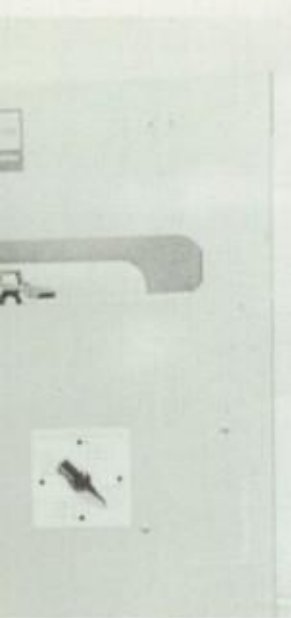

We had money on our minds. That is true. We also had self-expression on our minds, and we did achieve a great deal of self-expression in our vocational work.

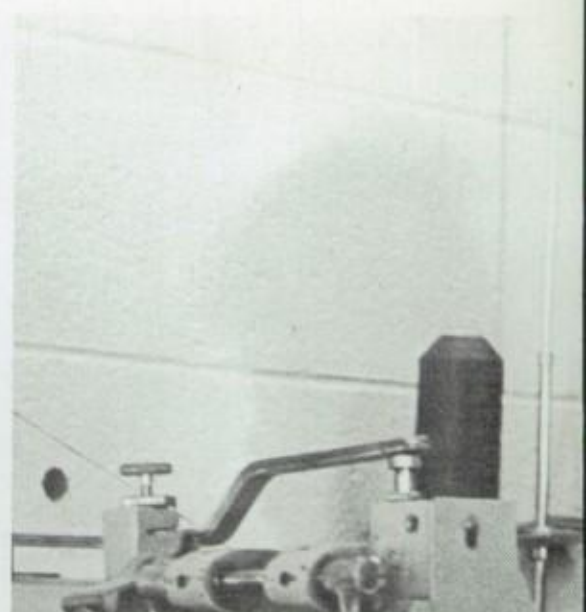

Whether we were working on a car in auto mechanics or in body repair, we were expressing ourselves. The same was true in welding, electricity, upholstery and cosmetology.

Relda Curry finds drafting to be an interesting class. Janet Keller takes many different tests before getting behind the wheel. Jerry Literall looks over his unfinished project. Getting dirty in auto mechanics doesn't bother Steve Schumm. Ben Holcomb checks for mistakes before letting this car back on the road. Gary McDaniels puts the finishing touches on his paint job. Comparing answers helps David Williamson and Pilar Chappalear in their COE class.

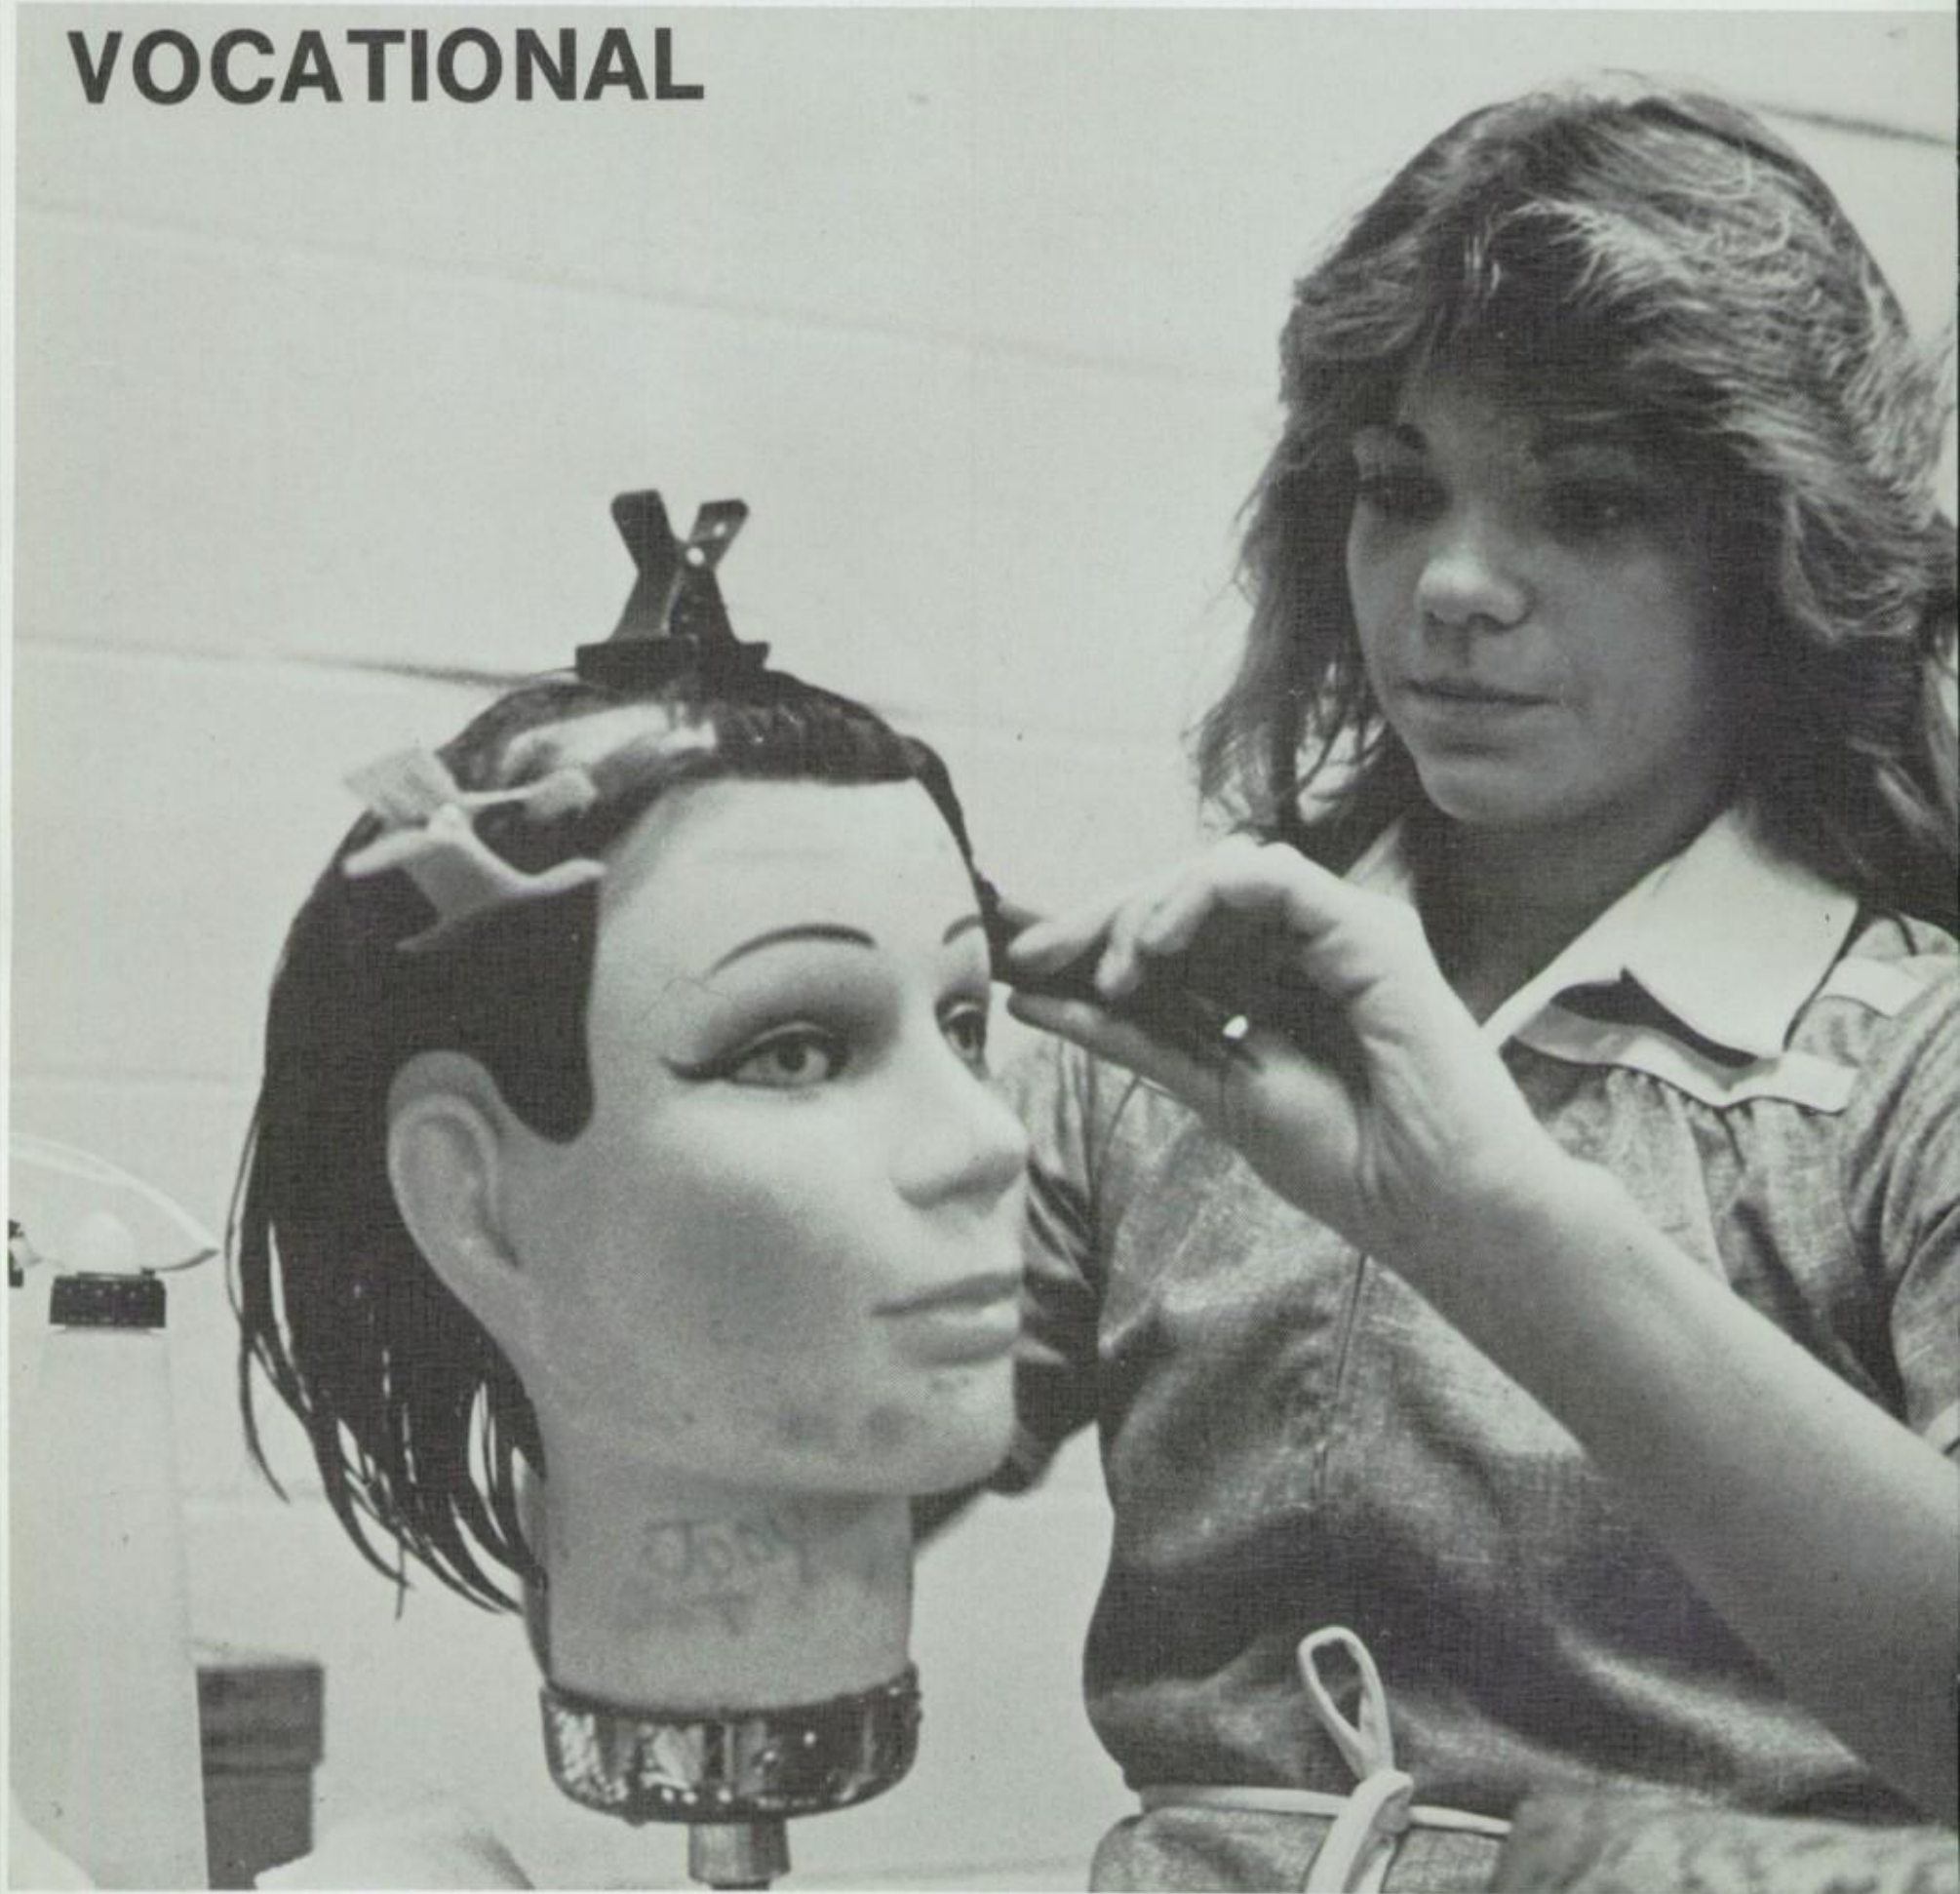

VOCATIONAL

Vocational classes were like being on a job. We liked that. We were really "on our own" for three hours.

We felt more responsible in our vocational classes than we did in our more academic classes. Perhaps this was because we knew many of us would be earning our livelihoods in these very areas next year.

Cecil Thomas re-upholsters an old chair. Wendall Hildebrandt doesn't seem too happy with Lael Lake who is cutting his hair. Sewing cushion covers is easy for Karen Frazier. Greg Gracey finds that climbing telephone poles isn't as hard as it looks. Donald Dunn watches as Steve Renshaw lets the sparks fly. Tim Bays shows Larry Wooten and Ronnie Tinkham a few basic electricity techniques. Tina Hatcher proves that girls can do anything boys can, even in welding. Dana Muno learns how to give perms.

GENERAL

We did almost everything together. We studied, we played, and we organized into our respective interest areas.

Whether we were musically inclined, artistic, studious, or just gregarious, we found a special niche where we felt we really belonged.

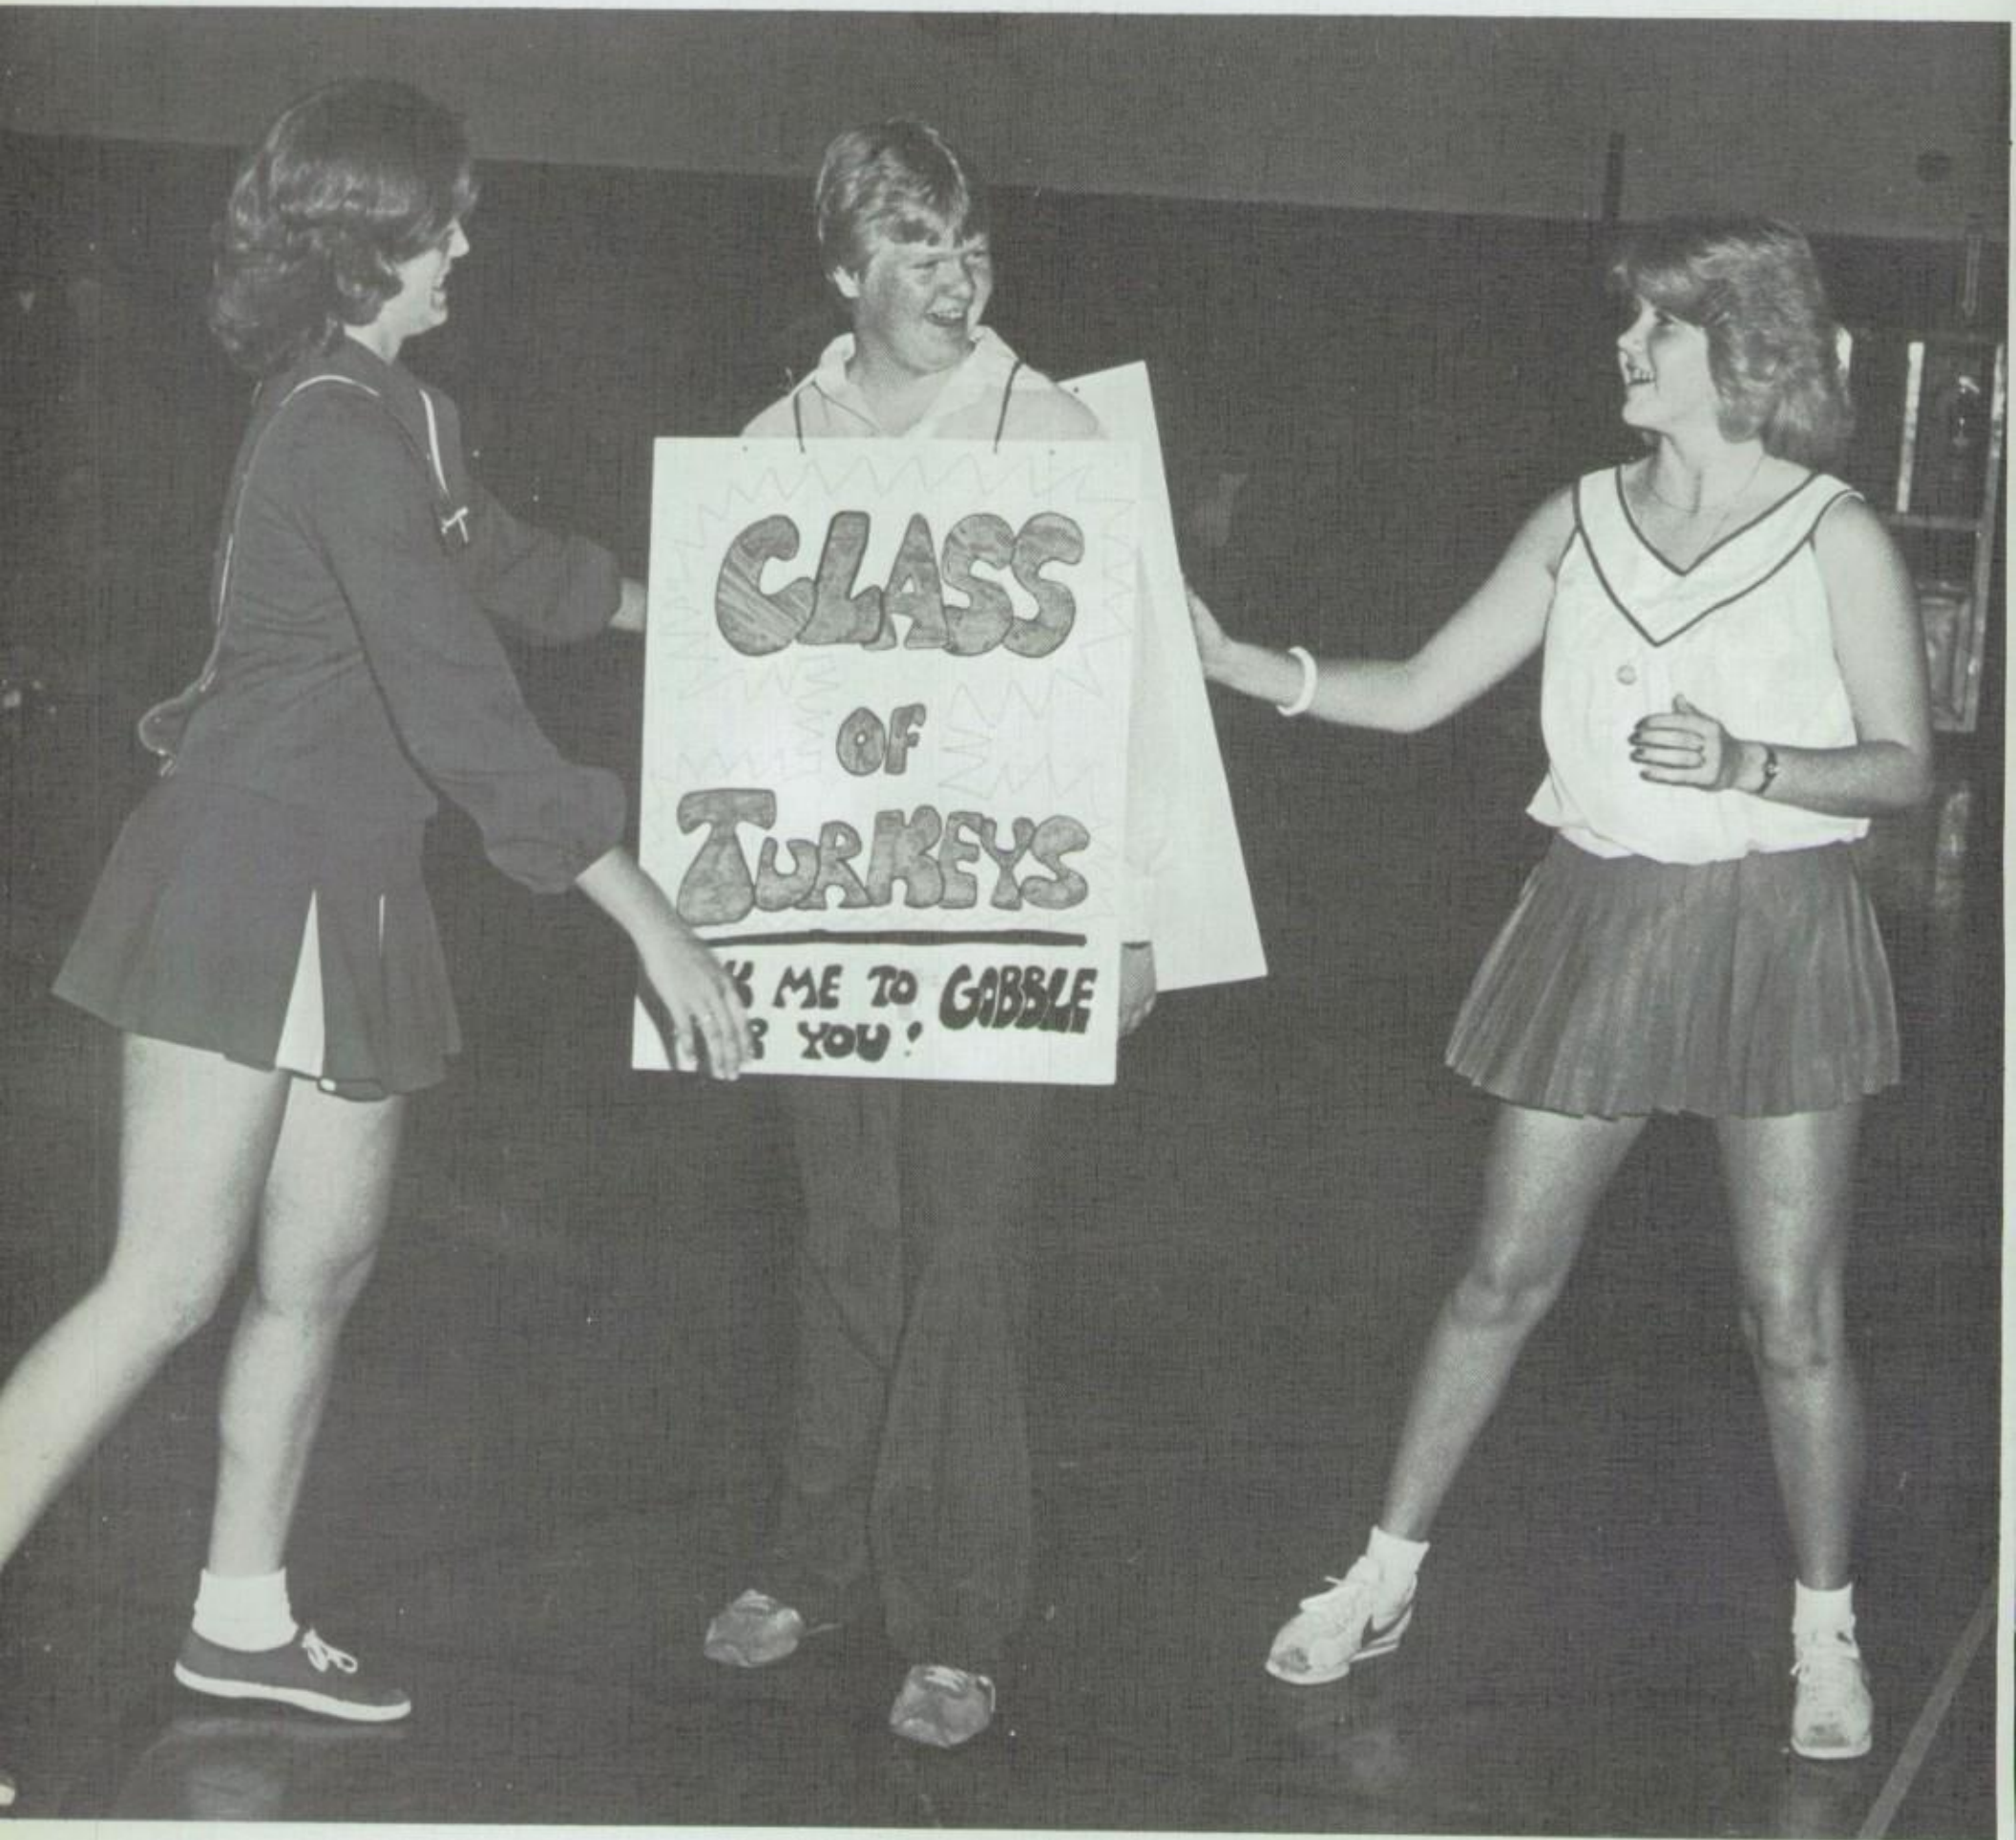

Our groups played a very important role in our lives as we grew toward maturity and fulfillment Generally Together.

LY TOGETHER ORGANIZATIONS

STUDENT COUNCIL

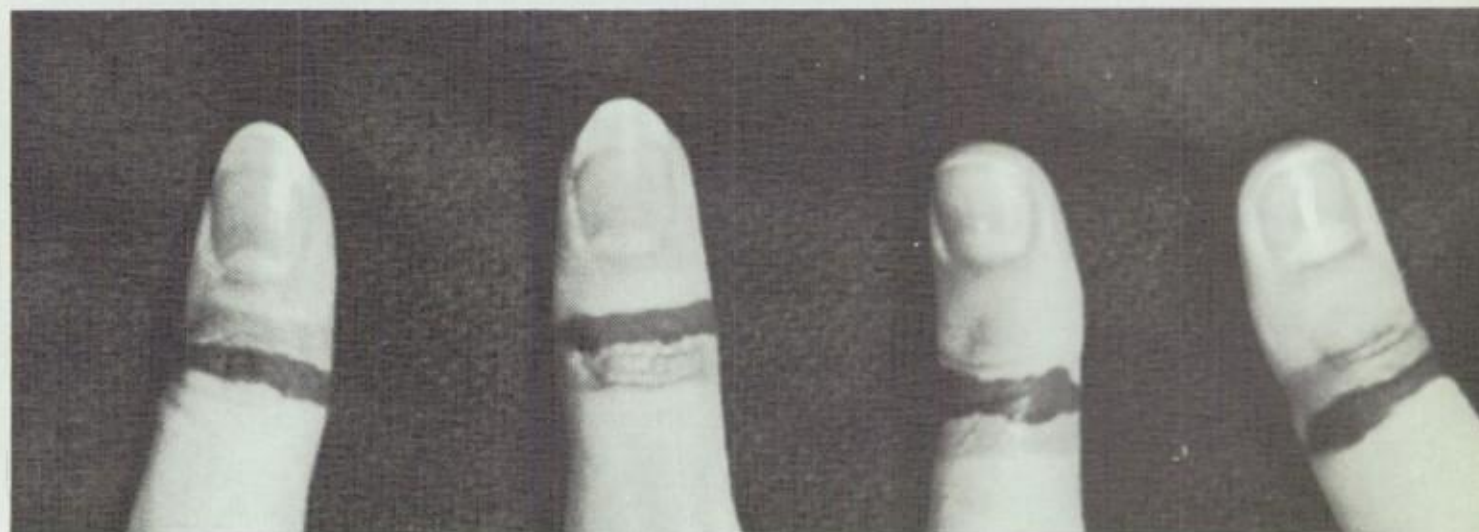

With the addition of a Student Council/Leadership class, the Student Council was able to accomplish more than ever before.

The council planned many service projects to help the needy, including a Thanksgiving food drive and a Christmas party for a local elementary school.

Andy Alvarado and Linda Newton show their friendly spirit to Jimmy Mundt and Shannon Davis during Howdy Week. Student Council. Front Row: K. Howard, president; J. Logan, vice president; K. Mr. Guy Smith tells his students to "fork it over." Putting finishing touches on the door decoration is Jana Gooding. Joey Lloyd accepts the uncoveted award for the freshman class.

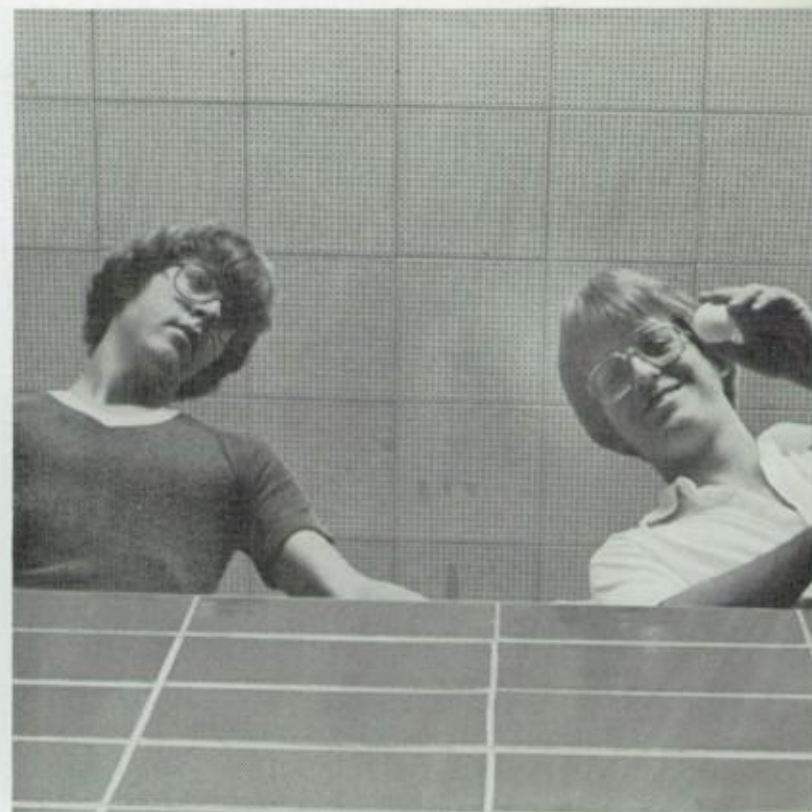

The National Honor Society gained a new sponsor, Mr. Gary Watson, who helped the other sponsors guide the group in many service projects, which included Thanksgiving and Christmas projects, candy sales, car washes, and, as usual an initiation for new members.

The Speech Club, sponsored by Mr. Guy Smith, was busy going to many tournaments this year. They also attended a regional tournament and will attend a summer debate camp.

In addition to presenting two school plays, competing at tournaments, the Thespians sold personalized buttons to raise funds.

During Halloween, the Clown Troupe collected money for UNICEF at the new Quail Spring shopping mall.

SPEECH, DRAMA, CLOWNS

HUMAN RELATIONS, SAC

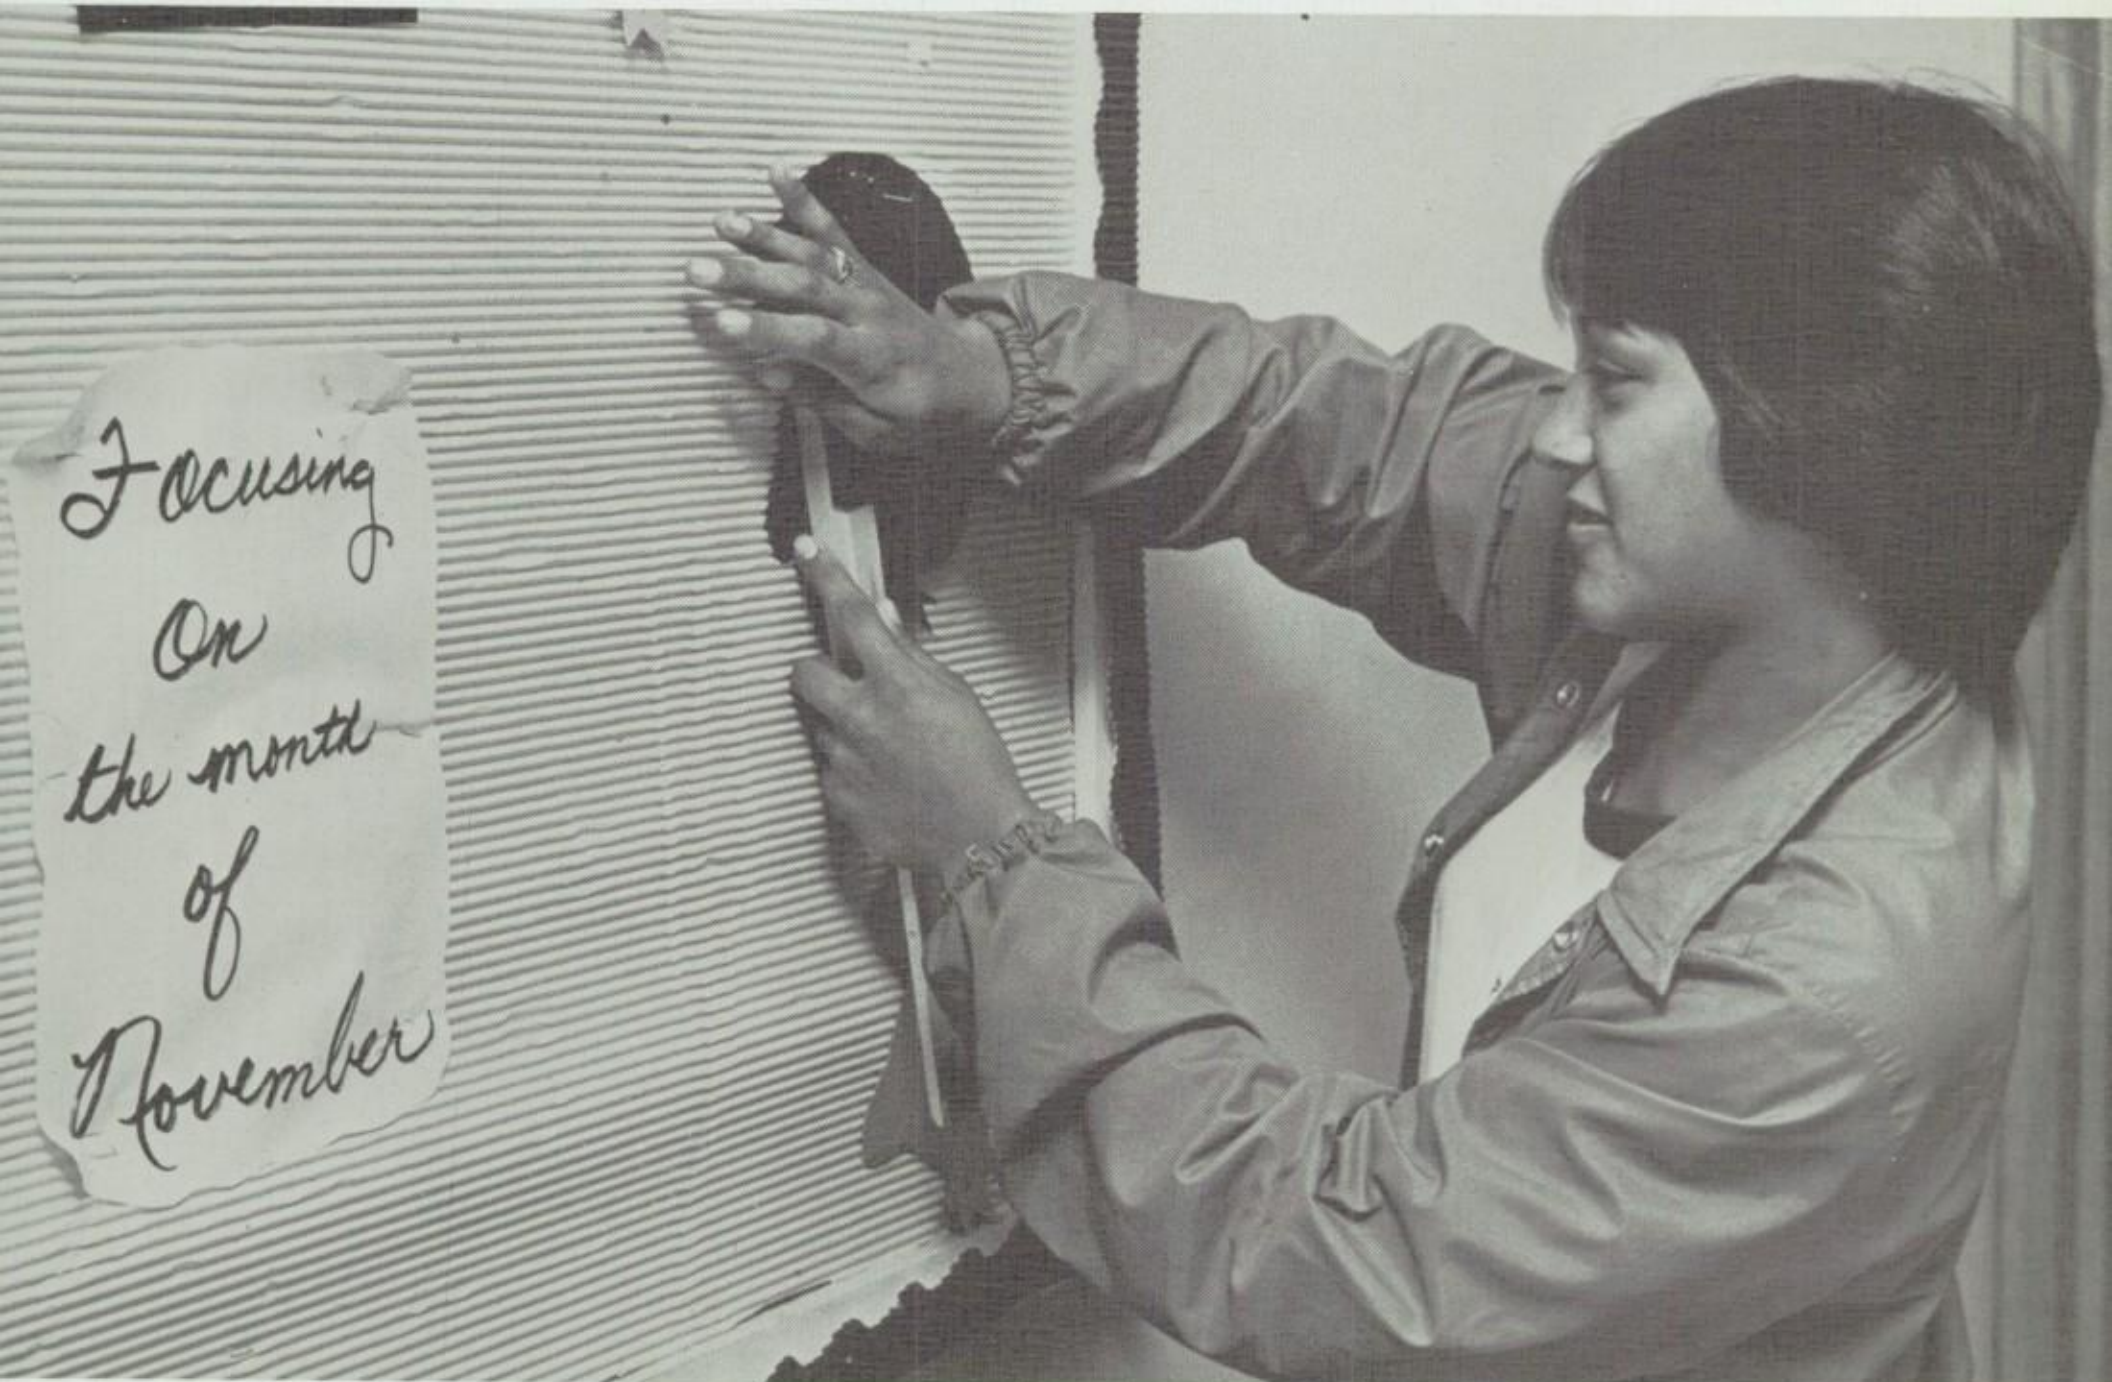

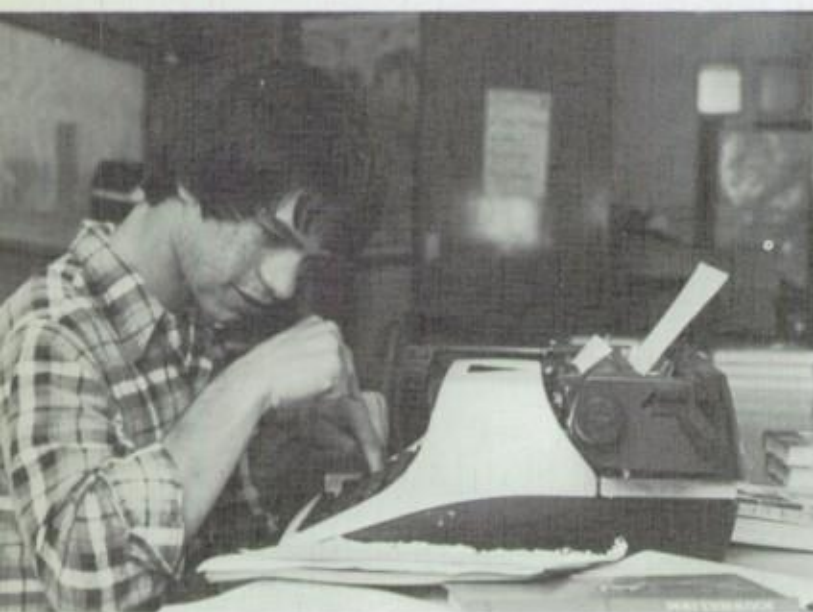

The Student Advisory Committee and the Human Relations Club focused on involvement and communications.

In addition to the teacher dress-up contest, the Human Relations Club planned a workshop and a skating party with the Northwest Classen club as well as activities such as bowling, horseback riding, and a hay ride.

The SAC's main function was to create harmony in the student body by getting students involved in school activities. Members acted as buddies to students who had adjustment problems. The SAC also sponsored the Multi Cultural Week in February.

GRANT DISPATCH

With papers coming out on the second Thursday of every month, the members of the Grant Dispatch had to keep busy to meet the constant pressure of deadlines.

Because of rising printing costs, the staff held various fund raisers to supplement revenue from yearbook sales and advertisements.

... and they were supposed to be taking pictures. Jill Chody can't seem to concentrate on anything except Shane Boyd. Duana Logan couldn't seem to take all the pressure of deadline. Steve Petty just doesn't know what to do with his layouts and pictures. Thinking they know everything, Frank Corey and James Eaton try to show Lisa Baugus, Vicki Troup, Eydie Peck, and Rhonda Sackett how to plan their layouts. Freddy Salazar helps Shane Boyd put the flash on the camera. A not-too-frequent sight ... the entire staff together. Alice Hebert and Jenice Tapp argue over who gets the picture for her section. RADIO-TV, SAFETY-RED CROSS

Although different in nature, both the Safety-Red Cross group and the Radio-TV group had several activities and responsibilities during the year.

Under the supervision of Mr. John Savage, the safety conscience members of Safety-Red Cross concentrated on preparation for driving contests which they invariably won and conducted a mock emergency to practice first aid methods.

Under the supervision of Mr. Guy Smith, the Radio-TV students assumed responsibility for announcing some sports events and keeping statistics thereof. With their new newscasting set they were able to make news presentation appear authentic. In addition, they began the project of constructing their own control room.

Jackie Hayes doesn't have the heart to tell Kenny Lehman that he's doing it wrong. Forrest Pollock busily works in the control room. Karolyn Armstrong practices CPR on Matt Griffith. Steve Petty practices an interview with John Fielder for the Radio-TV class. Jay Hanlan buckles up before moving the car. DRILL TEAM, MAJORETTES, FLAG CORPS

Honors were prevalent among the girls on the drill team, flag corps, and majorettes this year.

Kim Boatwright was named El Paso Queen last fall; Candi Noble and Dorothy Walton were runners up for the honor. Candidates for drill team queen were Kathy Lindsey, captain; Candi Noble, Sheri Waldrop, Dorothy Walton, and Kim Boatwright. Susan Clark was the head majorette and Laura Medley was named band queen.

All three groups prepared a joint show routine to "Espanial."

GENERAL

We had the very individual aspects of our lives, and we had the very public aspects of our lives. We seemed to be rather dichotomous creatures.

Regardless of our particularities or peculiarities, we skirted the issues often when we didn't know what to do; regardless of our doubts and fears, our hesitations and inhibitions, in spite of ourselves, we found ourselves to be Generally Involved.

LY INVOLVED SCHOOL LIFE

FOOLIN' AROUND

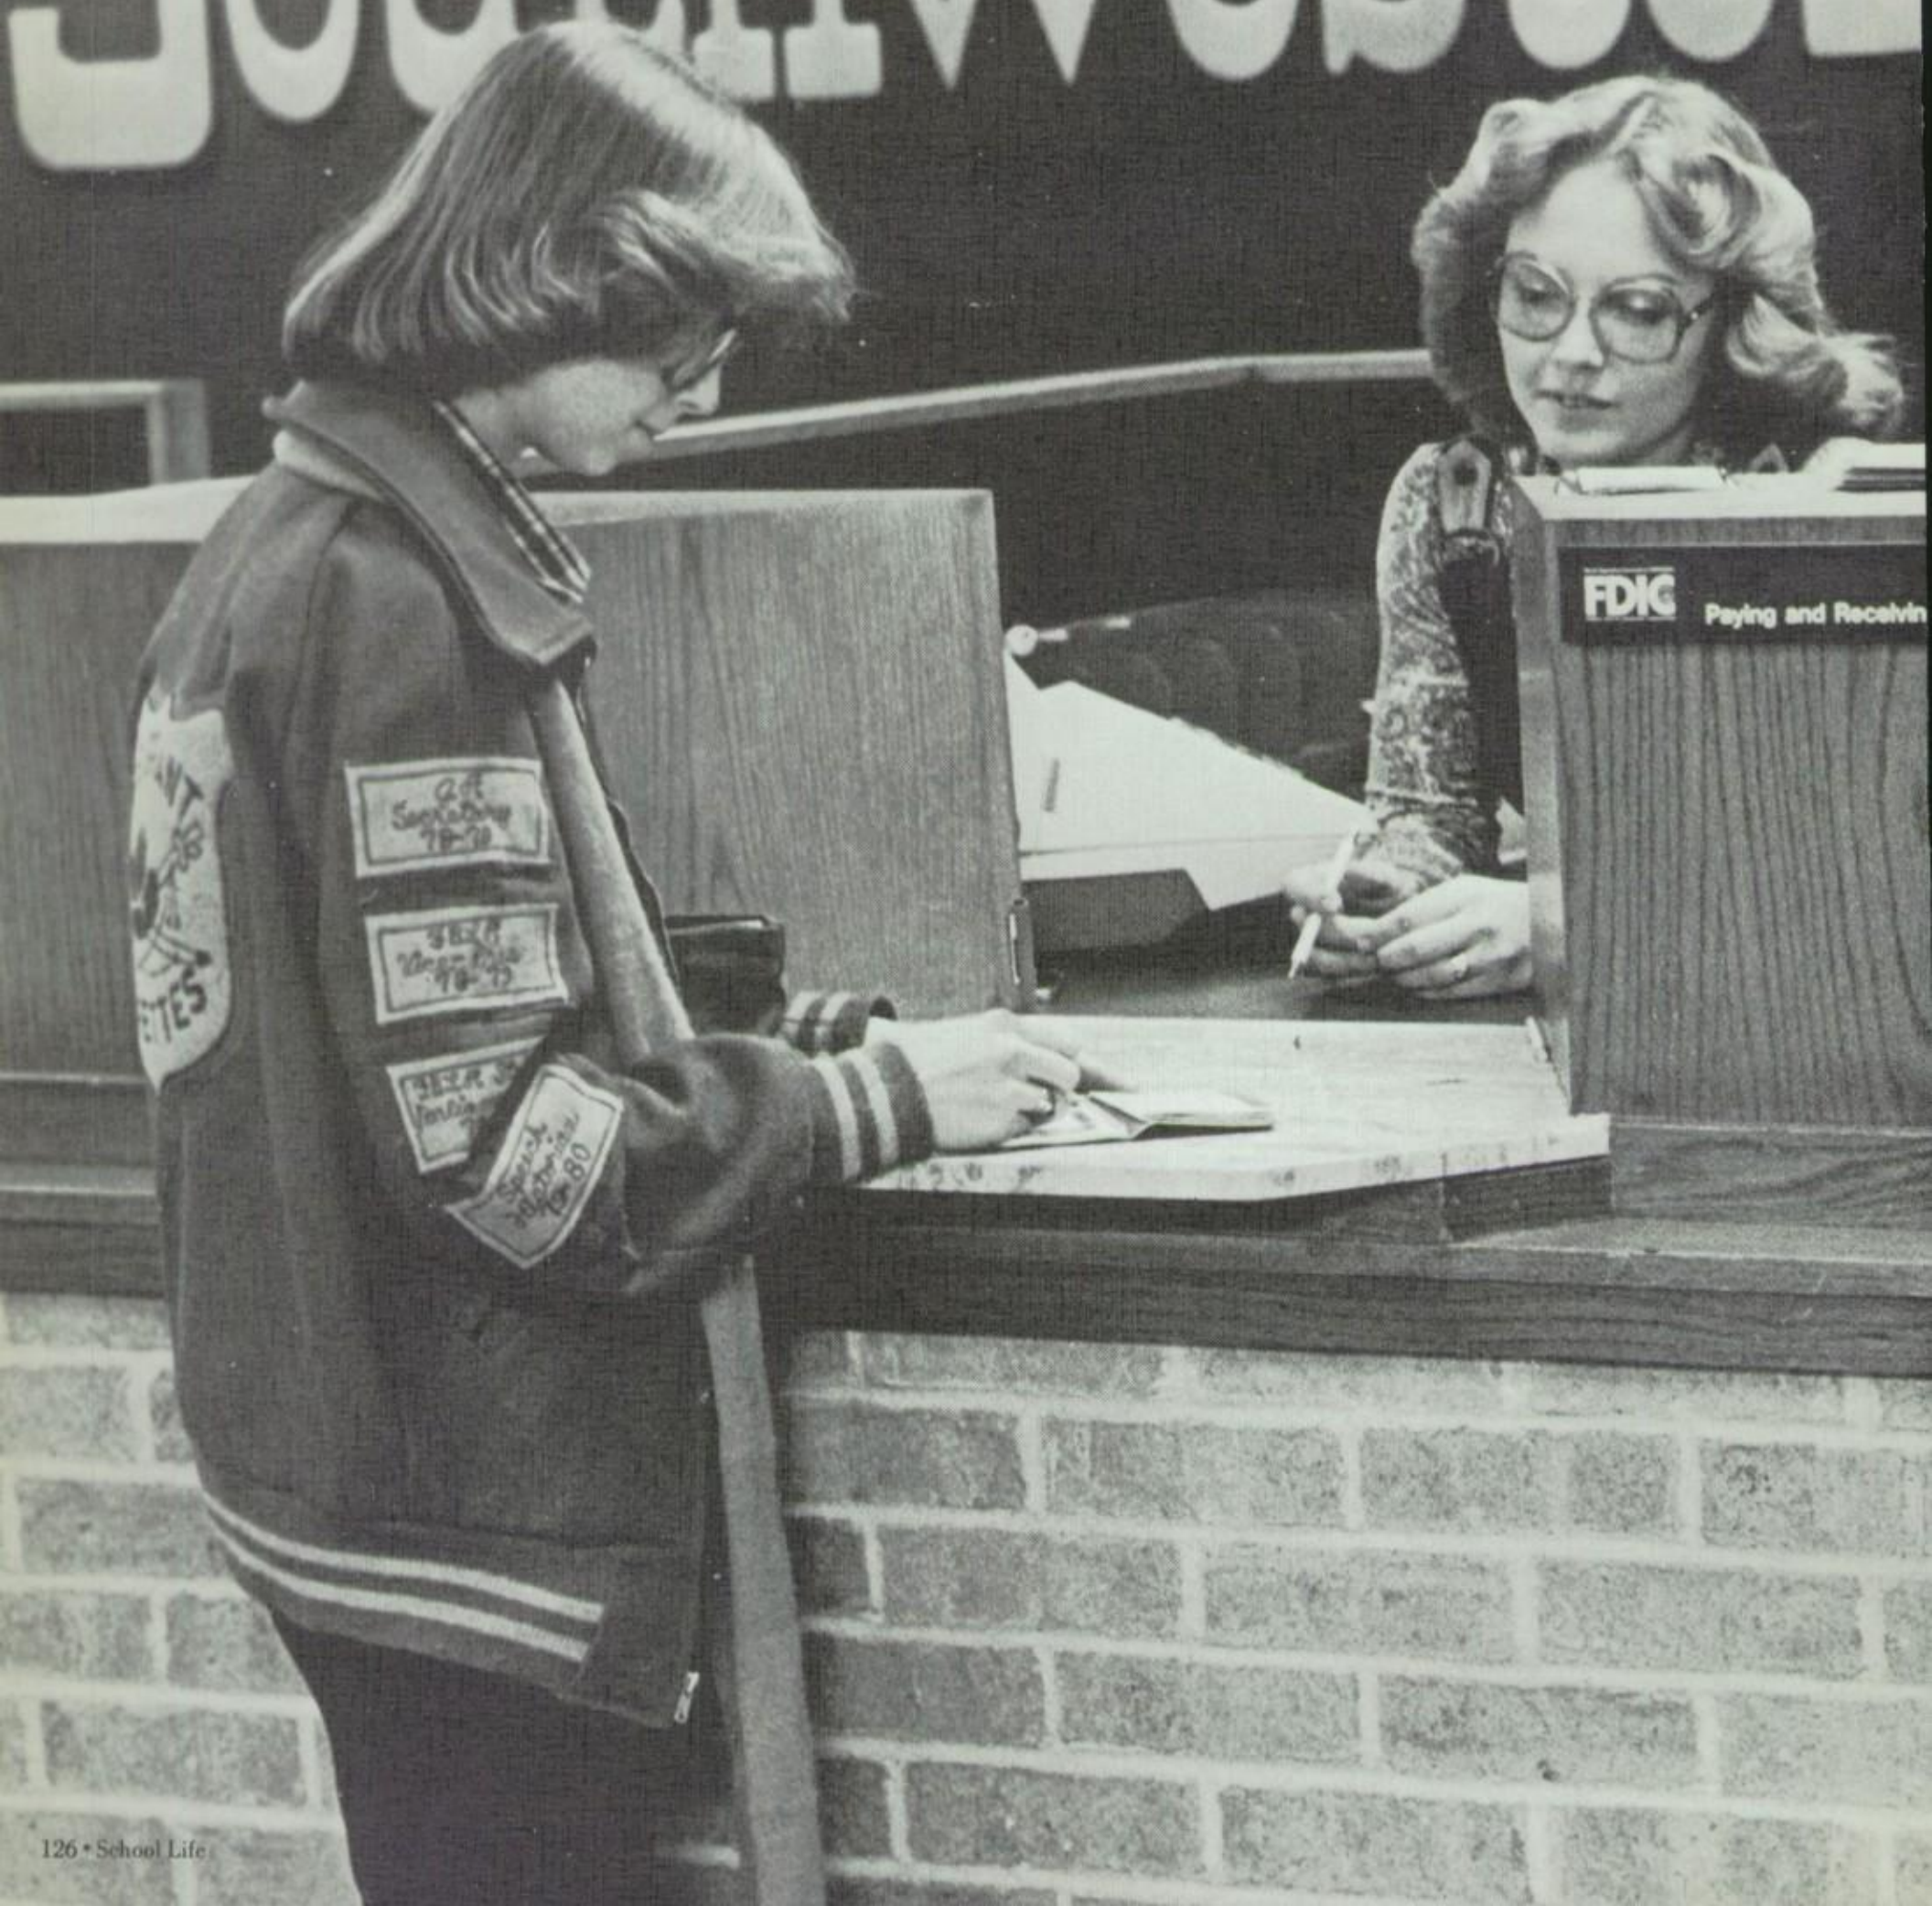

Our years of high school are probably the best years of our lives. We don't worry about many things, but we just try to have a good time. We enjoy the company of our friends and we enjoy the crazy things that everyone does. We are FOO-LIN' AROUND.

Behind the scenes — What really happens? Mark Ryan, George Perakis, Jay Cox, Jim Mundt, and Joe Shepherd say, "Just about anything!" Brett Graham says, "I just enjoy it all!" Ronnie West finds that land sailing is a very relaxing way to spend the afternoon. Kelly Quinlan tells Santa what she really wants for Christmas.

Southwester

Everything is new and exciting to us. We love to go places and have fun, but we also have our responsibilities. We often have to work hard for what we want, but the feeling of accomplishment makes it all worthwhile. After all, pretty soon almost everything comes down to MONEY.

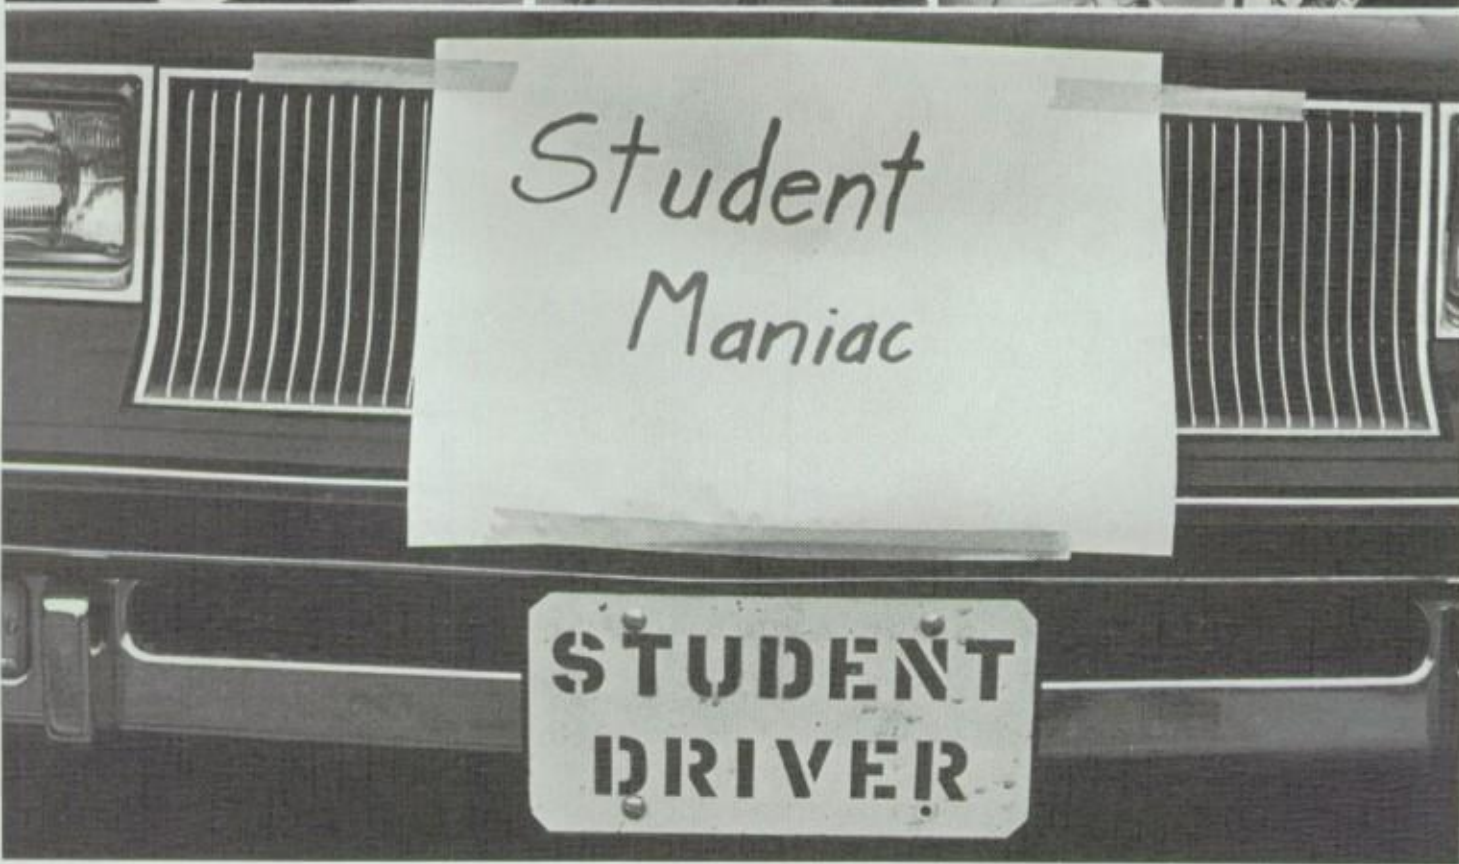

Fonda Chipman hopes that she has enough money in the bank to cover this check. Darrin Clark says that it's not so hard to be a safe-cracker — as long as you don't get caught! Prince Robertson is determined to get his candy this time. Who hasn't seen this familiar sight?

In our years of high school, there is always a little madness. We enjoy life with our friends, do crazy things, and love every minute of it. We call it DIVINE MADNESS.

A favorite pastime of students seems to be graffiti. Marsha Maxwell, Tonya Allen, Susie Lambeth, and Tammy Boyanton wonder what exactly these guys have in mind. Someone seems to have a different opinion of student drivers. 1-2-3 Stephanie Shipley gets caught in the act.

ELECTION '80

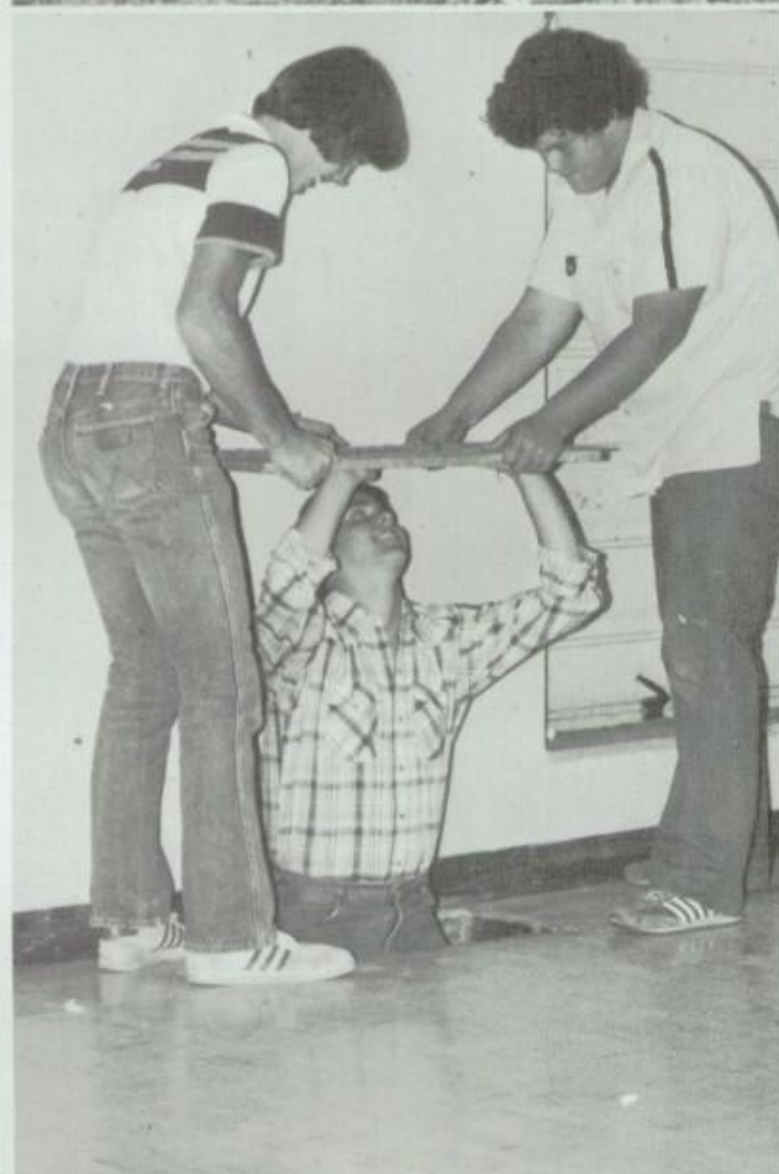

There comes a time in our lives when we have to start to take on responsibilities. One of the biggest responsibilities that we have is deciding upon the leaders of our country. We have to closely examine each candidate and his opinions to decide which one will help our country the most. This isn't always an easy thing to do, but it's a big part of ELECTION '80

Gene Pollock explains the issues in the presidential debate. Mrs. Cindy Foote sorts the votes in the mock election. Rena Blancett registers Joe Osborn to vote. Scott Darnold examines the results of the presidential election.

GETTING CAUGHT

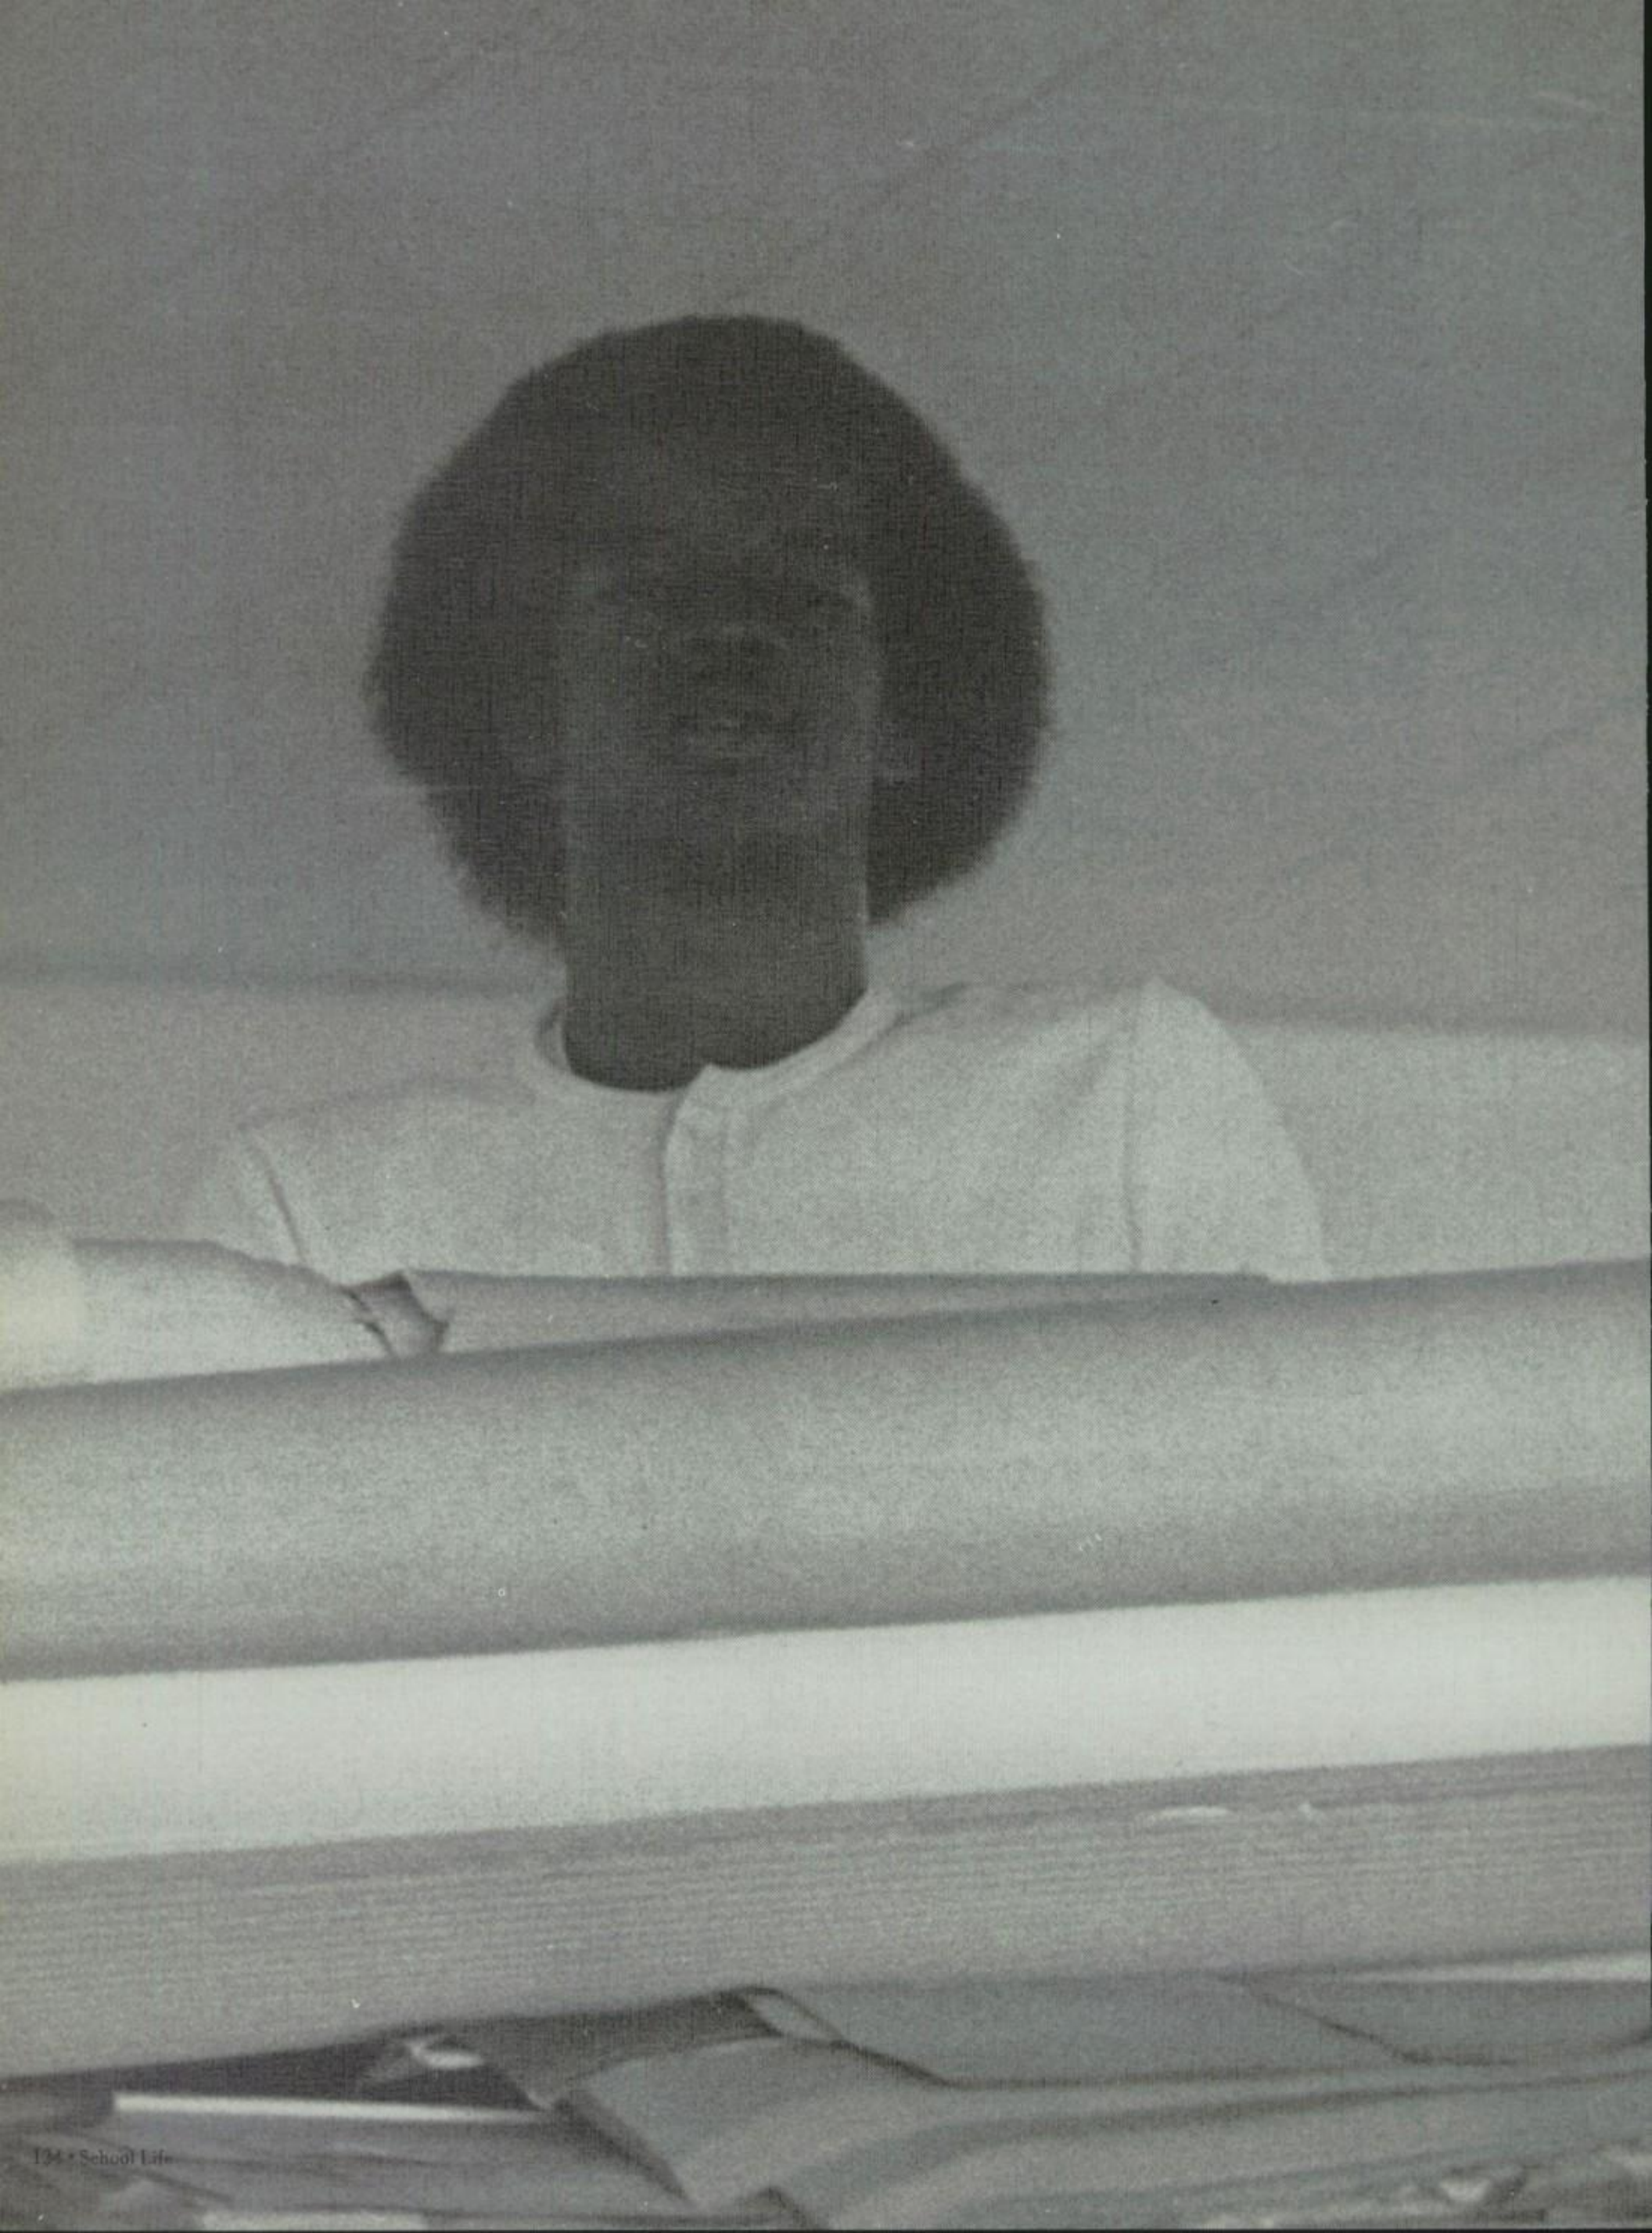

We do many things in high school, but the most common probably is doing things that we're not supposed to. We have fun and we bug the faculty. We do these things only to see if we can get away with them, so we are usually GETTING CAUGHT.

Tammy Boyanton cheers as Angie Moody tags Cindy Wootton. Brian Echelle and Scott Verdicchio know that they've been caught. Russell Browning doesn't know what lies behind him. Kent Shingleton really gets the treatment as Jamie Wilson and Mike Owens decide to put him in his place.

EVERY WHICH WAY BUT LOOSE

We do many things in school, but it isn't all work. There are many activities that are a lot of fun. We all love to act crazy and to joke around. There are wonderful times when we just sit back and enjoy life, but there are also many times that are hectic and we don't know what's going to happen next. In these times we usually are EVERY WHICH WAY BUT LOOSE.

In our lives, we have many dreams. We imagine all sorts of things. In our dreams, we can be anything we want to be. There are a few dreams that come true. These wonderful moments are ADVENTURES IN PARADISE.

Mary Garcia and Linda Cooper participate in the Homecoming activities. Sue Clay gives a hand to the crown bearer and the flower girl. Linda Cooper gets prepared for the General and His Lady royalty program. Karen Curtis and Diane Foley rest after a long and exhausting day. Kenny Lehman displays the flag for the Homecoming parade. Burl Wooten reveals a hidden talent for music. Paul Wood, Linda Cooper, and Diane Foley pig out at Chi-Chi's. "It's all in the bag," Keith Dickson tells Cory Conallis, David Williamson, and Tom Ebert.

ADVENTURES IN PARADISE

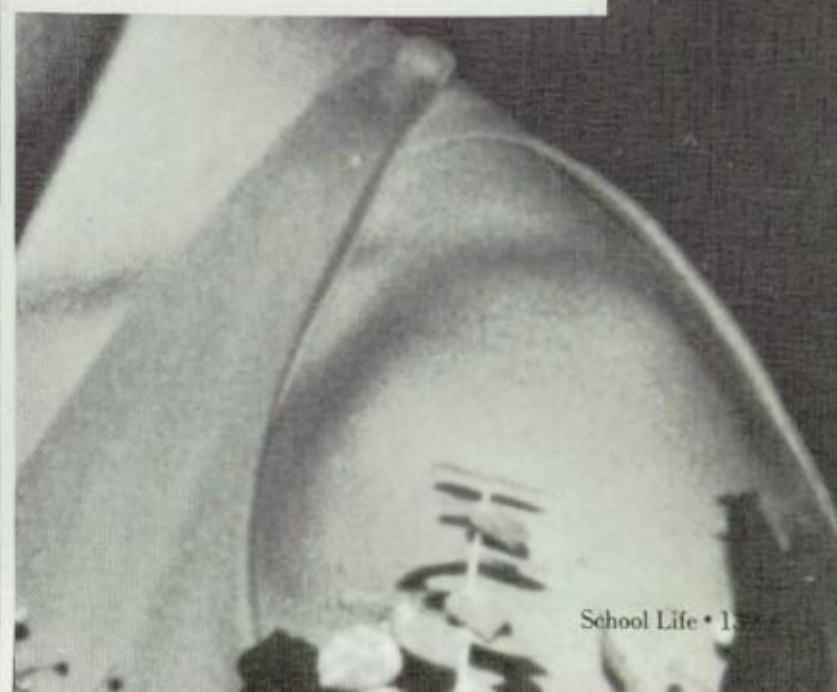

ORDINARY PEOPLE

Homecoming is a special time for all of us. The expectation of watching the candidates is almost overwhelming. The candidates seem far away and very special, but, after all, we are all just ORDINARY PEOPLE.

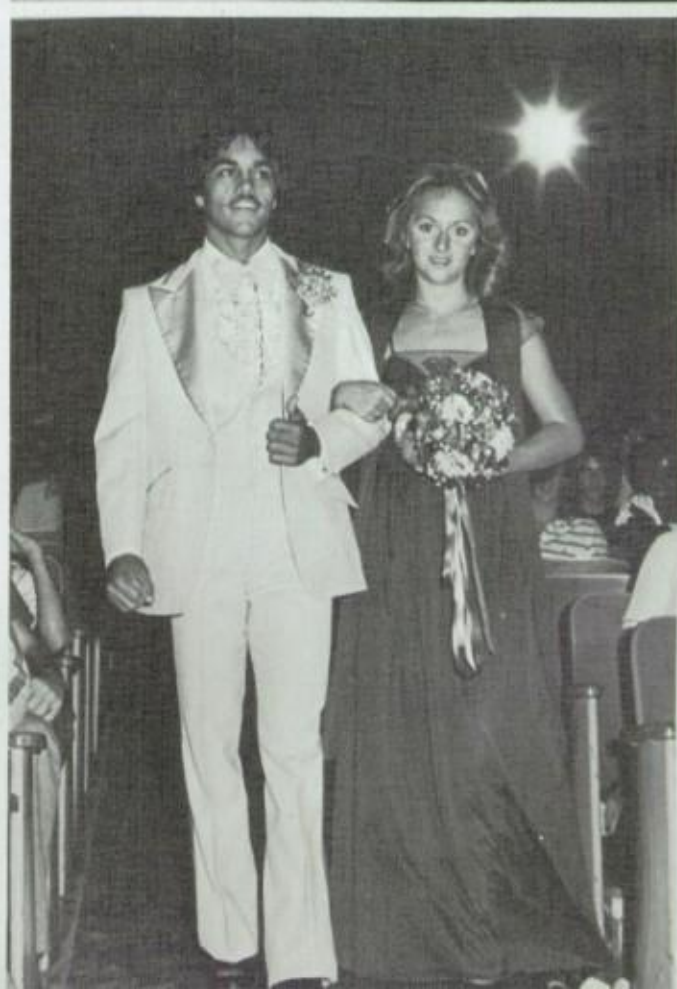

The Homecoming candidates stand together after the halftime activities. Royalty candidates are Brett Stokes and Betty Childers; Jeff Baugus and Gina Pipes; Hank Reaves and Shelly Yost; Tom Ebert and Melinda Holden; Terry Allen and Shelly Slater; Walter Lee and Berlinda Whatley. Tom Ebert crowns Melinda Holden Homecoming Queen for 1980.

It takes much hard work and preparation for everyone, but the annual crowning of the General and His Lady finally takes place. This is one of the moost important events of the year and a very special time. We all say that it is TIMES LIKE THESE that make school special.

Royalty candidates for General and His Lady included Cory Conallis and Laura Medley; Diane Foley and Jeff Baugus; Linda Cooper and Keith Dickson; Tom Ebert and Karen Curtis; Paul Wood and Sue Clay. Crowned as General and His Lady were Jeff Baugus and Diane Foley. The General and His Lady gather with the royalty court after a long program.

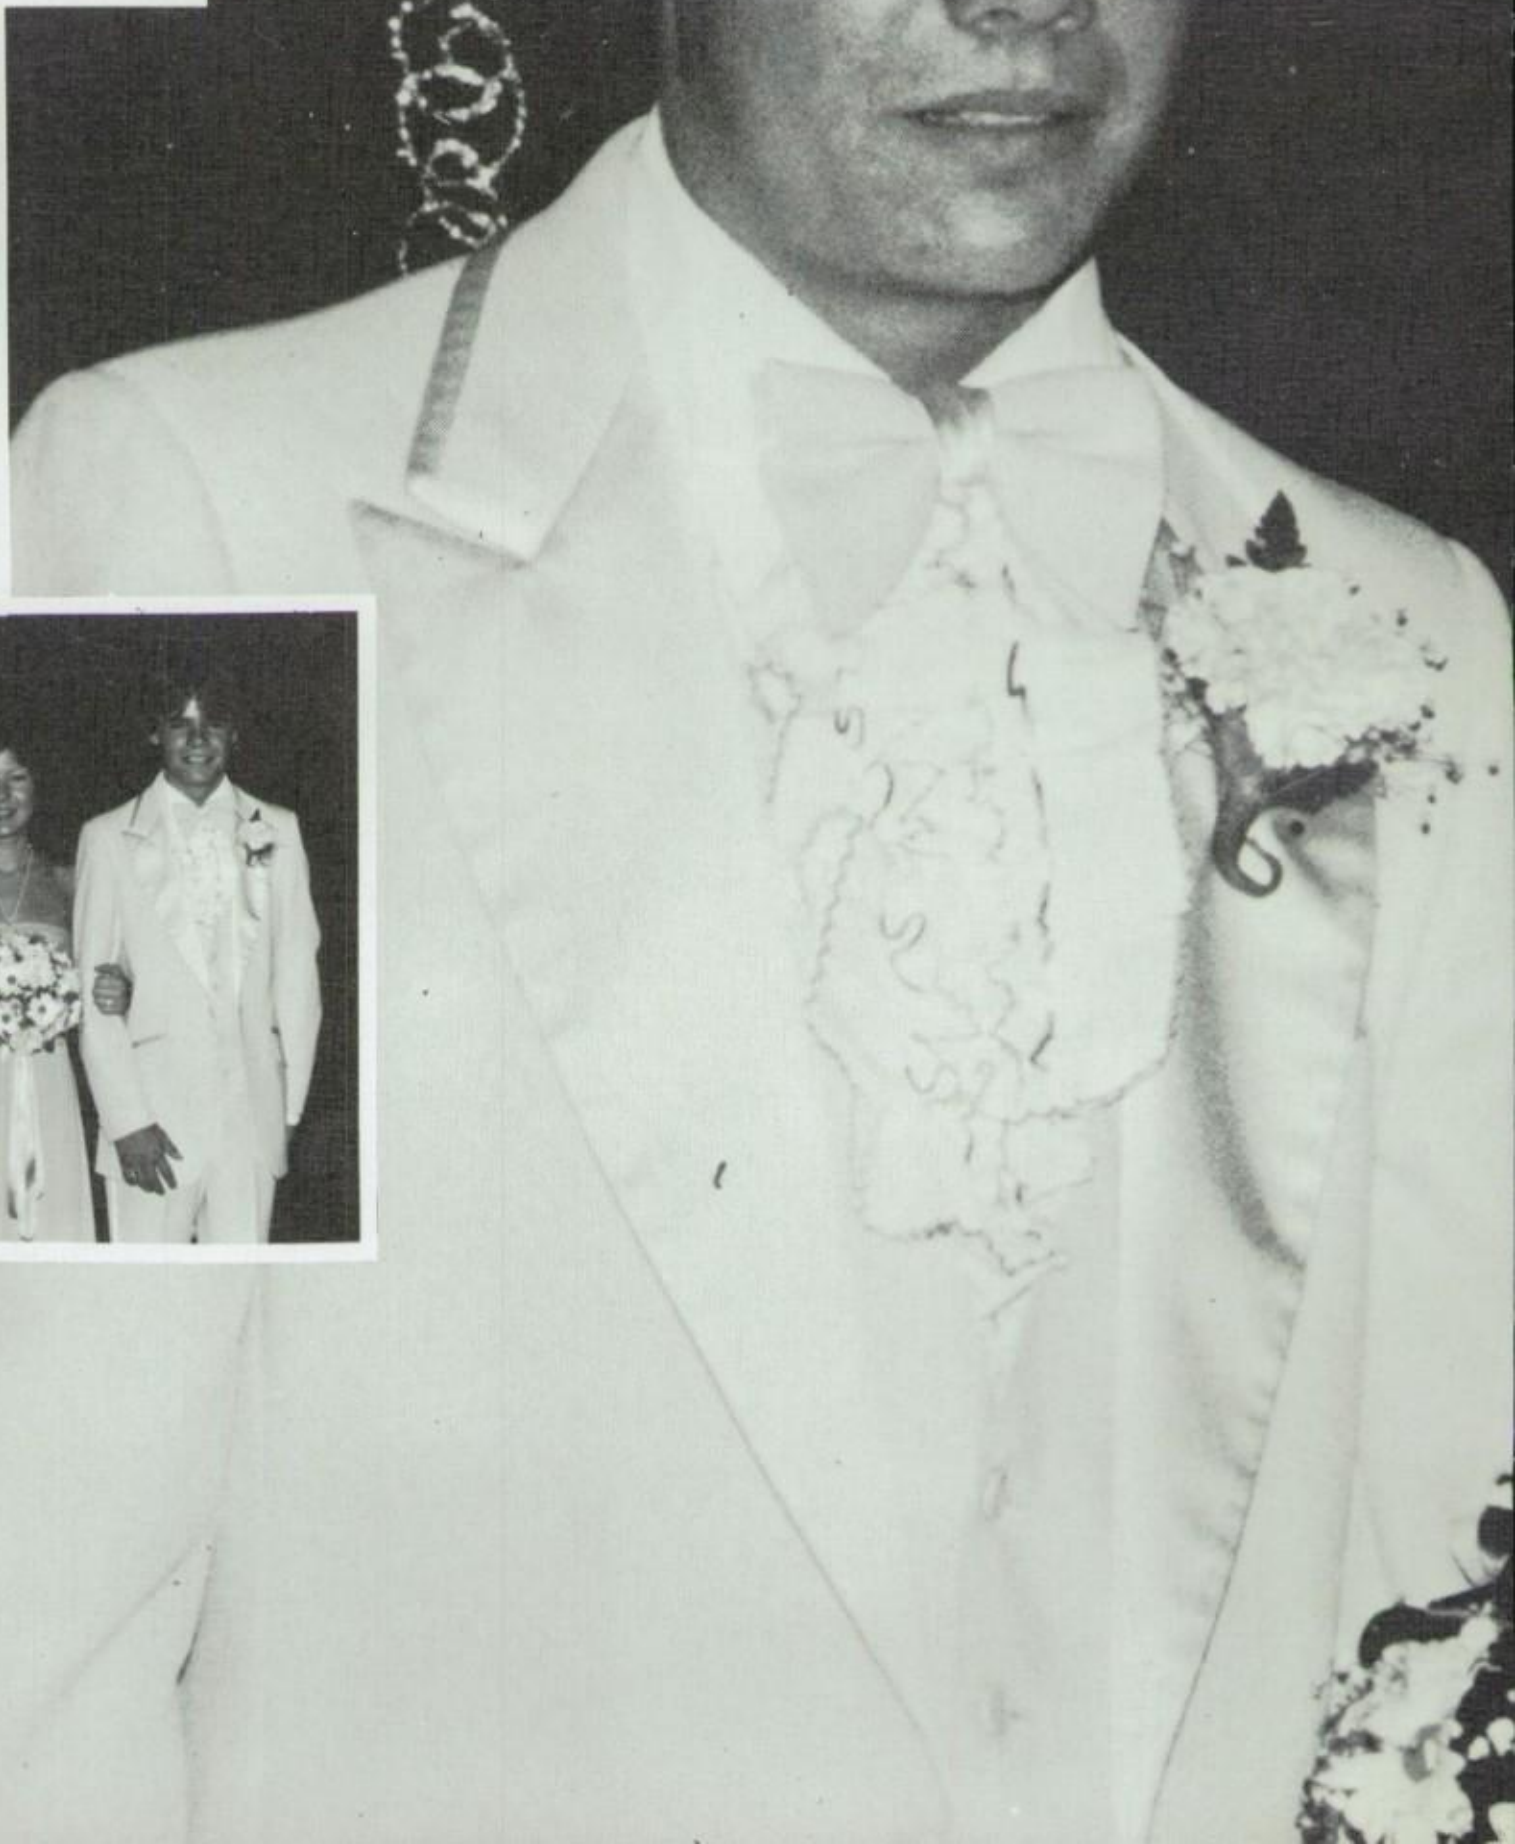

TIMES LIKE THESE

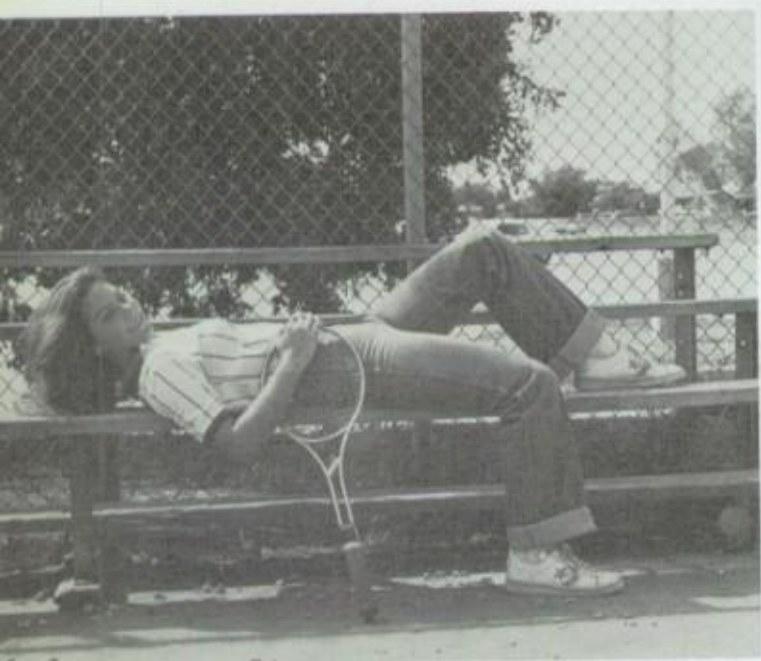

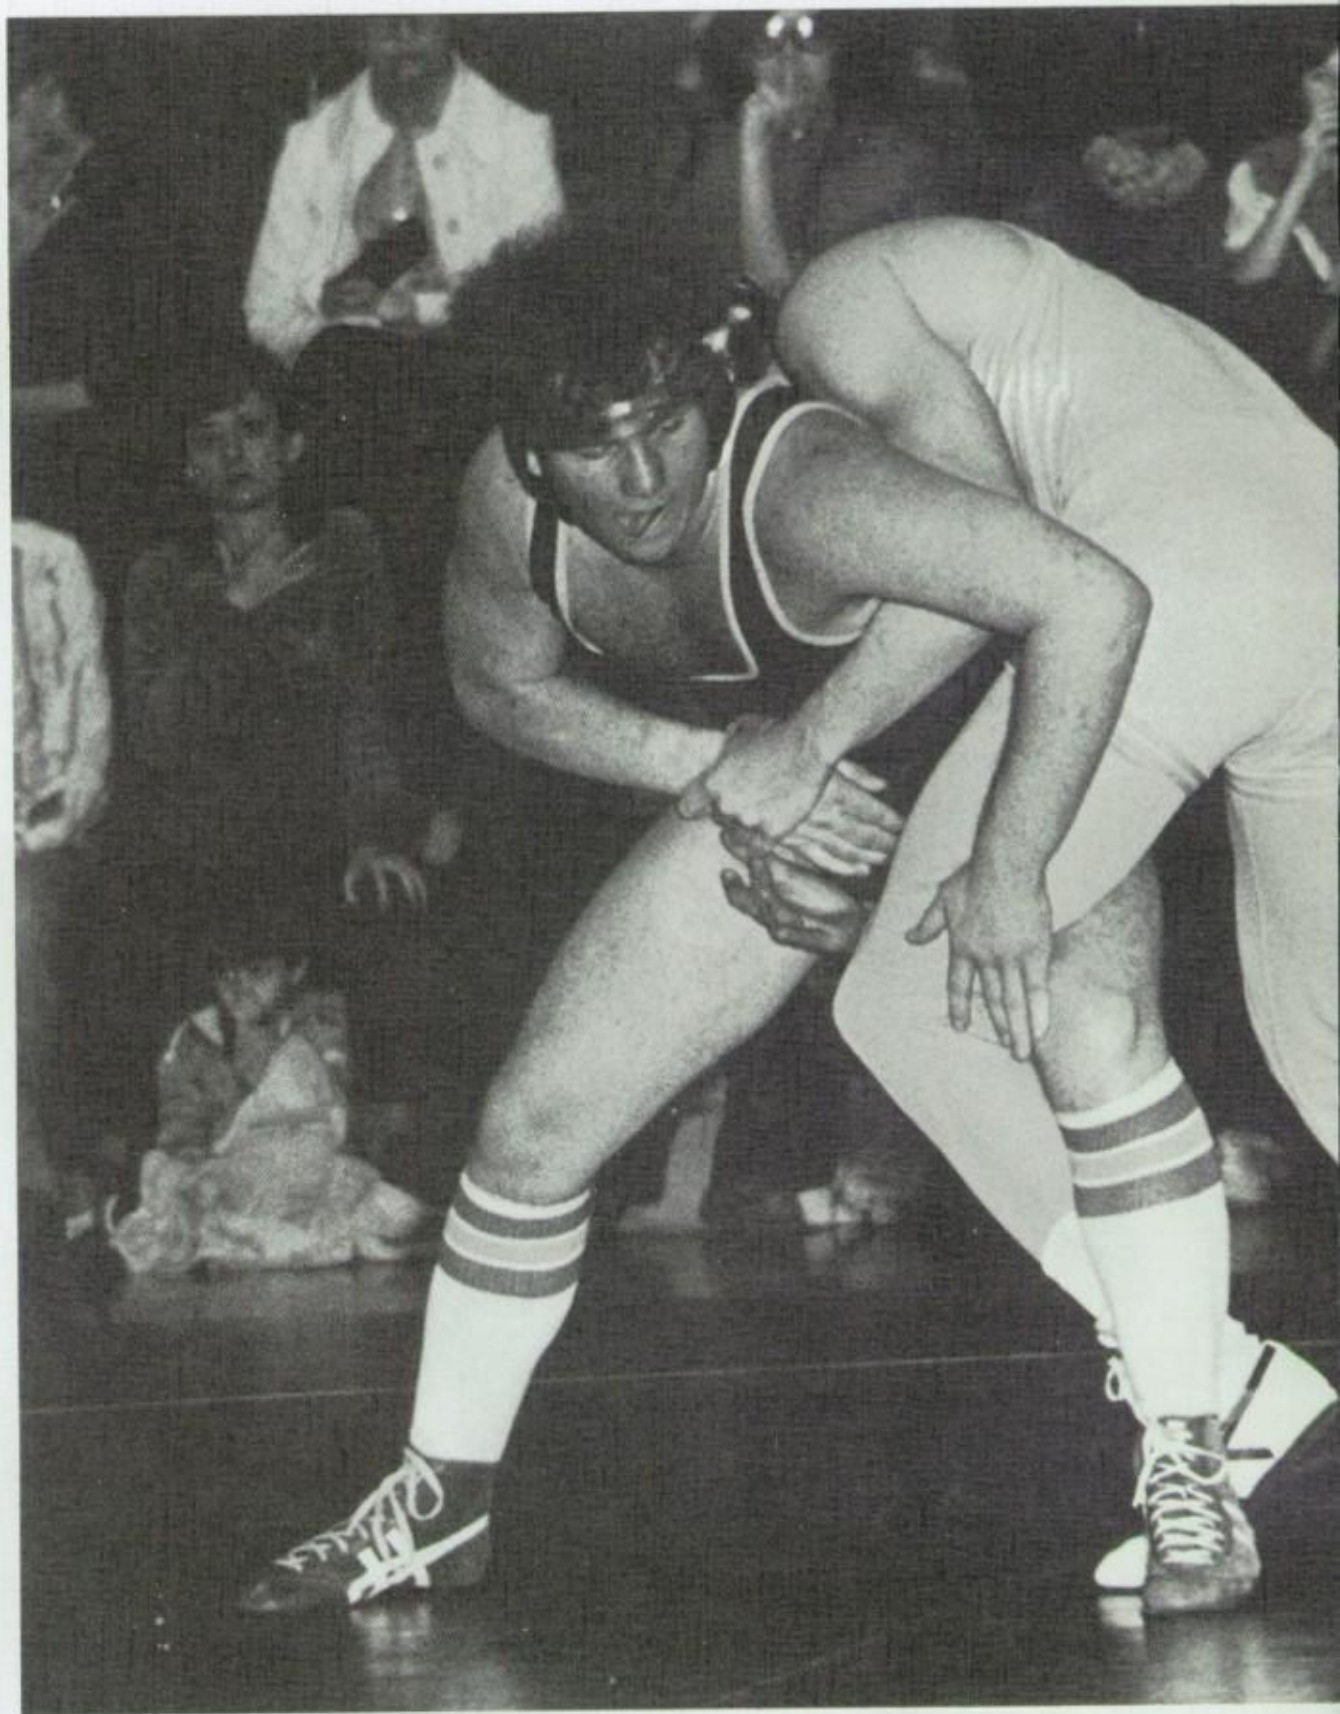

The annual crowning of the Prince and Princess of Print holds a special excitement for all of us. It is a special honor to get this position for hard work in Journalism. The wondering of who gets this honor is just part of TIMES LIKE THESE.

Tera Smiley is escorted by Mark Robles. Prince and Princess of Print are Mark Robles and Nancy Raiden. Jill Chody and Forrest Pollock perform as MC's at the royalty assembly. David Williamson escorts Nancy Raiden. Burl Wooten provided excellent entertainment for the assembly. The Prince and Princess of Print candidates are David Williamson, Nancy Raiden, and Tera Smiley, and Mark Robles.

TIMES LIKE THESE II

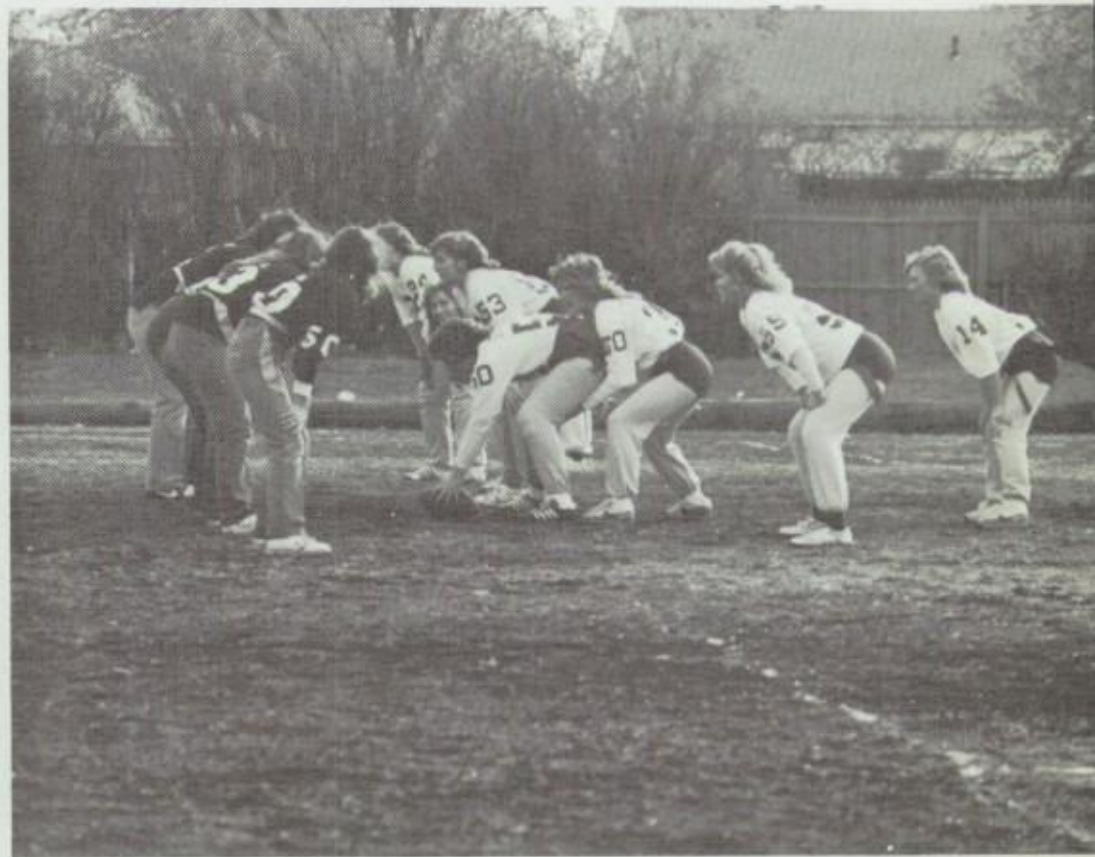

GENERAL

We liked to play. We liked to compete. We thoroughly enjoyed the challenge of facing an opponent and conquering the opposition.

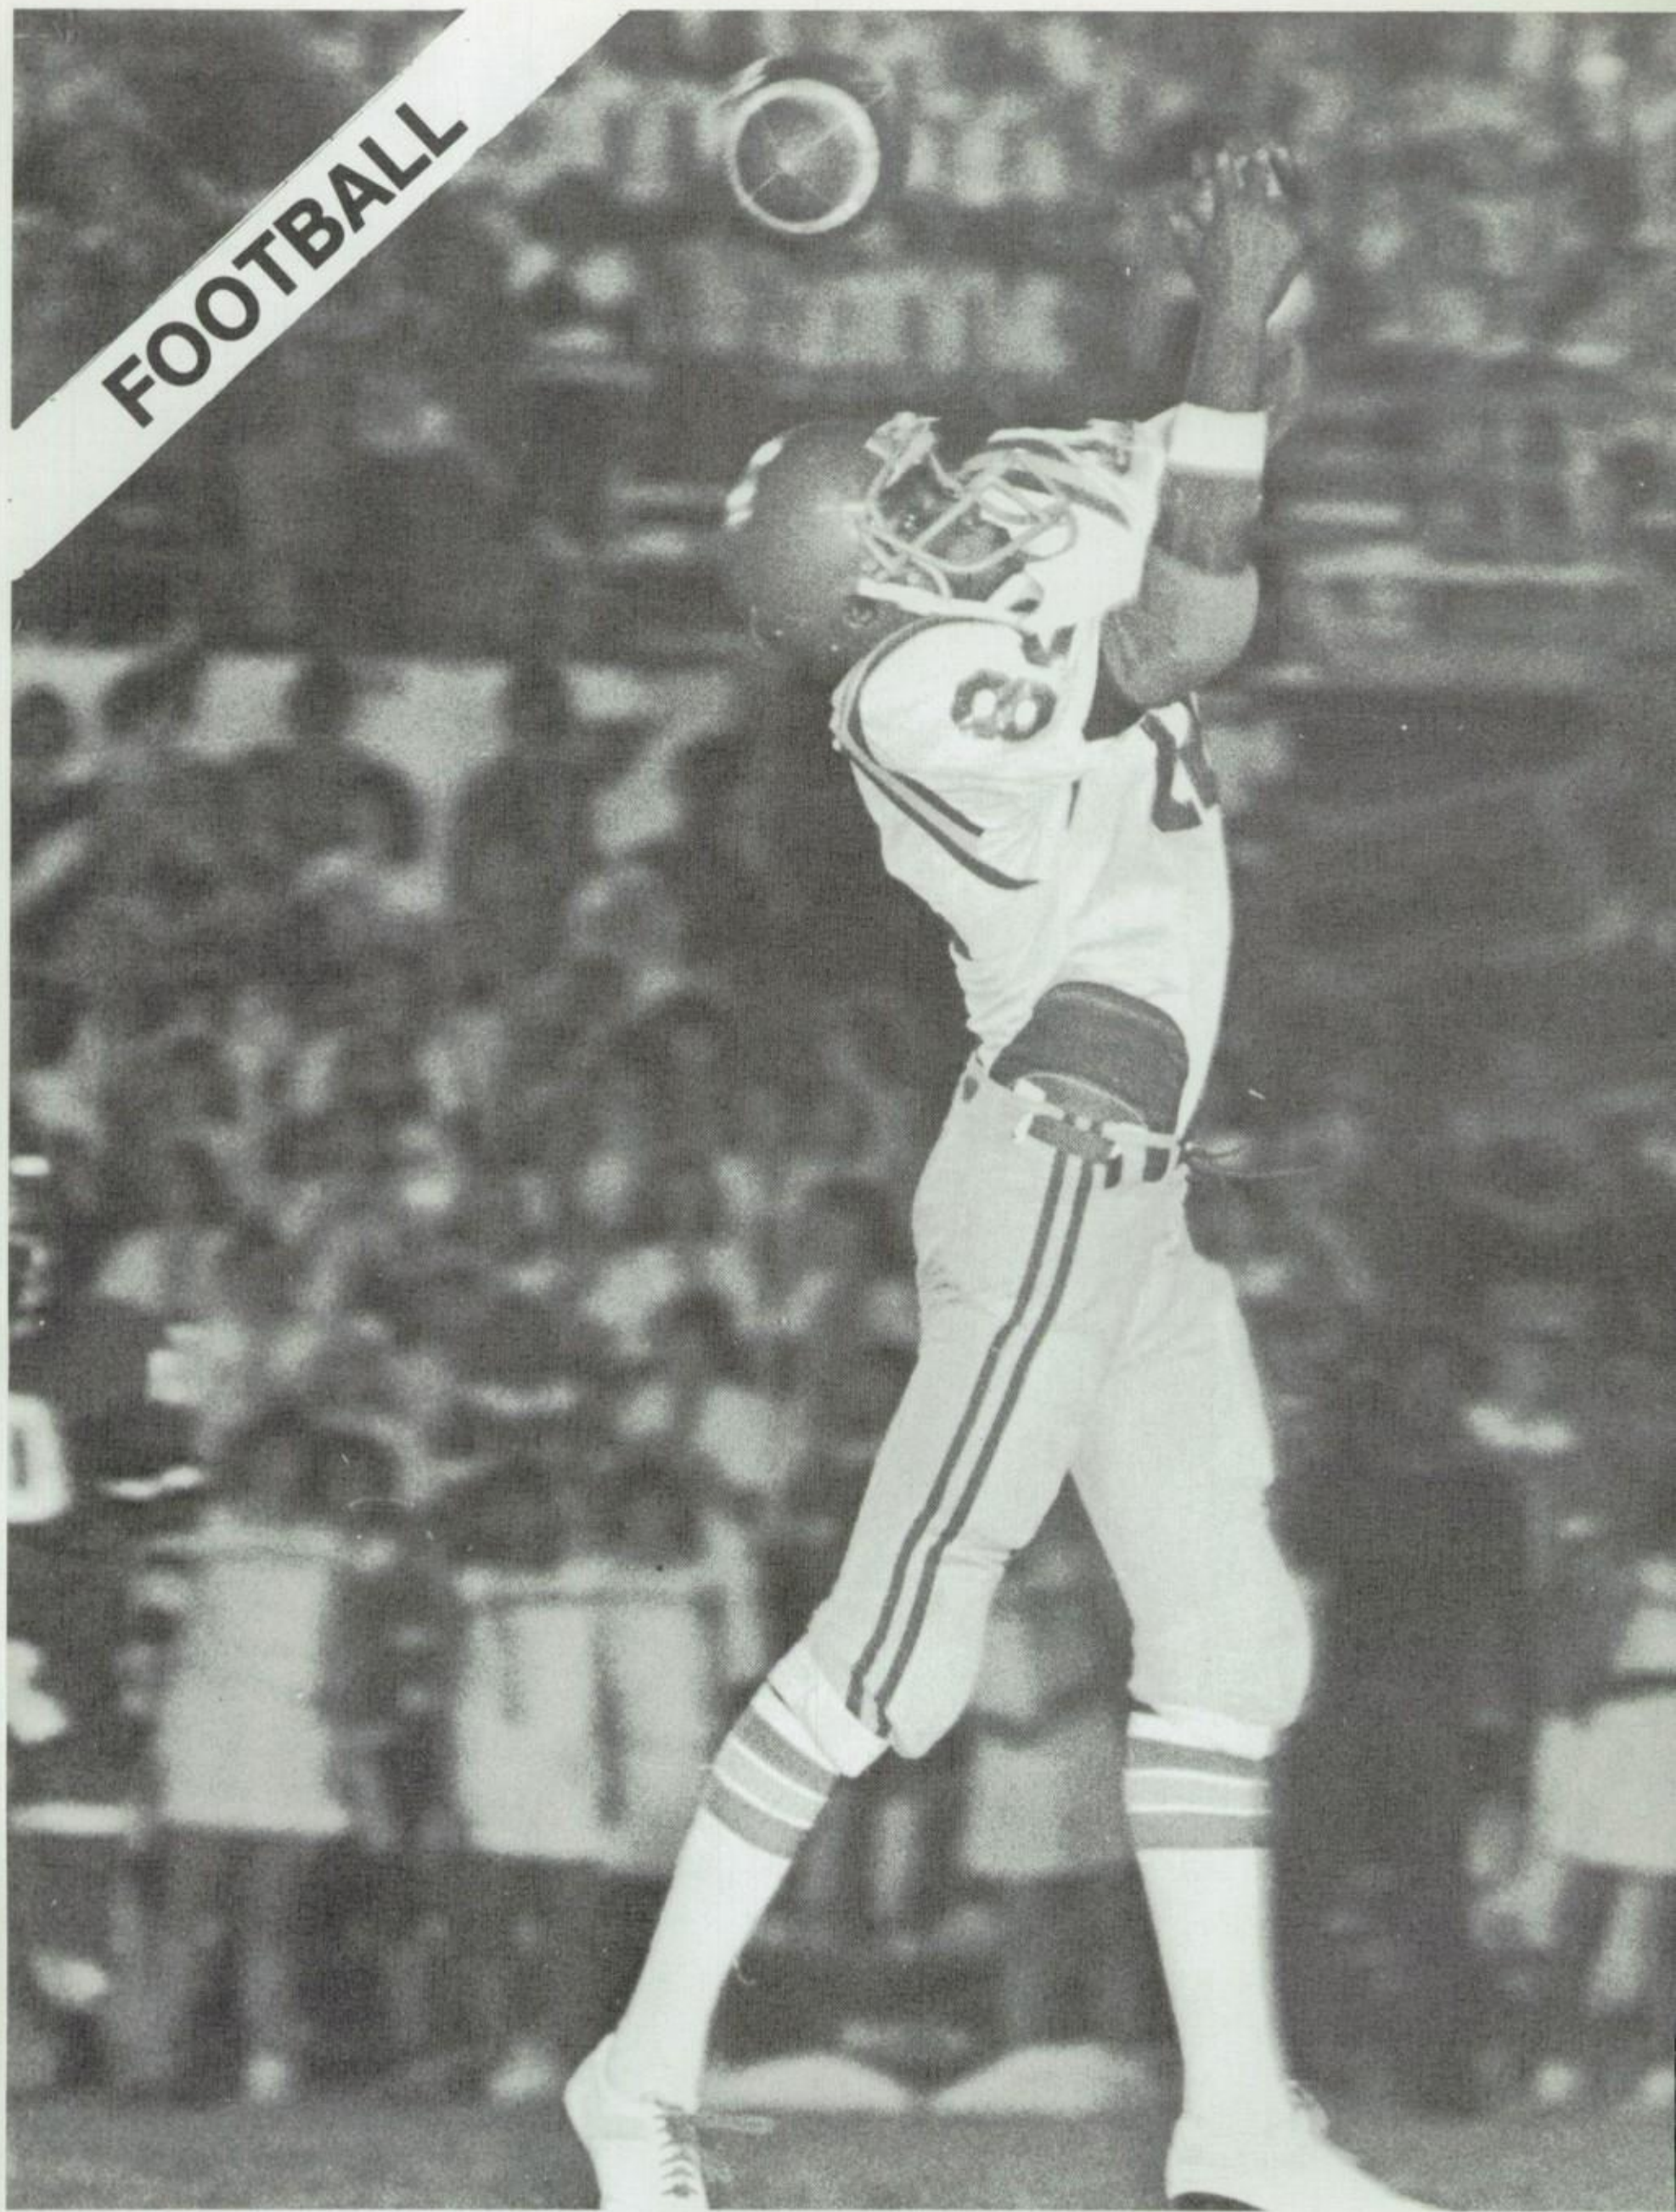

Sometimes when we were not the conquerors, but the conquered, we learned the most. We knew that it was not the "thrill of victory" so much as the "agony of defeat" which helped us put out lives Generally in Focus.

FOOTBALL

Head football coach John Carter's first year at the helm was highlighted by an 8-6 come-from-behind victory over the Southeast Spartans.

After doing away with a potent Edmond team to start off the season, the Generals disposed of the highly regarded Putnam City Pirates. Following those two victories, the Generals lost their next seven straight games, including conference losses to Lawton Ike, Norman, and state runner-up, Midwest City.

Jeff Baugus, in his first year as a Grant football player, was named as the team's outstanding player of the year, while Avery Howard was chosen as offensive player of the year for the Generals.

Avery Howard always has his eye on the ball. Burl Wooten watches for a block from Scott Ziegler. Tommy Ebert receives aid from coaches. Jimmy Taylor takes a break from the game. Vince Ellis rushes in to help Brett Stokes and Ronnie Williams make a tackle. Mike Tolbert dives for a pass.

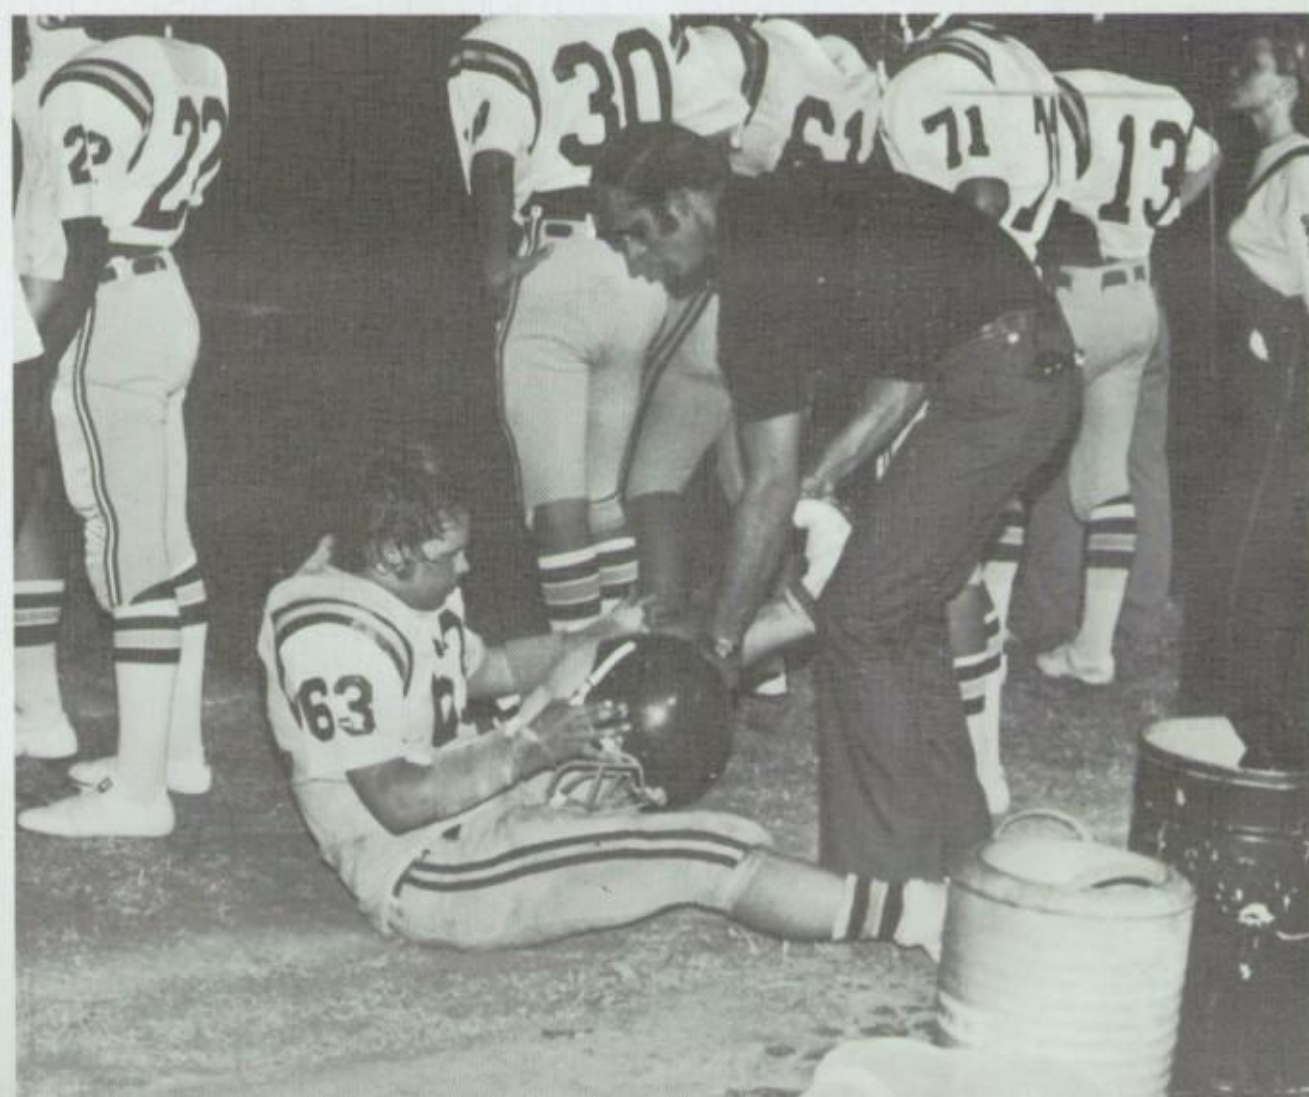

Under the coaching of Jack Throckmorton, the JV football team posted a 3-5 record this year.

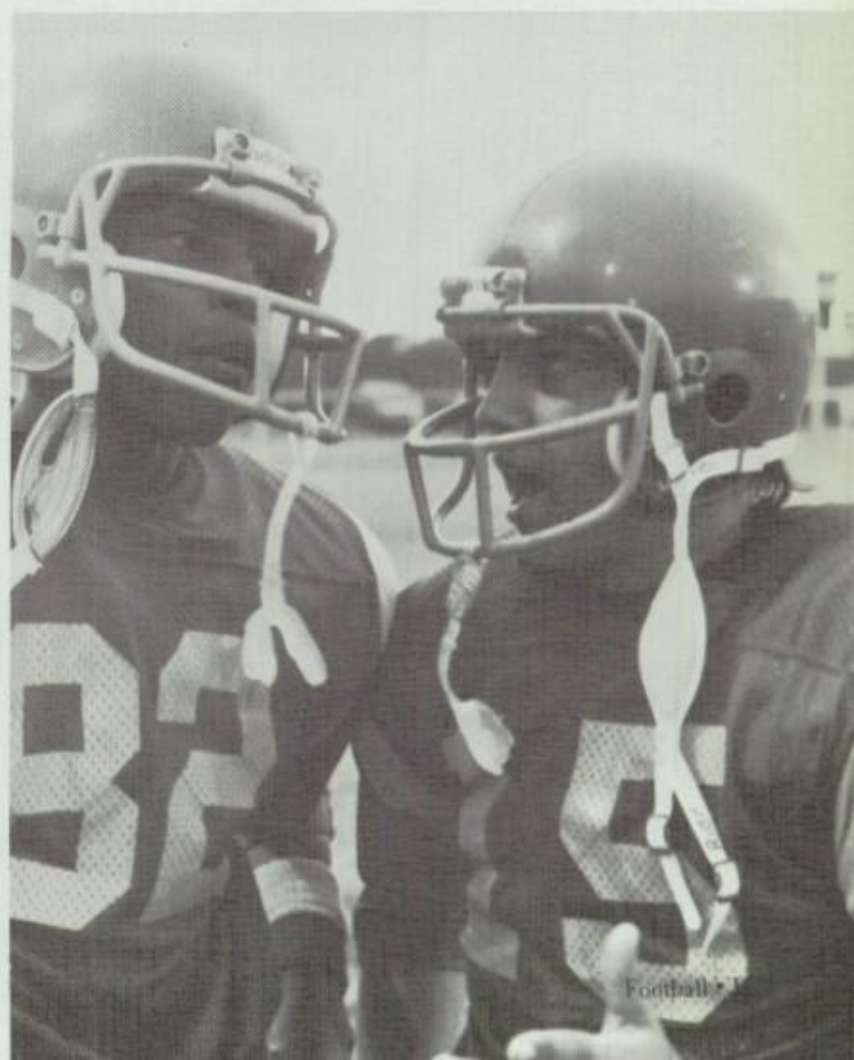

The team was led by quarterback Tom Taylor, runningback Nathan Roark, defensive lineman Rick McAmis, and Dennis Madden, and defensive secondary Jimmy Reeves.

Coach Lewis Quintane again coached the freshmen team with help from his assistant, Neill Choate. The freshmen recorded a 5-6 season.

The frosh were led on offense by Robbie Ross, quarterback Jeff Hewett, Ray Armstrong, Devon Mitchell, and James Worcester. Worcester also led the defense along with Alan Juniper.

Greg Williams boosts Roger Ross to tell who they think is No. 1. Jeff Baugus worries from the sidelines.

Take state! Take state! That was the chant on the sidelines as the Generals rolled to their 19-9 season. The only thing wrong with the Generals' best record in the history of the school was that the Southeast Spartans wanted the state title a little bit more.

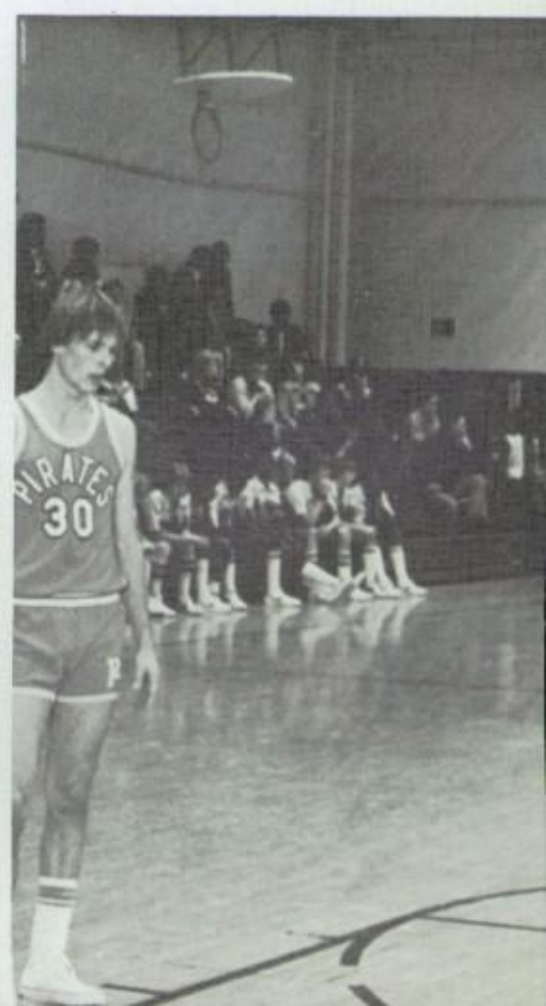

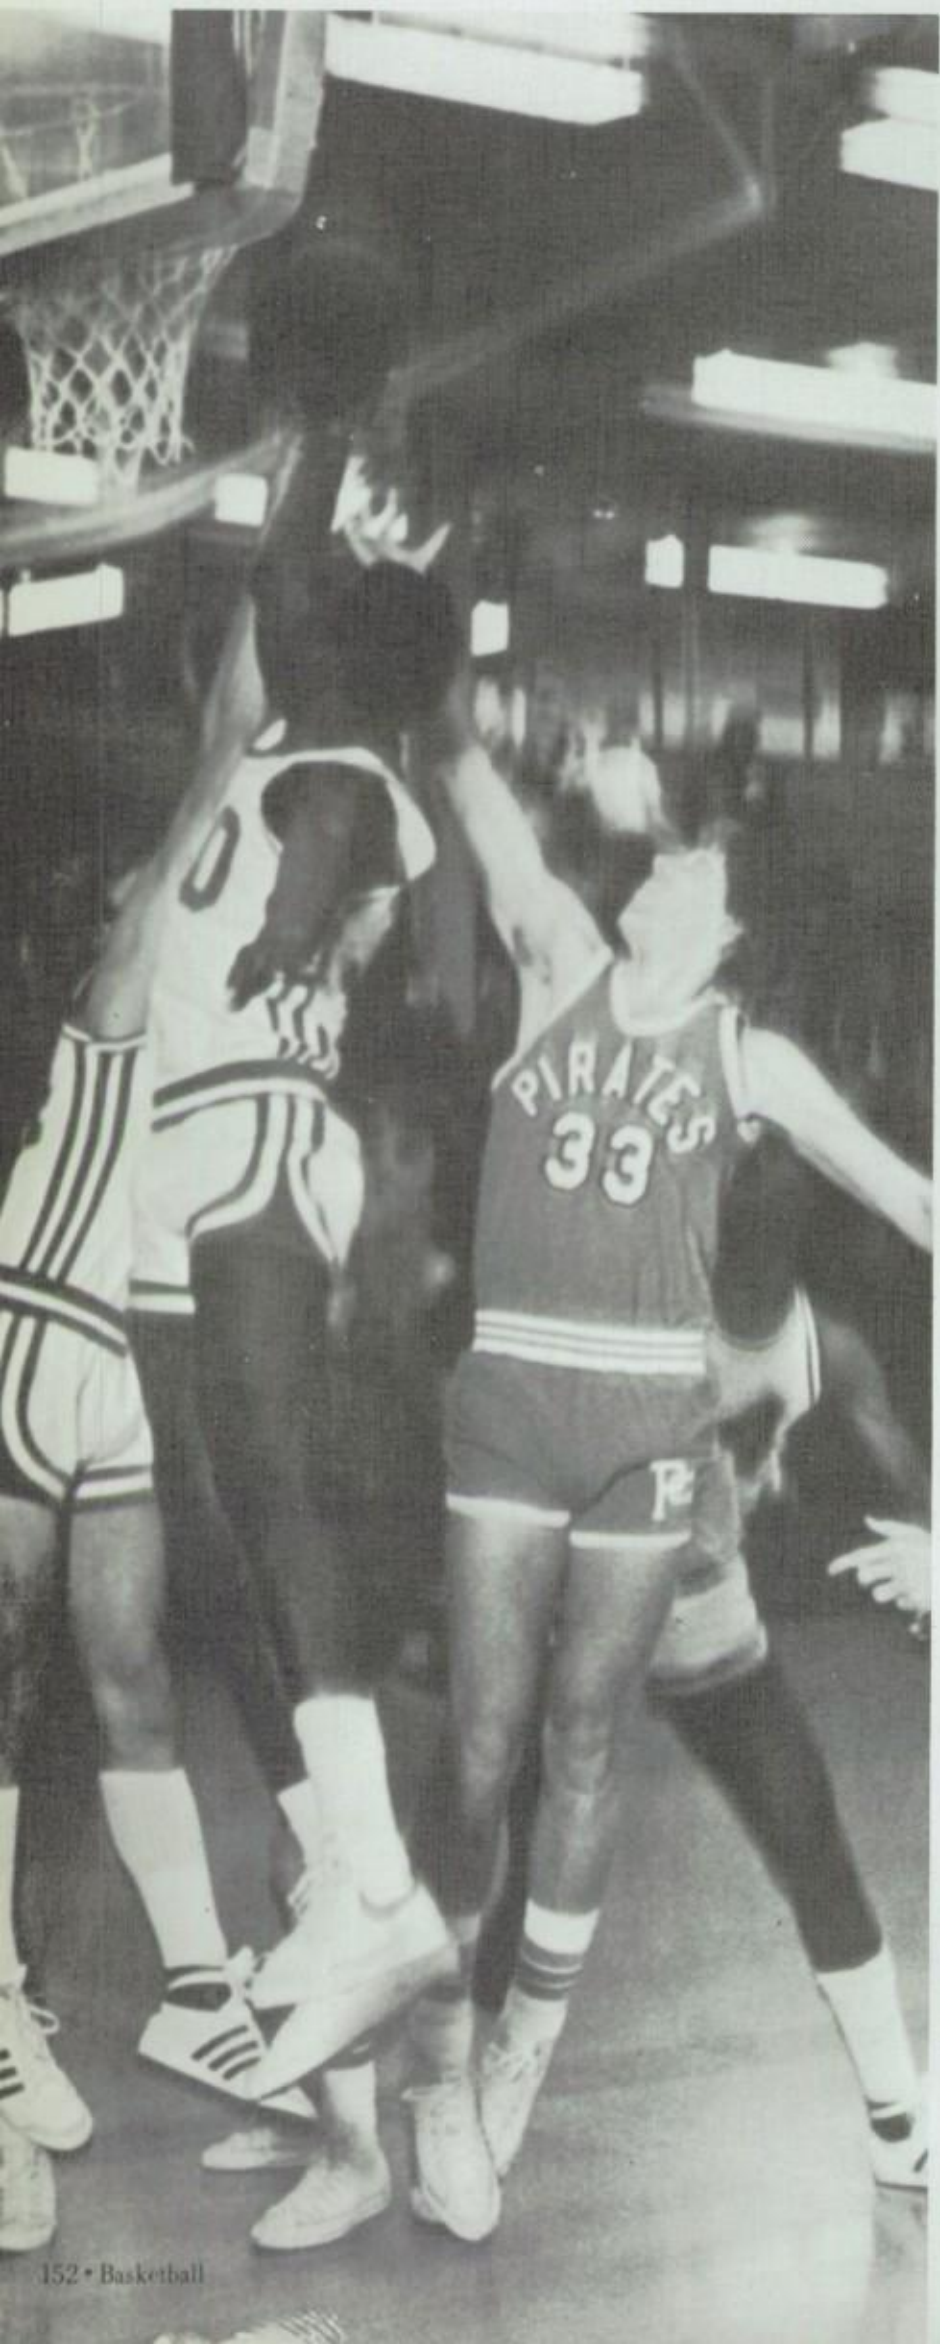

The Generals under second-year coach Allen Dukes won their regional handily. Their first state playoff foe was the Ada Cougars. The Generals dominated the entire game and won 68-58. In the semi-final game the Generals faced the Spartans for the fourth time of the season and lost.

BASKETBALL

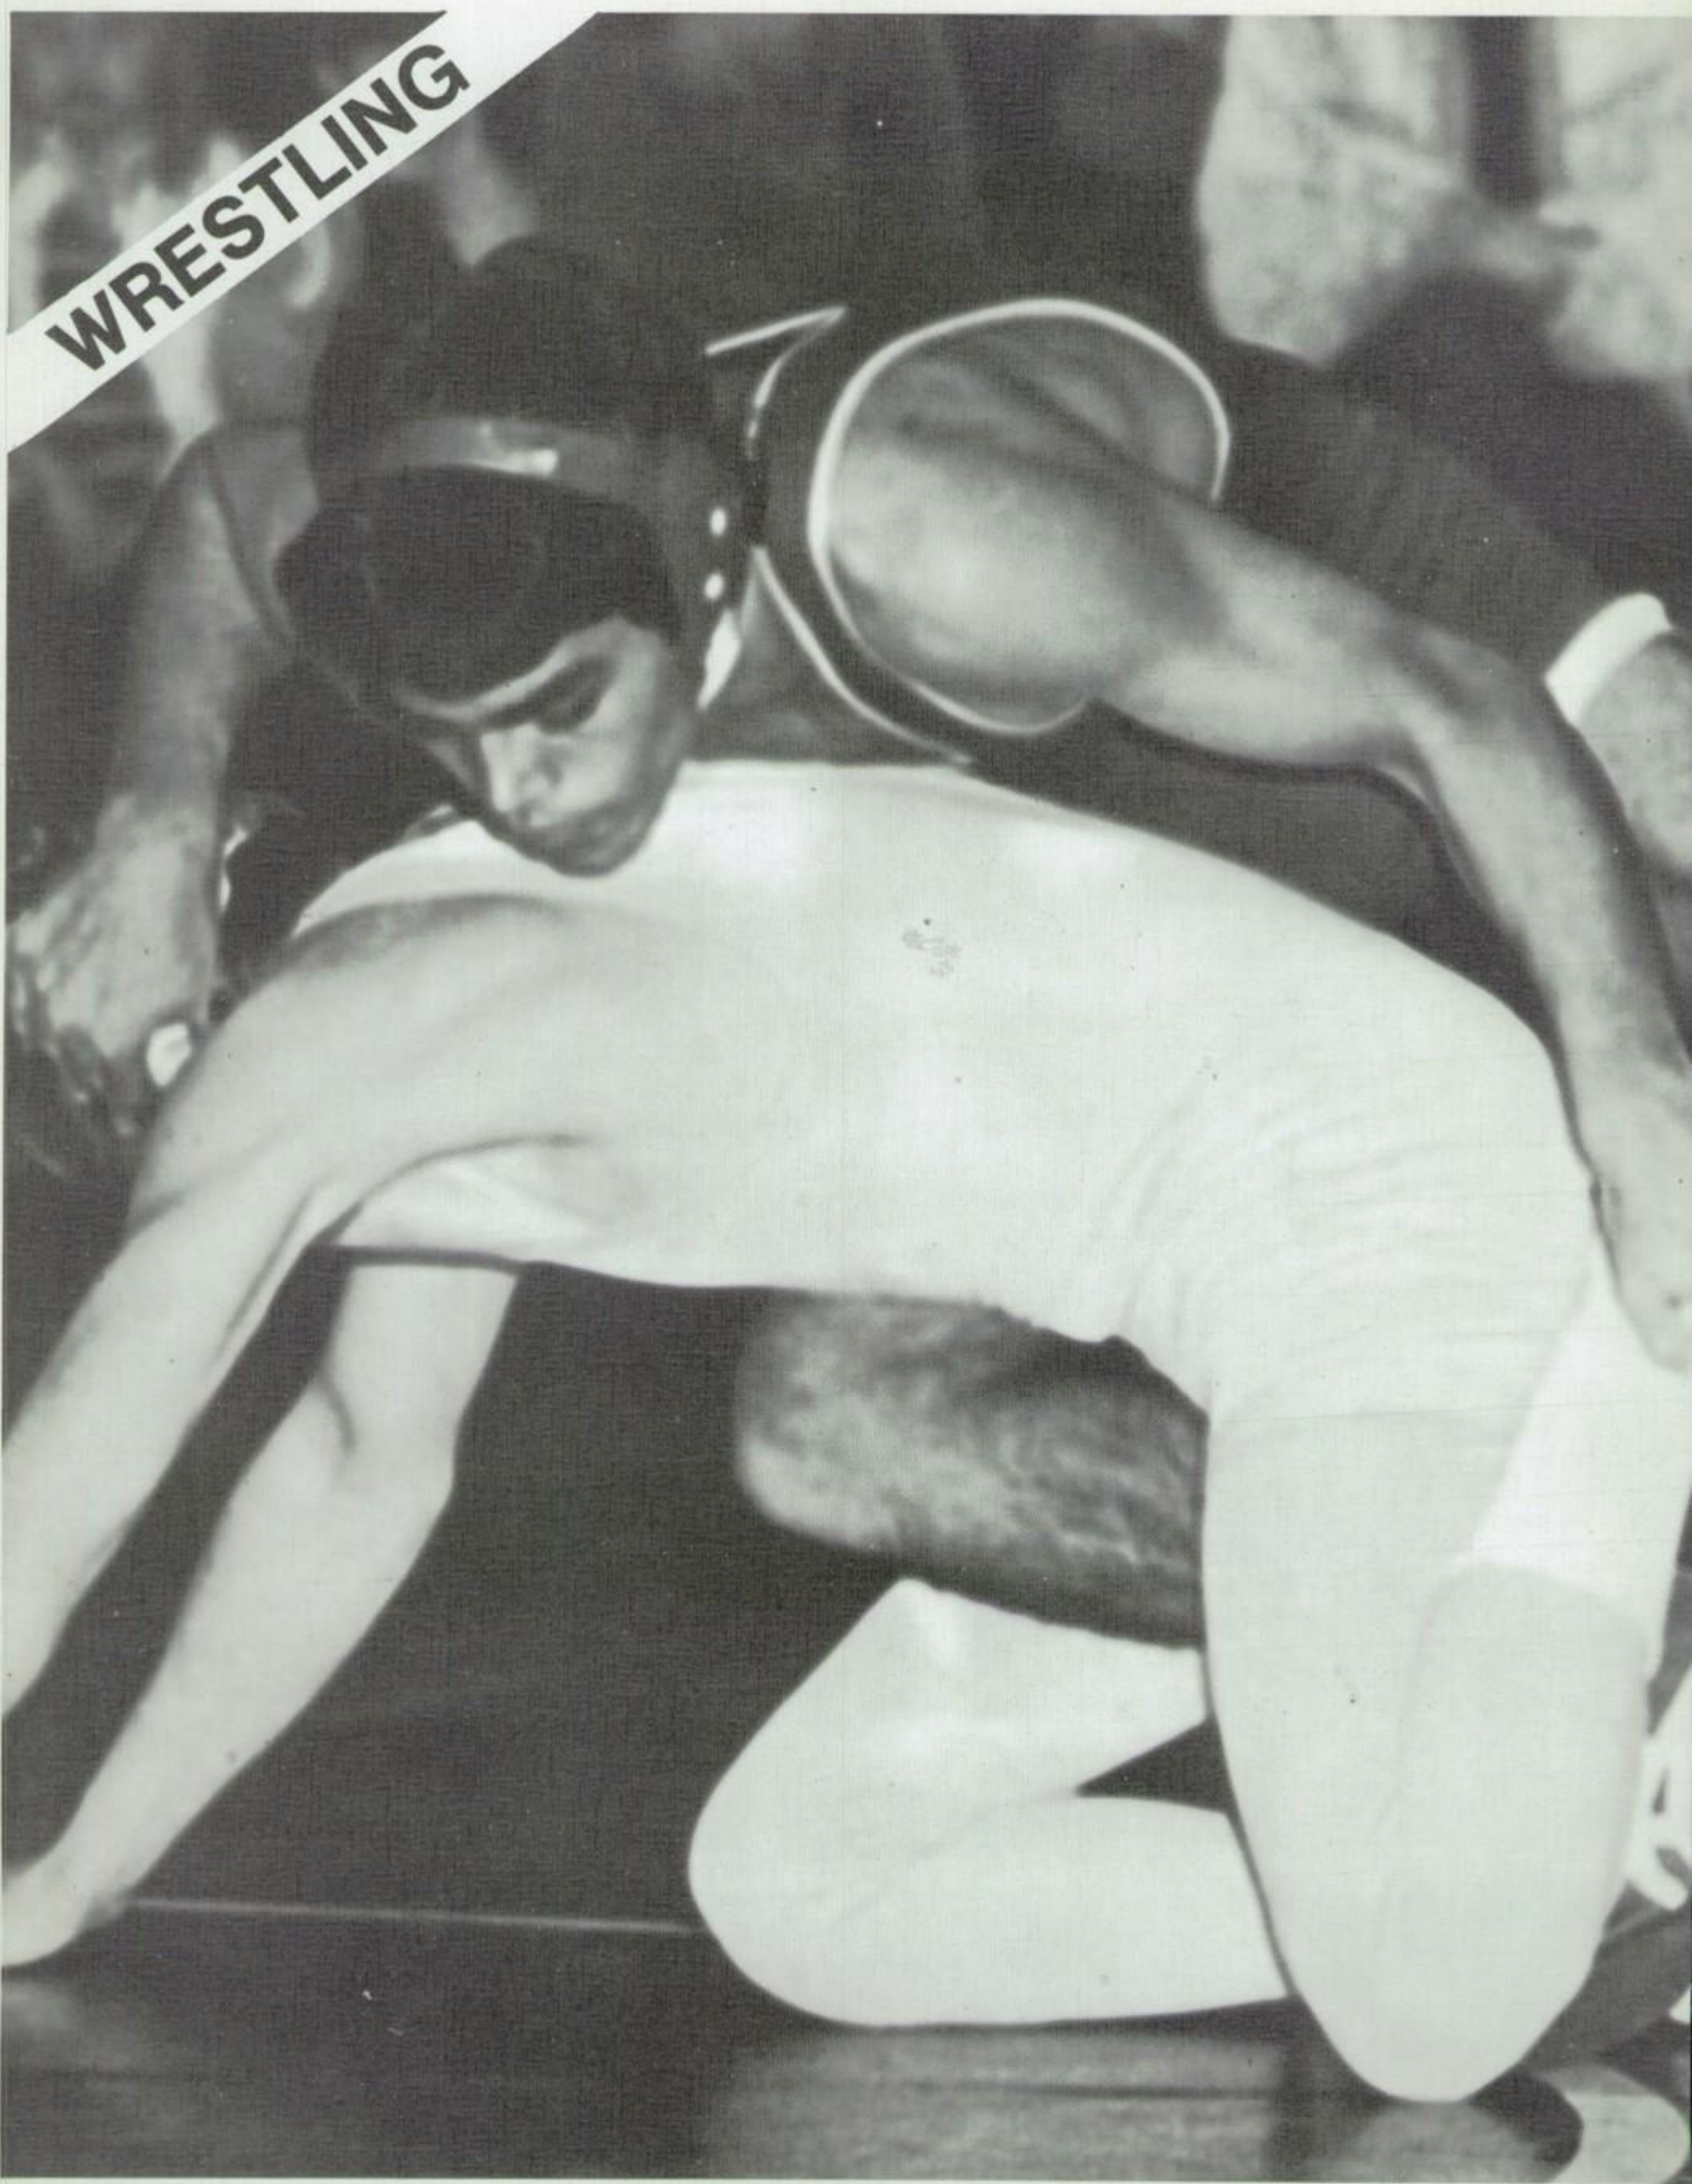

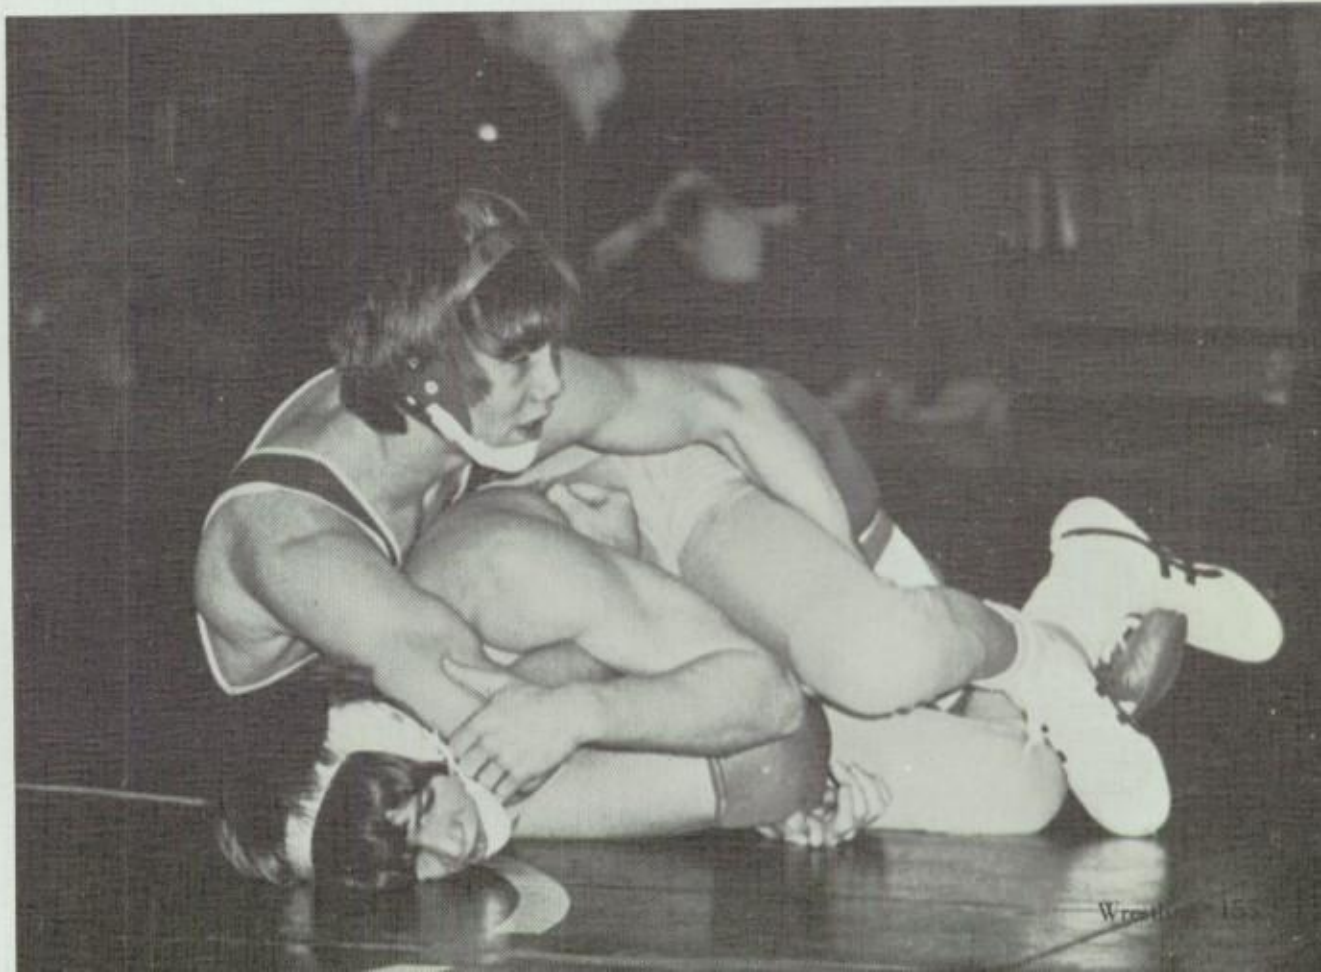

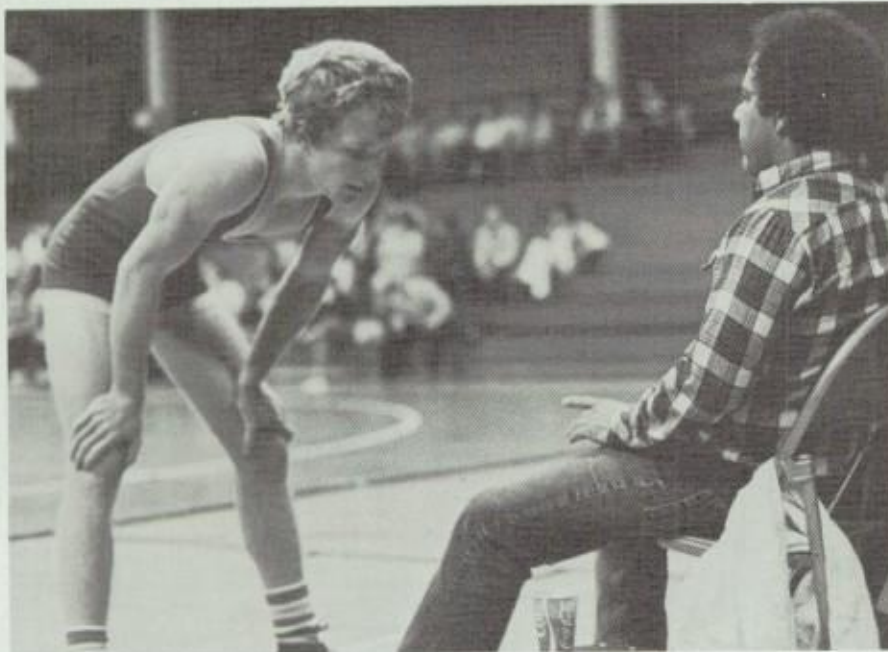

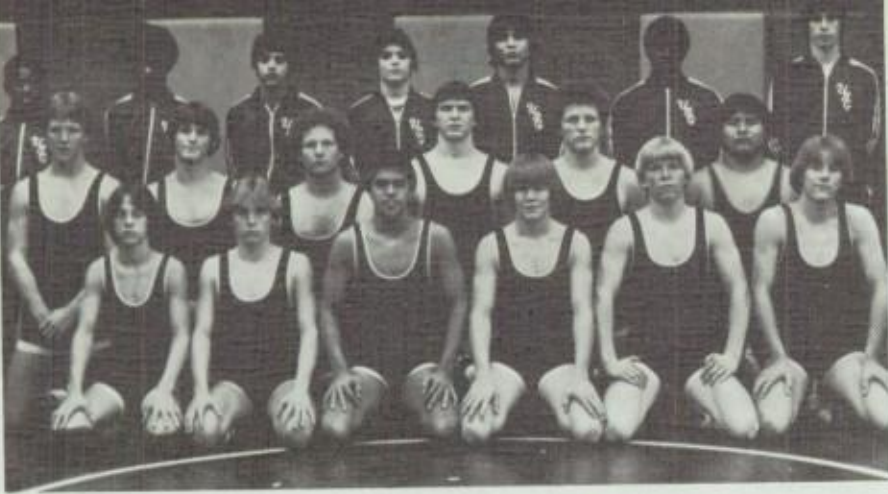

The Generals were led this year by seniors Cecil Thomas, Charles Williams, and junior Greg Miles. Starting seniors Larry Mustain and Chuck Nelson also did their part for the Generals.

Thomas led the Generals, scoring with a 19.2 average. Thomas made the Big All-City first team and the All-State selection. Cecil was also chosen to the first team in the Southeast and McGuinness tournaments. Williams played exceptionally in the state playoffs. He was selected to the first team in the 4-A playoffs he was also chosen to the honorable mention All-State team.

The wrestling squad was led by seniors Cory Conallis, Jerry Litteral, and by junior Larry Wooton. All three contributed to the Generals fourth place finish in the Western Regional and the All-City championship. Conallis and Litteral received honorable mention for the all-state squad. Both Litteral and Wooton placed fourth in state.

WRESTLING

"This year's baseball team has the potential to take the state championship," said second year head coach Chuck Page.

The Generals return seven starters: first baseman, Mike Tolbert; both second basemen, David Rankin and Kevin Jones; shortstop, Jeff Baugus; third baseman-pitcher, Tom Ebert; catcher, Jay Byrd; and ace pitcher, David Gibson.

Jeff Baugus awaits a grounder. Kevin Jones heads for home. Roger Ross, Tommy Ebert and David Rankin listen as Coach Page gives advice to Bobby McDougal. Mike Tolbert prepares to hit a home run. Jay Byrd, David Rankin, Steve Fish, and Burl Wooten watch as the Generals play ball. David Gibson winds up for a pitch. Baseball. Front Row: R. Ross, B. Wooten, J. Byrd, K. Rogers. Row 2: D. Rankin, T. Ebert, K. Jones, F. Corey, A. Howard. Back Row: J. Baugus, M. Tolbert, D. Gibson, S. Fish, B. McDougal. Coach Chuck Page.

Allen Dukes will again be at the helm for the junior varsity baseball, and John Savage will lead the freshmen. The junior varsity team looks very good now, but like the varsity, they could have pitching problems.

The juniors who don't make the varsity team should supply the JV team. Sophomores to watch are Ricky McAmis in the hitting department, and fireball pitcher, Mike Kelly.

CROSS COUNTRY — TRACK

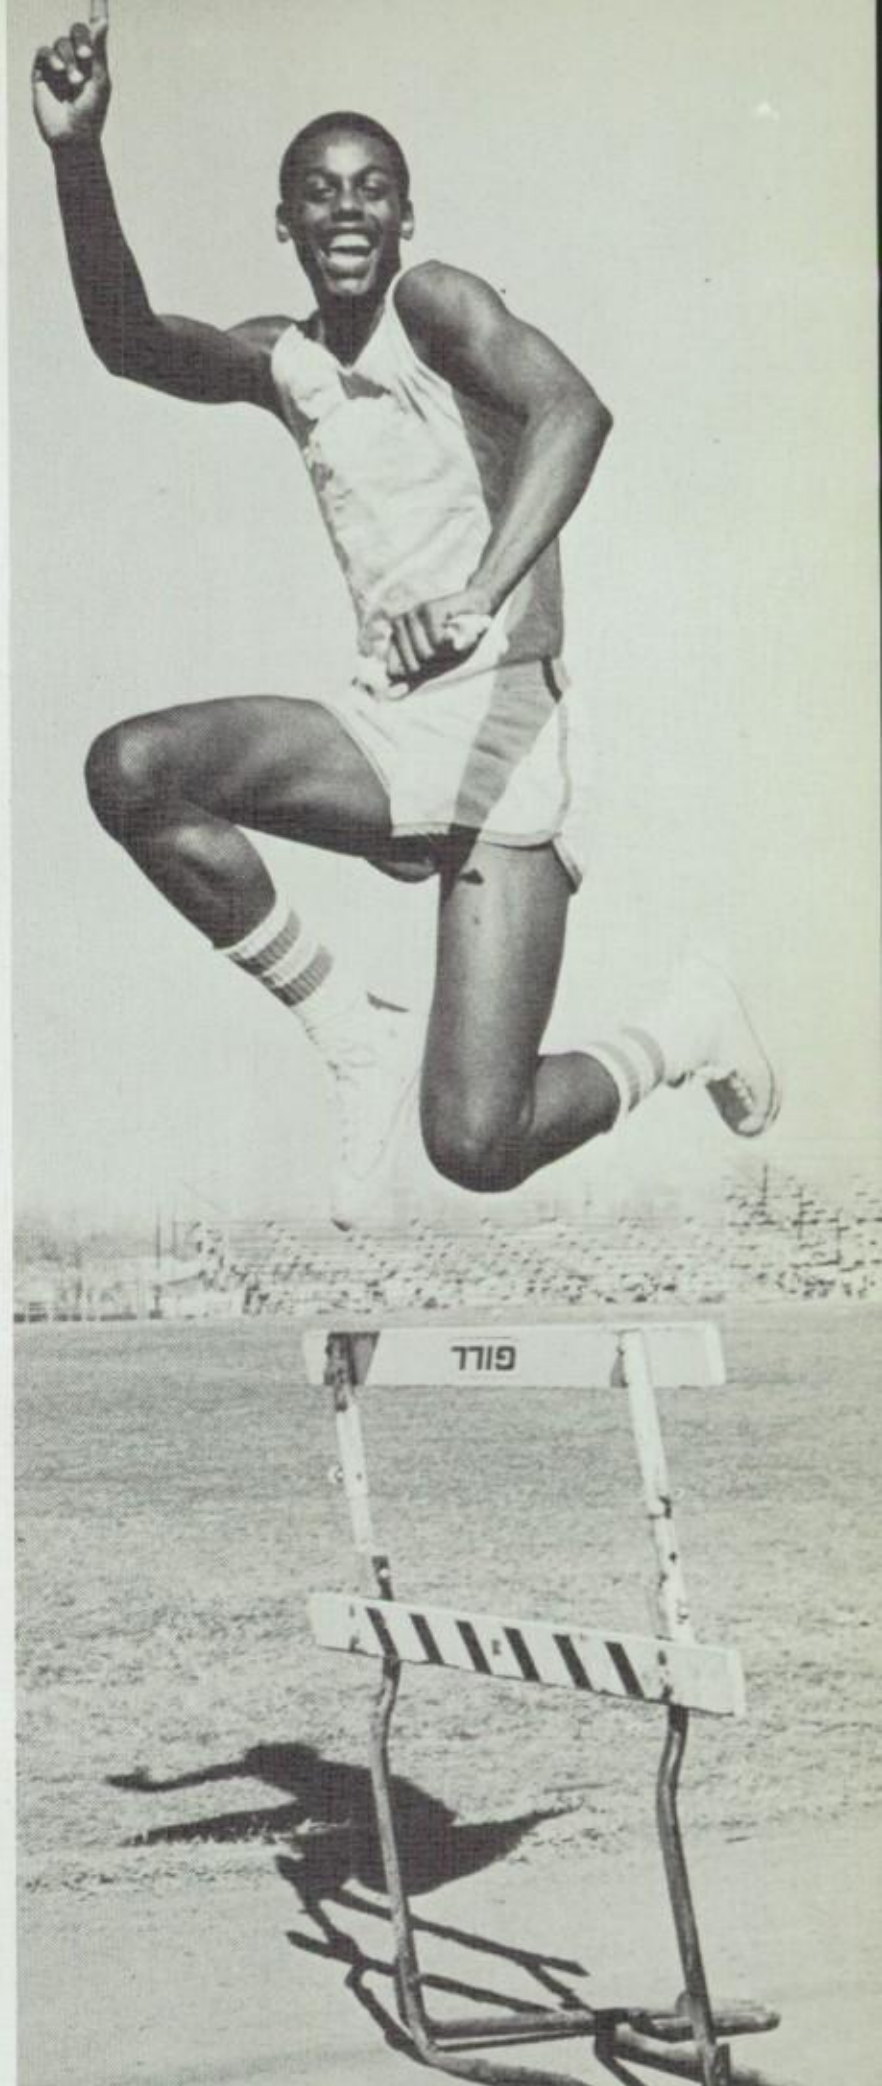

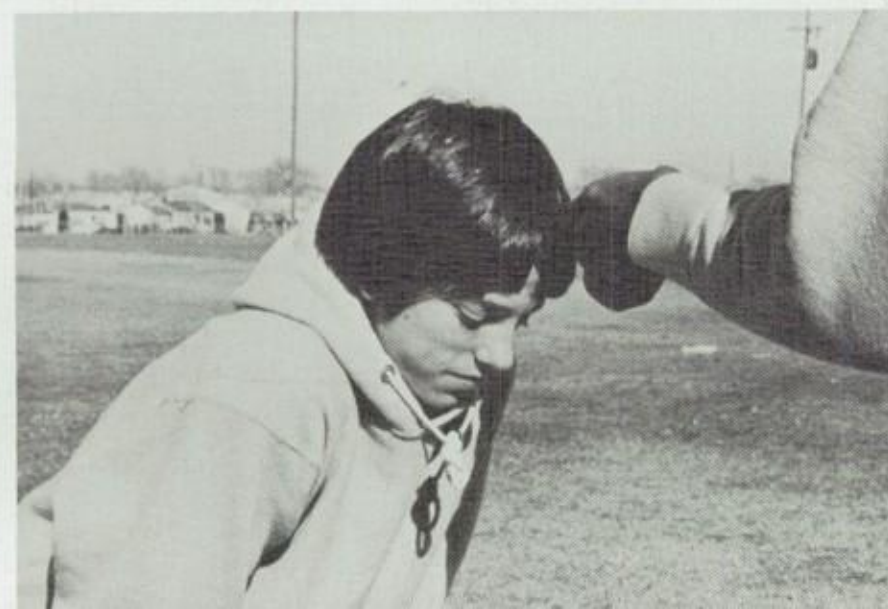

Cross country took third place in the city meet last fall. Track was anticipating a growing season under new head coaches John Carter, boys' track, and John Savage, girls' track.

Under veteran coach Harold Crosley, many cross country winners used the cross country season to get into shape for the wrestling season.

Eric Clark takes a hand-off from Tony Pittman. Greg Miles, Charles Williams and Tony Pittman are taking a rest. Flying over the hurdles is Charles Williams. Having no trouble with the hurdles is Greg Miles. Charles Williams breaks the finish line with Steve Verdicchio, Tony Pittman and Greg Miles following close behind. Taking a rest after his long run is Vince Slater. Cross Country. C. Wenthold, C. Conallis, S. Renshaw, S. Verdicchio. "Why Me?" moans Steve Verdicchio. Aaron Dixon stretches his muscles in preparation for a long run. Racing towards the finish line are Greg Miles, Tony Pittman, Charles Williams, and Steve Verdicchio.

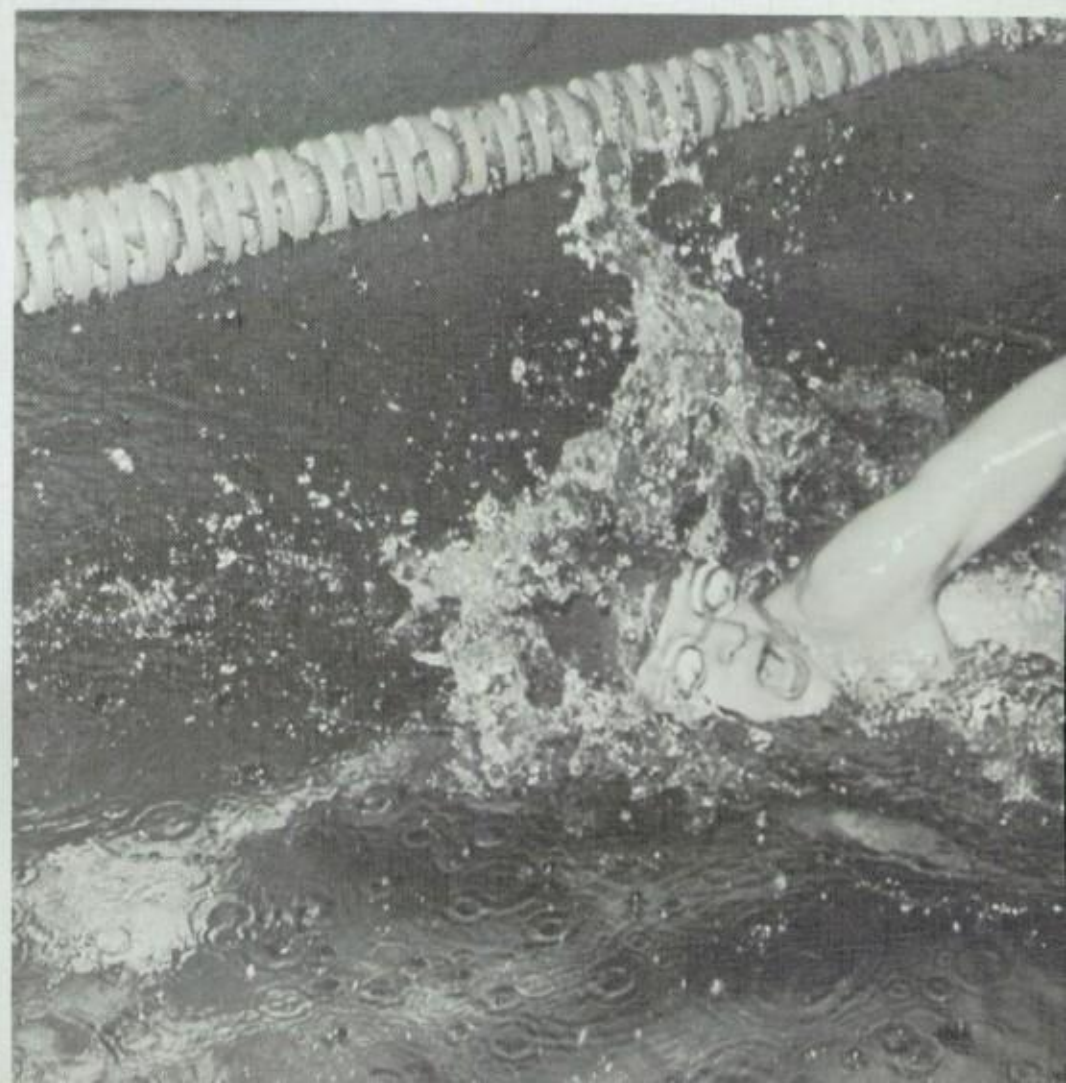

Golf teams were anticipating their state competition after metroplex competition. Tennis teams were to be 3A this year after being in 4A previously. Golf Coaches were again Mr. Harold Crosley and Mrs. Jayne Thompson. Tennis Coaches were again Mr. Jack Nichols and Mrs. Vicky Parker.

TENNIS — GOLF

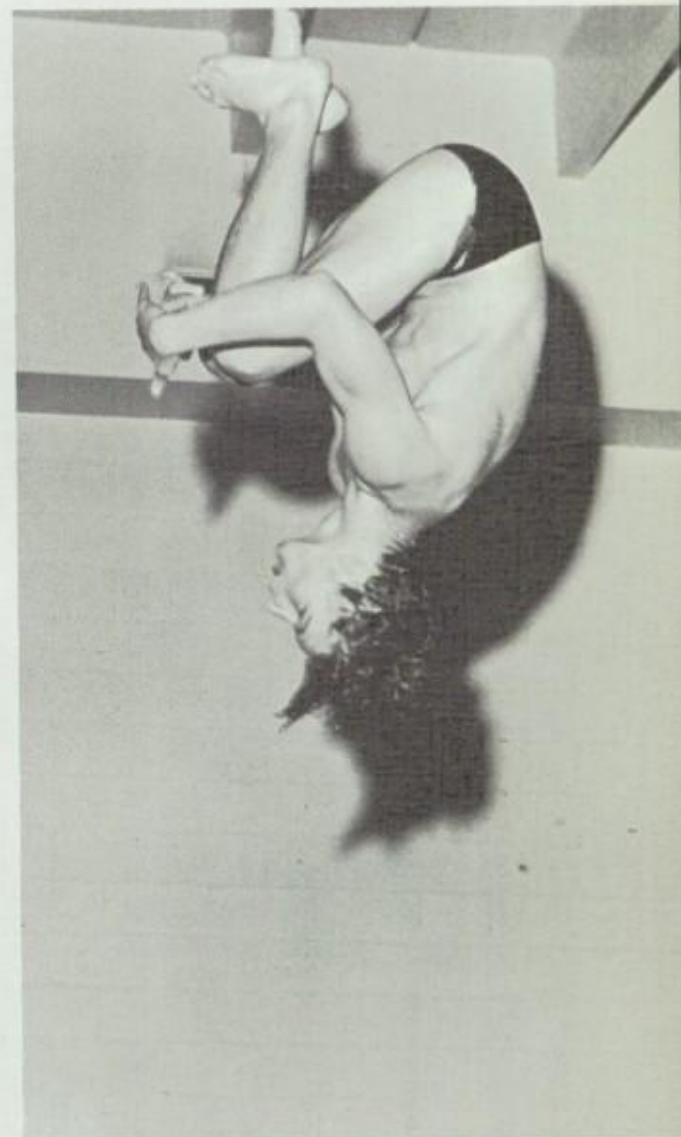

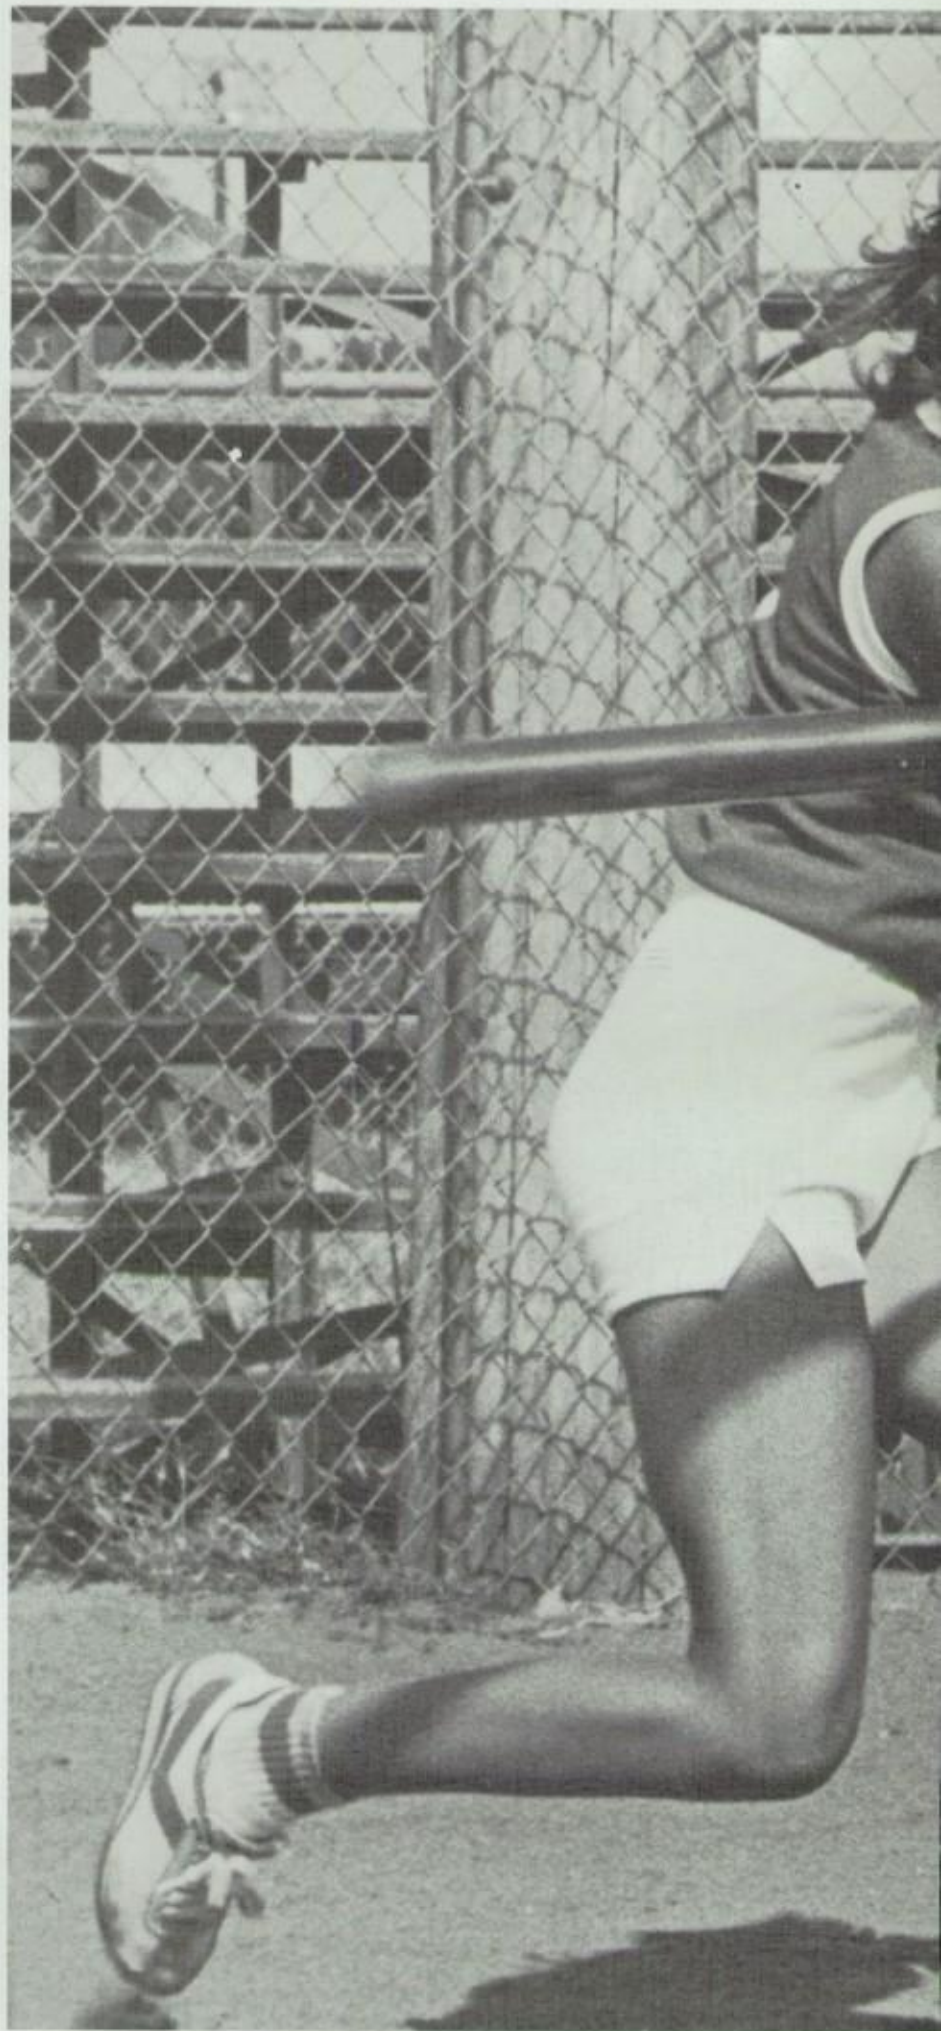

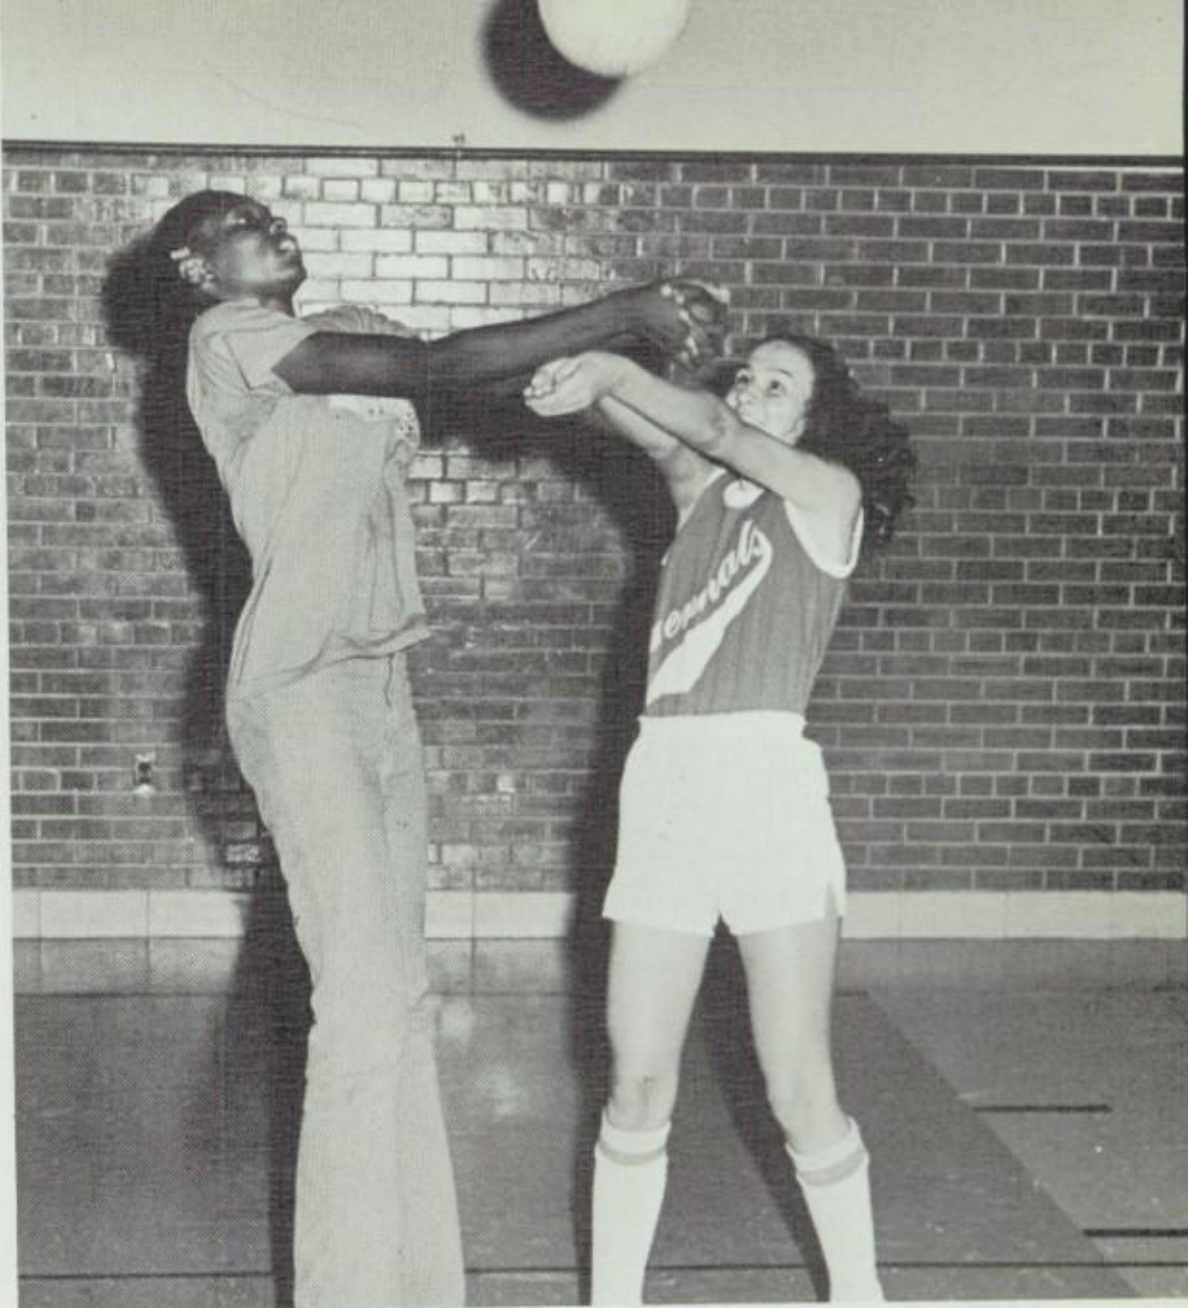

After placing second in Mid-State and third in All-City, under head coach John Savage last season the swimming team was re-organized under new head coach Marybeth Buttermore.

Members of the swim team encourage their teammate on his final turn. Team support never dwindles during meets. Stephanie Medley takes a rest after a few laps. A mid-air somersault is performed by Steve Schumm. Laura Medley stands ready to take over the laps from Marilyn Griffith. Ronnie Cordell takes a final breath before he finishes. There's nothing slow about Marilyn Griffith's take off. Shannon Boulware readies herself for the final laps in the relay race. Swimmers. Front Row: S. Lehman, R. Lorette, L. Medley, S. Boulware, M. Hyden, S. Lorette. Back Row: Coach Buttermore, R. Cordell, S. Schumm, S. Medley, M. Griffith, B. Steward.

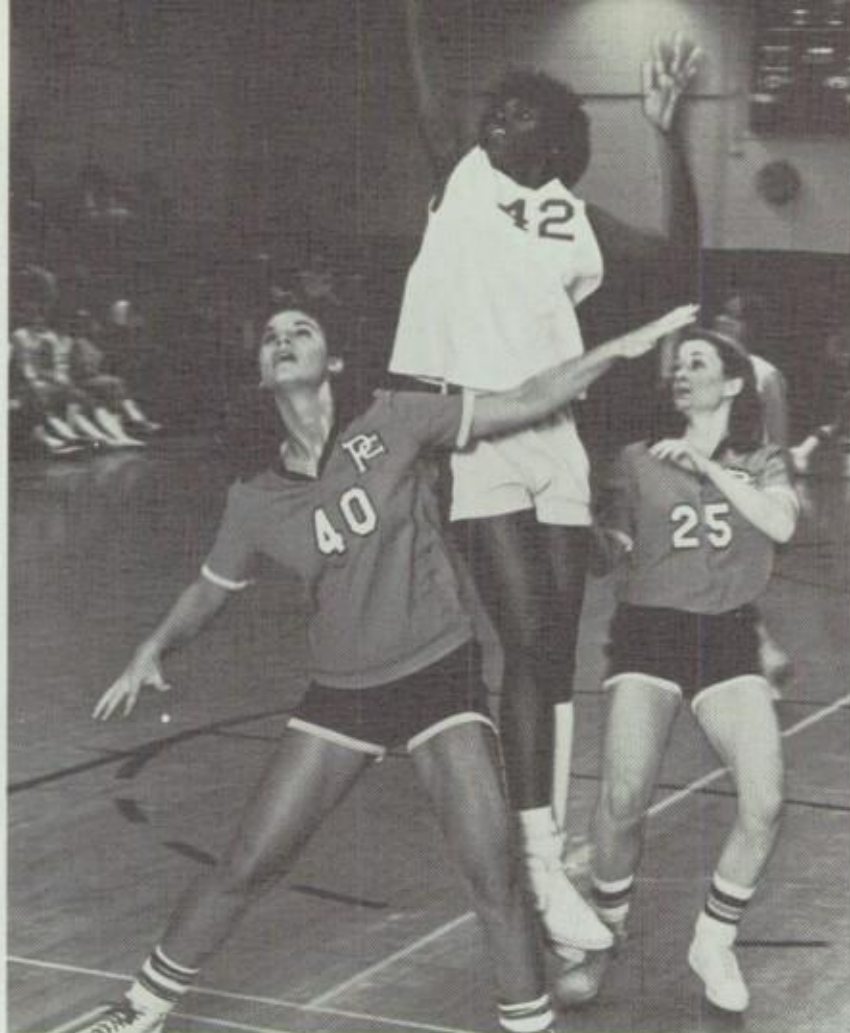

For the fifth consecutive year the softball team became All-City champions. This was their second consecutive undefeated season. Mrs. Connie Ellis was again their coach, as well as the volleyball coach.

Tommie Jefferson concentrates on receiving the pitch. Capitol Hill's catcher looks on as Linda Dukes prepares to hit the ball. Tracey Hefner looks to Coach Ellis for signals while rounding first. Cassandra Daniels and Anita Brewster are both on the ball. Volleyball. Front Row: A. Mumford, T. Nelson, T. Nero, K. Williams, D. Galbreath, G. Thompson. Back Row: D. J. Galbreath, D. Greene, K. Lindsey, P. Byers, C. Daniels, G. Ray, Coach Ellis. Diane Foley's facial expression shows her great concentration. Lisa Ortiz gives it all as she serves the ball. Lisa Ortiz is ready to hit a home-run. Softball. Front Row: L. Jefferson, L. Ortiz, T. Hefner, A. Brewster, L. Cooper, G. Pipes, D. Foley, S. Clay. Back Row: R. Lorette, L. Baugus, T. Ebert, L. Dukes, C. Rogers, T. Jefferson, G. Hayes, D. Baker, S. Trail, Coach Ellis.

GIRLS' BASKETBALL

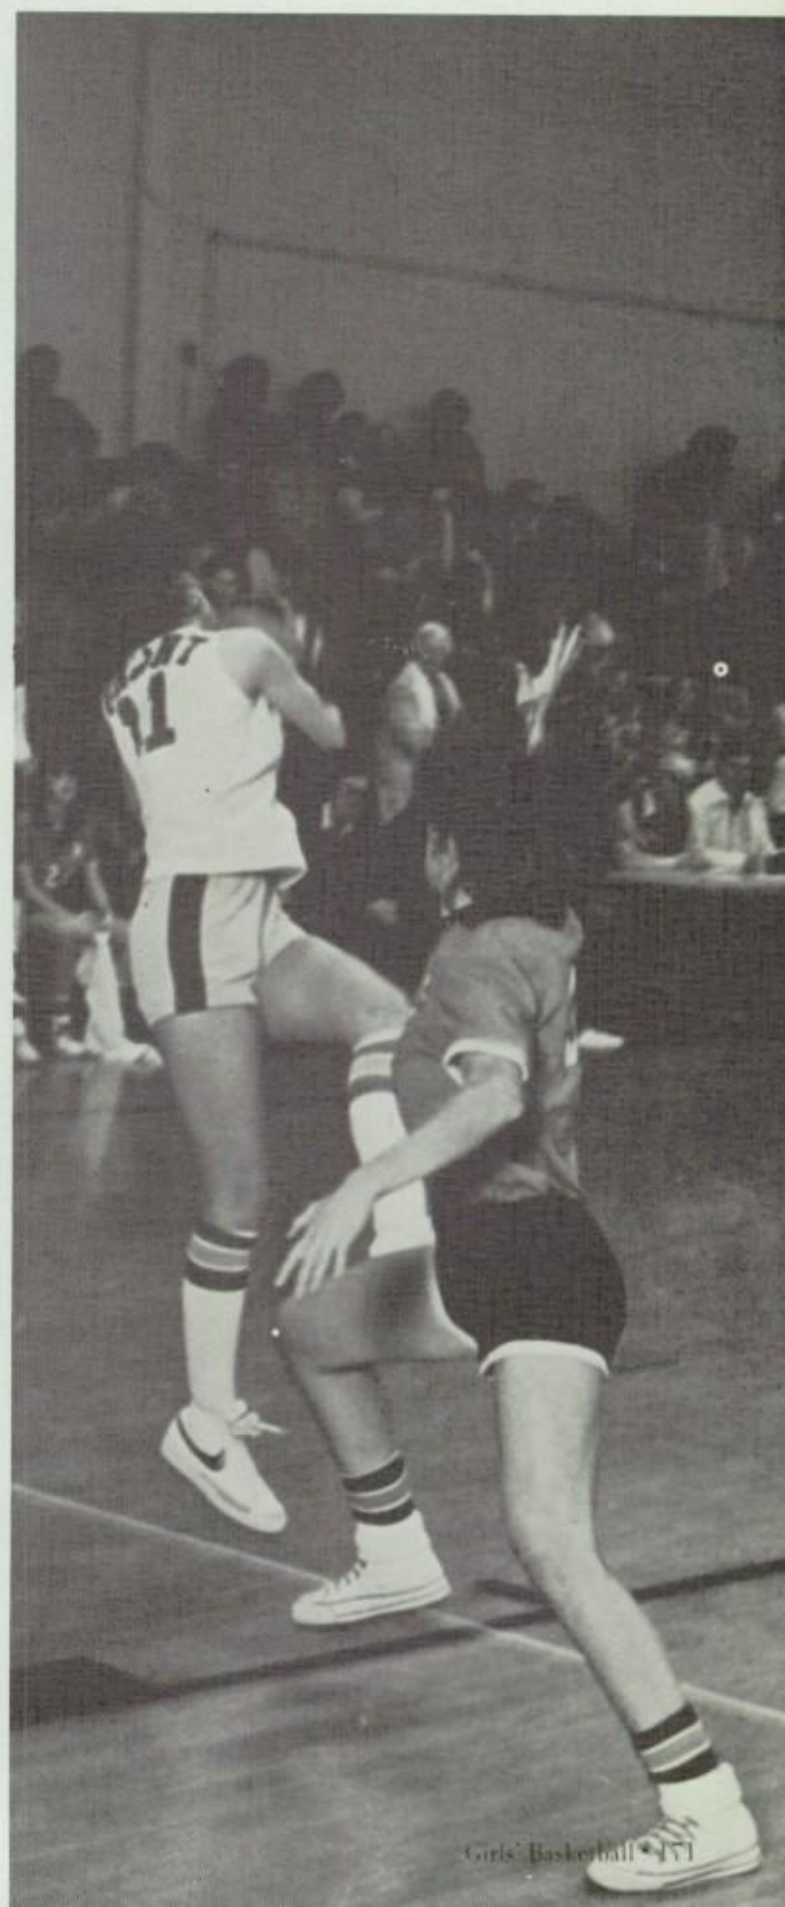

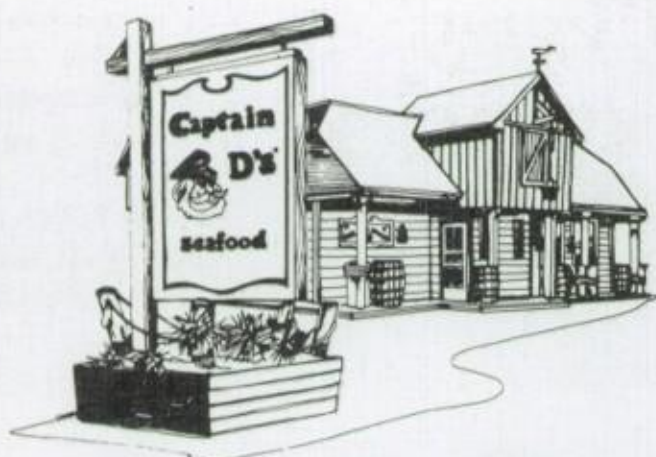

Cassandra Daniels and Arvica Nash led the girls' basketball performance all season.

All season Cassandra vacillated between first and fourth in scoring in the state. She was top scorer in the Carl Albert tournament and battled for scoring honors in Oklahoma City Public Schools. Team reorganization was necessitated in the middle of the season. New-comers included Angie Moody, Jana Gooding, Sue Clay, Linda Dukes, Tammy Nelson, Kris Francis, Gloria Thompson and Cheri Rogers.

Mr. L. H. Bengston was head coach with Mrs. Vicky Parker as assistant.

Arvica Nash leaps to score another basket for the Generals. Teresa Janeway goes out of her way to catch a pass for her teammates. Cassandra Daniels and Teresa Janeway work together to try to stop an opposing play. Lori Jefferson fights for the ball. Karen Curtis watches on as Jana Gooding and Cheri Rogers try to get the ball back. The Lady Generals are in the middle again.

The year is almost over, and graduation is just around the corner. Fears about the future are prevalent in our minds.

We have come a long way this year, and we find that our thoughts are dominated by the decisions that we must make, but we are comforted to find that we are not alone in having these crazy mixed-up feelings of anticipation and fear.

We feel strong and courageous and ready to handle anything.

We are the Generals in Focus.

EQUAL OPPORTUNITY POLICY

The Oklahoma City Public School District (I-89) complies with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, and their implementing regulations administered by the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare's Office For Civil Rights. It also complies with Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and its implementing regulations administered by the U.S. Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. This institution does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, sex, age, national origin, or handicap in admission or access to, or treatment or employment in, its programs and activities.
